Acheson Says Europe to Double Combat Forces; Support Asked

Secretary of State Declares U. S. Must Build With Allies Balanced Forces to Achieve Adequate Defenses Against Reds

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today "the combat forces of our European allies may be expected to double in the next year."

He gave no figures in prepared testimony calling upon the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees to support the Truman administration's plan to send 100,000 additional United States troops to Europe to bolster defenses against Communist aggression.

Acheson said the United States must use the time it has — by virtue of its lead over Russia in air power and atomic weapons—to build up with its allies "balanced collective forces" needed to deter aggression.

He added that "the value of our lead" in atomic weapons will decline but he said balanced land, sea and air forces in western Europe will help offset the loss of that advantage.

Acheson said America's allies "are now taking steps which bring us measurably closer to realization of our ultimate goal" of an adequate defense force.

"Roughly speaking," he went on, "the combat forces of our European allies may be expected to double in the next year."

Tells of Plan

Secretary of Defense George Marshall told the committees yesterday of the plan to send to Europe four more American divisions plus supporting troops to reenforce the two already in Germany.

Marshall's disclosure of the definite figures took much of the steam out of the opposition in the troops-to-Europe controversy. The size of the forces contemplated was smaller than had been anticipated.

But Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who wants to put some kind of a limit on the number of troops to be sent, was ready with a lot of questions for Acheson. Whether he would get a chance to ask them in person was in doubt. Since Taft is not a member of either committee, he would have to get special permission from members of both groups.

Taft told reporters he wanted to know "particularly whether

Commerce Group Has Yearly Dinner At Local Hotel

Total of 147 Persons Are Present—Washington Speaker Warns of Threats

The American system is being threatened by its own trend toward "big government," George Cline Smith, U. S. Chamber of Commerce economist, warned in a speech here last night.

Dr. Smith addressed 147 persons at the Governor Clinton Hotel for the sixth annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. He appeared as main speaker in the place of Richard L. Bowditch, who was ill.

Urging increased economy and efficiency in government, Dr. Smith said that "big government," as characterized by next year's record budget proposal, "is socialism," and that, "I think socialism is one of the biggest threats to our country."

He said that President Truman's proposed $71 billion budget for the fiscal year 1952 is "the biggest peacetime budget we've ever had."

Although the President has claimed that non-defense spending was cut to the barest minimum, the budget's civilian expenditures total three times those of 1940, he said.

"The proposed budget contains practically every single proposal of the Fair Deal that has ever been made," Dr. Smith said. Among items he said were included were socialized medicine, the Brannan Plan, federal aid for education and a fair employment practices commission.

There is a provision for a one-half per cent payroll tax "for socialized medicine," he said.

"It was a shock, this budget, even to the friends of administration," Dr. Smith said, quoting Senator Byrd, Democrat of Virginia, as saying it was "the height of fiscal irresponsibility."

Will Hit Poor

Dr. Smith warned that the budget will mean increased taxation of the poorer families, because the rich families are already paying up to 90 per cent of their incomes.

Costello Reveals His Full Career In Six-Hour Probe

Kefauver Is Secretive on Details, Says Information Is of Much Value

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello spent six hours yesterday answering questions put by U. S. Senate crime probers seeking information on nationwide crime and its possible tie-up with politics.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), committee chairman, declined to reveal details of the closed hearing, but said:

"We had a very full hearing with Costello, and got a great deal of information of value to the committee. We went from the beginning of his career right down to the present time. A large part of the questions—most of the questions — he answered forthrightly and tried to cooperate with the committee."

The hearing moves to Washington today.

Kefauver would not say what results he got when Costello was questioned about gambling at the New Orleans Beverly Club of which Costello is part owner.

Denies Influence

Costello, often alleged to be linked with operations of Tammany Hall, Manhattan Democratic organization, once said publicly that he didn't have enough influence in New York city to get a traffic ticket fixed.

The committee also queried Costello concerning his reported 1942 meeting with former New York city Mayor William O'Dwyer.

O'Dwyer, who resigned as mayor to become U. S. ambassador to Mexico, is scheduled to appear before the committee here in March when it conducts open hearings. Costello also will be among approximately 50 witnesses who will be called at the later hearings.

Kefauver said there was some difference in the testimony of Costello and that of James J. Moran, a commissioner of the City Board of Water Supply.

Chance for Both

The inconsistency, the senator said, involved "the details of the first meeting" between the two men. The committee chairman indicated that both men will have a chance to clear up discrepancies in further testimony.

Meanwhile, Frank Erickson, jailed head of a $12,500,000 a year bookie ring, yesterday lost another round in his battle to escape questioning by the Senate crime group.

Erickson, now serving a two-year term for bookmaking and conspiracy, contends that the federal committee lacks the right to subpoena him from jail. The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court yesterday upheld a lower court ruling directing him to appear before the committee.

Wins Further Stay

But the gambler's counsel, Harold H. Corbin, won a further stay until 4 p. m. today in an appeal to the State Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal.

This stay keeps Erickson out of the current hearing but Kefauver said the committee might question Erickson at a short additional closed hearing in New York if the Court of Appeals decides he must answer the subpoena.

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—The position of the Treasury Feb. 14. Net budget receipts, $107,931,920.67; budget expenditures, $151,914,240.57; cash balance, $4,943,662,350.18; customs receipts for month, $23,760,874.68; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $25,066,056,957.85; budget expenditures fiscal year, $24,288,797,925.05; budget surplus, $777,259,032.80; total debt, $256,015,303,278.54; increase over previous day, $1,642,156.26; gold assets, $22,260,108,498.58.

Britain Might Ask U. S. Assistance in Seeking Army Base

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—Britain, who pulled out of Israel in 1948, may ask the United States to join her in seeking a military base in that nation.

Informed sources here said the Jewish state, with bitter memories of British troops in Palestine during Britain's League of Nations mandate there, might not give a base to the British alone, but possibly would consider one for a combined Anglo-American force.

The question of joint Middle East bases was said to be the subject of secret talks between American and British military planners in Washington.

One aim reportedly is to make British Middle East bases capable of handling the U. S. B-36 bomber and new British and American jet fighters and bombers.

Continuing Talks

Meanwhile, British leaders are continuing talks with Egypt in hopes of staying in their biggest Middle East land base, in the Suez Canal zone. Egypt has been pressing for a British withdrawal.

The British are in the canal zone under a treaty which expires in 1956, but Egypt wants them to leave now.

Intent on building up its Middle East bases, the U. S. is extending its runways at a military air transport base in Tripoli and is reported to have obtained from the French seven bases in Morocco to accommodate long range planes. The U. S. also has a large field available in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia.

Britain has military air fields on Cyprus in the Mediterranean, Cirenaica in North Africa and in Iraq.

Britain and the U. S. have an agreement to exchange Middle East air field facilities for transfer of troops by air and for training flights and maneuvers.

Consideration Is Given to Spain, Turkey, Yugoslavia, Greece in Atlantic Setup

Suits Marshall

Countries' Battle-Hard Troops Welcome, Is Secretary's View

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Careful consideration is being given here to the possibility of tying Spain, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey more closely to the Atlantic Treaty defense setup in Europe. Officials said today, however, that extremely difficult problems stand in the way.

The possibility of action along this line was pointed up by a brief exchange yesterday during Secretary of Defense Marshall's testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

Marshall was asked what he thought about bringing such nations as Spain and Turkey into the defense system. He replied that "any acquisition of battle-worthy troops would be tremendously helpful at a time like this."

Are Important

The positions they hold in their own countries are of too great strategic importance in relation both to the eastern Mediterranean and the southern flank of western Europe.

What is considered desirable here is some kind of an arrangement which would associate those countries more closely with the Atlantic defense setup to strengthen the solid front against possible Soviet military threat in the European area and to improve military coordination if war should occur.

12 Must Agree

As far as Spain is concerned, the expectation of many highly placed officials is that sooner or later Spain should find a place in the Atlantic treaty organization but that this cannot come about until all 12 of the Atlantic treaty powers are fully agreed that is desirable.

Spain is understood to have about 30 equipped divisions, compared with 32 in Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia. Turkey has about 300,000 men under arms and Greece about 125,000.

Picket Lines Form At Woolen Mills

Estimated 70,000 Persons Quit Jobs; Situation Reported Quiet

Boston, Feb. 16 (AP)—Picket lines began forming before daybreak today as an estimated 70,000 C.I.O. textile workers struck against 160 wool and worsted mills in the first industry-wide walkout in the textile union's 11-year history.

Some 700 men and women formed a picket line at 5:30 a. m. outside two American Woolen Company plants—the Wood and Ayer mills—at Lawrence, Mass.

Other pickets marched around three mills in the Passaic, N. J., area, where 11,000 workers are affected, beginning at 6 a. m. The plants there are those of the Forstmann Woolen Co., Botany Mills, Inc., and N. J. Worsted Mills.

'Without Incident'

The picketing, so far, has been termed "without incident."

The third shift workers at Lawrence left their jobs a half-hour before quitting time to set up the picket line. Only office workers and department heads were permitted to enter the plants where 7,000 are employed.

The Wood mill was described as the largest worsted goods plant in the world.

The strike, which directly involves half the nation's wool and worsted workers, began at 12:01 a. m. (EST) after negotiations broke down between the union and the American Woolen Com-

10 Per Cent Wage Increase Is Permitted to July 1

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP) — Uncertainty clouded the whole government effort to control prices and wages after labor members of the Wage Stabilization Board walked out today in protest over a recommendation for a 10 per cent ceiling on wage increases.

By a six to three vote, the board came forth with a long-awaited formula which would limit wage increases to 10 per cent between Jan. 15, 1950 and next July 1. Thus if workers had already had their pay hiked eight per cent, they would be held to a two percent boost until July 1.

The three public and three industry members, who approved this formula, promised to review the entire wage picture before July 1 and revise it if necessary to keep wages in line with the mounting cost of living.

Members Withdraw

The labor members, who had been holding out for a 12 per cent ceiling, promptly withdrew from the board in protest. In effect, they had been instructed to do so under the circumstances by the United Labor Policy Committee, a group representing nearly all the 16,000,000 union members in the nation.

They planned to meet with that committee today "to consider further appropriate action," as Emil Rieve put it. Rieve, one of the members, is president of the C.I.O. United Textile Workers. His union called a strike for 7 a. m. today by 70,000 woolen and worsted mill workers seeking a wage boost.

The other two labor members are Elmer E. Walker, president of the machinists union, recently re-affiliated with the A.F.L., and President H. C. Bates of the A.F.L. bricklayers. Actually, Bates has been absent from the wage board's long discussions, and his place was taken by John J. Murphy, vice-president of his union.

What course organized labor would take was up in the air. Rieve denounced the new formula

Newkirk Appoints E.S.A. Unit of 7 Under Matthews

Names Are Sent to Lyons, District Director in New York, for Kingston

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk announced today that "Upon the request of Michael V. DiSalle, director of price stabilization, Emergency Stabilization Agency," he has appointed a local Stabilization Committee.

The group named by the mayor is: Stanley Mathews, chairman; Herman G. Rafalowsky, Fred Ertel, James Dwyer, Martin Oberkirch, the Rev. Frank L. Golinick and Harold W. O'Connor.

In forwarding the list of names to James G. Lyons, district price stabilization director, in New York, the Mayor said the telegram he received asking him to name the committee "did not designate the number that should be appointed on the Stabilization Board, therefore, I have set up for you a seven-man board."

Tokyo, Feb. 16 (AP)—Shoichi Kasuga, a Japanese Communist Party leader, was sentenced today in district court to three years' imprisonment for violating General MacArthur's purge directive of June 6 barring Communist leaders from public activities.

Hospital Receives $600,000; Other Pledges Needed

More than $600,000 has been pledged for the Kingston Hospital Building Fund, and new contributions are being received daily, it was anounced today.

Among gifts received since the close of the campaign was one from Mrs. Austin R. Newcombe for $3,000 and another in the same amount from Mrs. William Dean Hayes. These are for two private rooms "side by side" in the new building.

The hospital announcement today said: "It is gratifying to know of the continued interest of our citizens in the growth of the building fund, and any further contributions will be gratefully received. They should be sent to the Building Campaign Committee, Kingston Hospital, 396 Broadway."

Doughboys Chase Foe Half Mile

Communist Pressure Is Still Maintained in Mountainous Central Sector

Losses Are Cited

Sino, North Korean Toll for Thursday Given as 4,935

Tokyo, Feb. 16 (AP)—Allied bayonets slashed back Red attempts to outflank both ends of the central Korean warfront today.

On the left flank, southeast of Seoul, American infantrymen—almost out of ammunition — bared bayonets and charged. They chased the fleeing Chinese survivors half a mile.

The doughboys killed some 56 Reds. Artillery already had killed about 100 of a dug-in force of 300.

On the right flank of the relatively quiet central front, South Korean infantrymen used bayonets and grenades to throw back Chinese troops north of Chechon. But Communist pressure in that mountainous sector continued.

On the western front south of Seoul, an American tank-infantry patrol ran into more than 500 Chinese just south of the Han river. The Reds were dug in but lost at least 100 men.

Action all along the curving battlefront was relatively small in comparison with fighting in the past five days, in which a Communist drive on the central front was checked.

The Eighth Army counted Red casualties at 4,935 for Thursday, of which 2,275 were on the central front between Chipyong and Wonju. This brought to more than 100,000 the Red losses since the Allied limited offensive jumped off Jan. 25.

May Have Shifted

Friday's action on the right flank of the central front indicated the Chinese may have shifted much of their strength to the area north and northwest of Chechon.

They struggled over some of the highest ridges on the backbone of the peninsula to apply reinforced pressure to Chechon, 14 miles southeast of the major road hub of Wonju.

A South Korean regiment was ready for them at one point. There the Chinese met stern resistance 10 miles north of Chechon. First reports indicated more than 2,000 Chinese were being held off.

An Eighth Army communique reported some of the Reds infiltrated three miles through South Korean positions but fled after a 55-minute hand-to-hand encounter.

Moves Toward Chechon

The communique said another force of some 1,000 Chinese was moving toward Chechon on a twisting mountain trail eight miles northwest of the town.

The flanking development came after a chips-down battle at Chipyong, 20 air miles northwest of Wonju. Allied reinforcements bolstered the finger-in-the-dike force of French and Americans at Chipyong that badly crippled three Chinese divisions in checking the main Red push on the central front earlier this week.

To the east of Chipyong, an American-Dutch force stood off massing Red forces above Wonju. Some of those Communists were believed to have taken to the high ridges in the southeast to threaten Chechon. The Reds had no artillery support in their new threat.

But a menacing build-up of Chinese and Korean Red forces was reported in the hills and valleys above the central front—the area beyond Chipyong and Wonju.

Strength 150,000 Men

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported Eighth Army intelligence estimated the Red strength at up to 150,000 troops.

Southeast of Chipyong, where some 2,000 Reds had forged the last link of a ring around the hill-ringed town, British, Scottish and Australian troops ran into a hot fight and failed to reach Chipyong.

However, tank-led American troops got there Thursday night. They were greeted by cheering French and American doughboys who had put up one of the gamest battles of the war to whip superior odds.

Littered between Chipyong and

Russian Contribution Cited By Documents, Mundt Says

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Senator Mundt (R.-S.D.) said today documents originally among those seized in a Massachusetts raid by Senate internal security investigators "indicate a $2,500 contribution from Moscow to the Institute of Pacific Relations."

William Holland, the institute's secretary-general, commented in New York it was "entirely logical" that a receipt of the kind Mundt mentioned would be included in the I.P.R. records being studied by a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

Holland said the $2,500 "undoubtedly" was one of the annual assessments paid by the Russian council of the international institute some time during the period 1934-39, the years the Soviet council was affiliated with the I.P.R.

The institute, made up of an American and several other national councils, was organized about 1925 for the stated purpose of studying the peoples of the Far East and Pacific area with a view to improving their mutual relations.

The institute figured prominently in last year's Senate inquiry into the Communists-in-government charges of Senator McCarthy (R.-Wis.), who contended I.P.R. officials followed the Communist line and the others were Communists.

Mundt's statement regarding a $2,500 Moscow payment to I.P.R.

Picket Lines Form At Woolen Mills

Estimated 70,000 Persons Quit Jobs; Situation Reported Quiet

Boston, Feb. 16 (AP)—Picket lines began forming before daybreak today as an estimated 70,000 C.I.O. textile workers struck against 160 wool and worsted mills in the first industry-wide walkout in the textile union's 11-year history.

Some 700 men and women formed a picket line at 5:30 a. m. outside two American Woolen Company plants—the Wood and Ayer mills—at Lawrence, Mass.

Other pickets marched around three mills in the Passaic, N. J., area, where 11,000 workers are affected, beginning at 6 a. m. The plants there are those of the Forstmann Woolen Co., Botany Mills, Inc., and N. J. Worsted Mills.

'Without Incident'

The picketing, so far, has been termed "without incident."

The third shift workers at Lawrence left their jobs a half-hour before quitting time to set up the picket line. Only office workers and department heads were permitted to enter the plants where 7,000 are employed.

The Wood mill was described as the largest worsted goods plant in the world.

The strike, which directly involves half the nation's wool and worsted workers, began at 12:01 a. m. (EST) after negotiations broke down between the union and the American Woolen Com-

10 Per Cent Wage Increase Is Permitted to July 1

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP) — Uncertainty clouded the whole government effort to control prices and wages after labor members of the Wage Stabilization Board walked out today in protest over a recommendation for a 10 per cent ceiling on wage increases.

By a six to three vote, the board came forth with a long-awaited formula which would limit wage increases to 10 per cent between Jan. 15, 1950 and next July 1. Thus if workers had already had their pay hiked eight per cent, they would be held to a two percent boost until July 1.

The three public and three industry members, who approved this formula, promised to review the entire wage picture before July 1 and revise it if necessary to keep wages in line with the mounting cost of living.

Members Withdraw

The labor members, who had been holding out for a 12 per cent ceiling, promptly withdrew from the board in protest. In effect, they had been instructed to do so under the circumstances by the United Labor Policy Committee, a group representing nearly all the 16,000,000 union members in the nation.

They planned to meet with that committee today "to consider further appropriate action," as Emil Rieve put it. Rieve, one of the members, is president of the C.I.O. United Textile Workers. His union called a strike for 7 a. m. today by 70,000 woolen and worsted mill workers seeking a wage boost.

The other two labor members are Elmer E. Walker, president of the machinists union, recently reaffiliated with the A.F.L., and President H. C. Bates of the A.F.L. bricklayers. Actually, Bates has been absent from the wage board's long discussions, and his place was taken by John J. Murphy, vice-president of his union.

Newkirk Appoints E.S.A. Unit of 7 Under Matthews

Names Are Sent to Lyons, District Director in New York, for Kingston

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk announced today that "Upon the request of Michael V. DiSalle, director of price stabilization, Emergency Stabilization Agency," he has appointed a local Stabilization Committee.

The group named by the mayor is: Stanley Mathews, chairman; Herman G. Rafalowsky, Fred Ertel, James Dwyer, Martin Oberkirch, the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick and Harold W. O'Connor.

In forwarding the list of names to James G. Lyons, district price stabilization director, in New York, the Mayor said the telegram he received asking him to name the committee "did not designate the number that should be appointed on the Stabilization Board, therefore, I have set up for you a seven-man board."

Hospital Receives $600,000; Other Pledges Needed

More than $600,000 has been pledged for the Kingston Hospital Building Fund, and new contributions are being received daily, it was anounced today.

Among gifts received since the close of the campaign was one from Mrs. Austin R. Newcombe for $3,000 and another in the same amount from Mrs. William Dean Hayes. These are for two private rooms "side by side" in the new building.

The hospital announcement today said: "It is gratifying to know of the continued interest of our citizens in the growth of the building fund, and any further contributions will be gratefully received. They should be sent to the Building Campaign Committee, Kingston Hospital, 396 Broadway."

Doughboys Chase Foe Half Mile

Sino, North Korean Toll for Thursday Given as 4,935

Tokyo, Feb. 16 (AP)—Allied bayonets slashed back Red attempts to outflank both ends of the central Korean warfront today.

On the left flank, southeast of Seoul, American infantrymen—almost out of ammunition — bared bayonets and charged. They chased the fleeing Chinese survivors half a mile.

The doughboys killed some 56 Reds. Artillery already had killed about 100 of a dug-in force of 300.

On the right flank of the relatively quiet central front, South Korean infantrymen used bayonets and grenades to throw back Chinese troops north of Chechon. But Communist pressure in that mountainous sector continued.

On the western front south of Seoul, an American tank-infantry patrol ran into more than 500 Chinese just south of the Ran river. The Reds were dug in but lost at least 100 men.

Action all along the curving battlefront was relatively small in comparison with fighting in the past five days, in which a Communist drive on the central front was checked.

The Eighth Army counted Red casualties at 4,935 for Thursday, of which 2,275 were on the central front between Chipyong and Wonju. This brought to more than 100,000 the Red losses since the Allied limited offensive jumped off Jan. 25.

May Have Shifted

Friday's action on the right flank of the central front indicated the Chinese may have shifted much of their strength to the area north and northwest of Chechon.

They struggled over some of the highest ridges on the backbone of the peninsula to apply reinforced pressure to Chechon, 14 miles southeast of the major road hub of Wonju.

A South Korean regiment was ready for them at one point. There the Chinese met stern resistance 10 miles north of Chechon. First reports indicated more than 2,000 Chinese were being held off.

An Eighth Army communique reported some of the Reds infiltrated three miles through South Korean positions but fled after a 55-minute hand-to-hand encounter.

Moves Toward Chechon

The communique said another force of some 1,000 Chinese was moving toward Chechon on a twisting mountain trail eight miles northwest of the town.

The flanking development came after a chips-down battle at Chipyong, 20 air miles northwest of Wonju. Allied reinforcements bolstered the finger-in-the-dike force of French and Americans at Chipyong that badly crippled three Chinese divisions in checking the main Red push on the central front earlier this week.

To the east of Chipyong, an American-Dutch force stood off massing Red forces above Wonju. Some of those Communists were believed to have taken to the high ridges in the southeast to threaten Chechon. The Reds had no artillery support in their new threat.

But a menacing build-up of Chinese and Korean Red forces was reported in the hills and valleys above the central front—the area beyond Chipyong and Wonju.

Strength 150,000 Men

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported Eighth Army intelligence estimated the Red strength at up to 150,000 troops.

Southeast of Chipyong, where some 2,000 Reds had forged the last link of a ring around the hill-ringed town, British, Scottish and Australian troops ran into a hot fight and failed to reach Chipyong.

However, tank-led American troops got there Thursday night. They were greeted by cheering French and American doughboys who had put up one of the gamest battles of the war to whip superior odds.

Russian Contribution Cited By Documents, Mundt Says

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Senator Mundt (R.-S.D.) said today documents originally among those seized in a Massachusetts raid by Senate internal security investigators "indicate a $2,500 contribution from Moscow to the Institute of Pacific Relations."

William Holland, the institute's secretary-general, commented in New York it was "entirely logical" that a receipt of the kind Mundt mentioned would be included in the I.P.R. records being studied by a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

Holland said the $2,500 "undoubtedly" was one of the annual assessments paid by the Russian council of the international institute some time during the period 1934-39, the years the Soviet council was affiliated with the I.P.R.

The institute, made up of an American and several other national councils, was organized about 1925 for the stated purpose of studying the peoples of the Far East and Pacific area with a view to improving their mutual relations.

The institute figured prominently in last year's Senate inquiry into the Communists-in-government charges of Senator McCarthy (R.-Wis.), who contended I.P.R. officials followed the Communist line and the others were Communists.

Acheson Says Europe to Double Combat Forces; Support Asked

Secretary of State Declares U. S. Must Build With Allies Balanced Forces to Achieve Adequate Defenses Against Reds

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today "the combat forces of our European allies may be expected to double in the next year."

He gave no figures in prepared testimony calling upon the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees to support the Truman administration's plan to send 100,000 additional United States troops to Europe to bolster defenses against Communist aggression.

Acheson said the United States must use the time it has — by virtue of its lead over Russia in air power and atomic weapons—to build up with its allies "balanced collective forces" needed to deter aggression.

He added that "the value of our lead" in atomic weapons will decline but he said balanced land, sea and air forces in western Europe will help offset the loss of that advantage.

Acheson said America's allies "are now taking steps which bring us measurably closer to realization of our ultimate goal" of an adequate defense force.

"Roughly speaking," he went on, "the combat forces of our European allies may be expected to double in the next year."

Tells of Plan

Secretary of Defense George Marshall told the committees yesterday of the plan to send to Europe four more American divisions plus supporting troops to reenforce the two already in Germany.

Marshall's disclosure of the definite figures took much of the steam out of the opposition in the troops-to-Europe controversy. The size of the forces contemplated was smaller than had been anticipated.

But Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who wants to put some kind of a limit on the number of troops to be sent, was ready with a lot of questions for Acheson. Whether he would get a chance to ask them in person was in doubt. Since Taft is not a member of either committee, he would have to get special permission from members of both groups.

Asks About Agreement

Taft told reporters he wanted to know "particularly whether

Commerce Group Has Yearly Dinner At Local Hotel

Total of 147 Persons Are Present—Washington Speaker Warns of Threats

The American system is being threatened by its own trend toward "big government," George Cline Smith, U. S. Chamber of Commerce economist, warned in a speech here last night.

Dr. Smith addressed 147 persons at the Governor Clinton Hotel for the sixth annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. He appeared as main speaker in the place of Richard L. Bowditch, who was ill.

Urging increased economy and efficiency in government, Dr. Smith said that "big government," as characterized by next year's record budget proposal, "is socialism," and that, "I think socialism is one of the biggest threats to our country."

He said that President Truman's proposed $71 billion budget for the fiscal year 1952 is "the biggest peacetime budget we've ever had."

Although the President has claimed that non-defense spending was cut to the barest minimum, the budget's civilian expenditures total three times those of 1946, he said.

"The proposed budget contains practically every single proposal of the Fair Deal that has ever been made," Dr. Smith said. Among items he said were included were socialized medicine, the Brannan Plan, federal aid for education and a fair employment practices commission.

There is a provision for a one-half per cent payroll tax "for socialized medicine," he said.

"It was a shock, this budget, even to the friends of administration," Dr. Smith said, quoting Senator Byrd, Democrat of Virginia, as saying it was "the height of fiscal irresponsibility."

Will Hit Poor

Dr. Smith warned that the budget will mean increased taxation of the poorer families, because the rich families are already paying up to 90 per cent of their incomes.

Much of the increase will be in

Britain Might Ask U. S. Assistance in Seeking Army Base

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—Britain, who pulled out of Israel in 1948, may ask the United States to join her in seeking a military base in that nation.

Informed sources here said the Jewish state, with bitter memories of British troops in Palestine during Britain's League of Nations mandate there, might not give a base to the British alone, but possibly would consider one for a combined Anglo-American force.

The question of joint Middle East bases was said to be the subject of secret talks between American and British military planners in Washington.

One aim reportedly is to make British Middle East bases capable of handling the U. S. B-36 bomber and new British and American jet fighters and bombers.

Continuing Talks

Meanwhile, British leaders are continuing talks with Egypt in hopes of staying in their biggest Middle East land base, in the Suez Canal zone. Egypt has been pressing for a British withdrawal.

The British are in the canal zone under a treaty which expires in 1956, but Egypt wants them to leave now.

Intent on building up its Middle East bases, the U. S. is extending its runways at a military air transport base in Tripoli and is reported to have obtained from the French seven bases in Morocco to accommodate long range planes. The U. S. also has a large field available in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia.

Britain has military air fields on Cyprus in the Mediterranean, Cirenaica in North Africa and in Iraq.

Britain and the U. S. have an agreement to exchange Middle East air field facilities for transfer of troops by air and for training flights and maneuvers.

Costello Reveals His Full Career In Six-Hour Probe

Kefauver Is Secretive on Details, Says Information Is of Much Value

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello spent six hours yesterday answering questions put by U. S. Senate crime probers seeking information on nationwide crime and its possible tie-up with politics.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), committee chairman, declined to reveal details of the closed hearing, but said:

"We had a very full hearing with Costello, and got a great deal of information of value to the committee. We went from the beginning of his career right down to the present time. A large part of the questions—most of the questions — he answered forthrightly and tried to cooperate with the committee."

The hearing moves to Washington today.

Kefauver would not say what results he got when Costello was questioned about gambling at the New Orleans Beverly Club of which Costello is part owner.

Denies Influence

Costello, often alleged to be linked with operations of Tammany Hall, Manhattan Democratic organization, once said publicly that he didn't have enough influence in New York city to get a traffic ticket fixed.

The committee also queried Costello concerning his reported 1942 meeting with former New York city Mayor William O'Dwyer.

O'Dwyer, who resigned as mayor to become U. S. ambassador to Mexico, is scheduled to appear before the committee here in March when it conducts open hearings. Costello also will be among approximately 50 witnesses who will be called at the later hearings.

Kefauver said there was some difference in the testimony of Costello and that of James J. Moran, a commissioner of the City Board of Water Supply.

Chance for Both

The inconsistency, the senator said, involved "the details of the first meeting" between the two men. The committee chairman indicated that both men will have a chance to clear up discrepancies in further testimony.

Meanwhile, Frank Erickson, jailed head of a $12,500,000 a year bookie ring, yesterday lost another round in his battle to escape questioning by the Senate crime group.

Erickson, now serving a two-year term for bookmaking and conspiracy, contends that the federal committee lacks the right to subpoena him from jail. The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court yesterday upheld a lower court ruling directing him to appear before the committee.

Wins Further Stay

But the gambler's counsel, Harold H. Corbin, won a further stay until 4 p. m. today in an appeal to the State Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal.

This stay keeps Erickson out of the current hearing but Kefauver said the committee might question Erickson at a short additional closed hearing in New York if the Court of Appeals decides he must answer the subpoena.

Study Tying 4 Nations in EuropePlan

Consideration Is Given to Spain, Turkey, Yugoslavia, Greece in Atlantic Setup

Suits Marshall

Countries' Battle-Hard Troops Welcome, Is Secretary's View

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Careful consideration is being given here to the possibility of tying Spain, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey more closely to the Atlantic Treaty defense setup in Europe. Officials said today, however, that extremely difficult problems stand in the way.

The possibility of action along this line was pointed up by a brief exchange yesterday during Secretary of Defense Marshall's testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

Marshall was asked what he thought about bringing such nations as Spain and Turkey into the defense system. He replied that "any acquisition of battle-worthy troops would be tremendously helpful at a time like this."

Are Important

The positions they hold in their own countries are of too great strategic importance in relation both to the eastern Mediterranean and the southern flank of western Europe.

What is considered desirable here is some kind of an arrangement which would associate those countries more closely with the Atlantic defense setup to strengthen the solid front against possible Soviet military threat in the European area and to improve military coordination if war should occur.

12 Must Agree

As far as Spain is concerned, the expectation of many highly placed officials is that sooner or later Spain should find a place in the Atlantic treaty organization but that this cannot come about until all 12 of the Atlantic treaty powers are fully agreed that is desirable.

Spain is understood to have about 30 equipped divisions, compared with 32 in Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia. Turkey has about 300,000 men under arms and Greece about 125,000.

Book Review

Son of a Hundred Kings, Thomas Costain

On New Year's Day, 1890, a small, forlorn English boy sat on a train moving across the Canadian countryside wearing a square of oil cloth sewed to the back of his coat bearing a crude printed sign which read: This is Ludar Prentice. He has no money, He is going to his father, Vivien Prentice at Balfour, Ontario, Be kind to him.

His fellow passengers were kind to him. He was such a nice little lad and seemed so desolate. When he arrived in Balfour, there was even more reason for being kind, since a few hours before the train pulled into Balfour, Vivien Prentice, disgraced, penniless and sick had shot himself.

Ludar is adopted by a poor carpenter and his acid, stingy wife, Tillie. Life is hard for them but the town pays Tillie enough to cover board and lodging and the townspeople, intrigued by Ludar's English background which is rumored to possibly include nobility, (the boy is far from boastful but he does vaguely remember a castle with many rooms, a clock tower and large stables). Rumors of various kinds come from England and it is only after many years that the whole truth is learned.

Meantime, Ludar proves to be an excellent scholar and makes many friends. A son of one of the leading families, Joe Craven is his best friend and a next door neighbor, Antoinette, daughter of an affluent publisher, is his childhood playmate and his sweetheart for all time.

Suspense is maintained right up to the end of the book with a large family feud and the mysterious sudden death of a member of one of the families added.

The many and varied characters are clearly portrayed and life in a small Canadian town in the 90s is described in detail, recalling things in the not so distant past which show how far and how fast we have moved in the past half century.

Like portraits in a family album, nostalgic memories are evoked by such wonders as the first automobile with more hours spent under than in them; the imposing forms of architecture and home decoration chosen by the well-healed citizens, the elaborate toilettes of the ladies, pompadours, leg-o-mutton sleeves, frills, flounces and laces and long flowing skirts, the high collars, straw boaters, rakish derbies and handle-bar mustaches of the gentlemen, gay sleighing and skating parties, the popular games of crokinole and 500, maneuvers for top positions in business and society and other manners and customs of the period covered by the story.

The author gives a brief glimpse, and a glimpse is enough, of the long hours of hard work under unbelievably unpleasant conditions in a stove foundry at an average wage of about $6 a week. Labor leaders and captains of industry alike may well ponder the implications of this.

Against this background the author tells an exciting and very interesting tale that will hold your interest all the way through. This is the author's first period novel. He has chosen a somewhat serene period and made it come to life.

Luxury Accommodations

Vancouver (AP) — Charles Weir found the thieves who took the blooms off 168 large chrysanthemums in his flower shop. Pack rats under a nearby storage room had lined their quarters with the petals. "That's too expensive a lining," he said as he called the exterminator.

Just Testing

With the First Marine Division in Korea (AP)—A Marine sergeant stopped one cold day recently on a road here and decided to fire his rifle, "just to test it out" to see if the bolt had frozen. He aimed at what he thought was a deserted farmhouse, Chinese Reds poured from the building and took up positions nearby. The Leathernecks finally won out by throwing hand grenades from a ridge overlooking the enemy positions.

The church family night planned by the First Congregational Church of this village has been postponed because of the illness of several of its members from the Pilgrim Missionary Society.

Russell Freligh of Second street clebrated his 88th birthday at his home February 12. For many years Mr. Freligh was an employe at the Reed and Reed Department store and he still enjoys good health and lives with his cousin, Mrs. Theodore Goerck.

At the Lions Club meeting next Monday night, the speaker will be J. Otis Benton of Poughkeepsie, who will address the members on "Highway Headaches in New York." Mr. Benton is vice-president of the Poughkeepsie Tax and Rent Payers' Association.

Franklin P. Clum, Sr., has returned from New York where he attended the automotive show.

Mrs. Frederick Van Voorhis, Jr., and children of Southwick, Mass., are the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fellows on Lafayette street.

Pfc. Raymond Wolven of the U. S. Air Force spent the past week-end with his mother, Anna Wolven on Russell street.

Book Review

Son of a Hundred Kings, Thomas Costain

On New Year's Day, 1890, a small, forlorn English boy sat on a train moving across the Canadian countryside wearing a square of oil cloth sewed to the back of his coat bearing a crude printed sign which read: This is Ludar Prentice. He has no money, He is going to his father, Vivien Prentice at Balfour, Ontario, Be kind to him.

His fellow passengers were kind to him. He was such a nice little lad and seemed so desolate. When he arrived in Balfour, there was even more reason for being kind, since a few hours before the train pulled into Balfour, Vivien Prentice, disgraced, penniless and sick had shot himself.

Ludar is adopted by a poor carpenter and his acid, stingy wife, Tillie. Life is hard for them but the town pays Tillie enough to cover board and lodging and the townspeople, intrigued by Ludar's English background which is rumored to possibly include nobility, (the boy is far from boastful but he does vaguely remember a castle with many rooms, a clock tower and large stables). Rumors of various kinds come from England and it is only after many years that the whole truth is learned.

Meantime, Ludar proves to be an excellent scholar and makes many friends. A son of one of the leading families, Joe Craven is his best friend and a next door neighbor, Antoinette, daughter of an affulent publisher, is his childhood playmate and his sweetheart for all time.

Suspense is maintained right up to the end of the book with a large family feud and the mysterious sudden death of a member of one of the families added.

The many and varied characters are clearly portrayed and life in a small Canadian town in the 90s is described in detail, recalling things in the not so distant past which show how far and how fast we have moved in the past half century.

Like portraits in a family album, nostalgic memories are evoked by such wonders as the first automobile with more hours spent under than in them; the imposing forms of architecture and home decoration chosen by the well-healed citizens, the elaborate tollettes of the ladies, pompadours, leg-o-mutton sleeves, frills, flounces and laces and long flowing skirts, the high collars, straw boaters, rakish derbies and handle-bar mustaches of the gentlemen, gay sleighing and skating parties, the popular games of crokinole and 500, maneuvers for top positions in business and society and other manners and customs of the period covered by the story.

The author gives a brief glimpse, and a glimpse is enough, of the long hours of hard work under unbelievably unpleasant conditions in a stove foundry at an average wage of about $6 a week. Labor leaders and captains of industry alike may well ponder the implications of this.

Against this background the author tells an exciting and very interesting tale that will hold your interest all the way through. This is the author's first period novel. He has chosen a somewhat serene period and made it come to life.

Just Testing

With the First Marine Division in Korea (AP)—A Marine sergeant stopped one cold day recently on a road here and decided to fire his rifle, "just to test it out" to see if the bolt had frozen. He aimed at what he thought was a deserted farmhouse, Chinese Reds poured from the building and took up positions nearby. The Leathernecks finally won out by throwing hand grenades from a ridge overlooking the enemy positions.

Renounced War

The Briand-Kellogg Pact was an agreement whereby the contracting powers renounced war as an instrument of national policy. It was signed by 15 nations on Aug. 27, 1928.

Natural Wonder

The Natural Bridge of Virginia, one of the natural wonders of the United States, is a mammoth arch of limestone, 215 feet high, 100 feet wide, and 90 feet between the walls.

Feared Sorcery

In the 13th century, the archbishop of Canterbury ordered baptismal fonts kept locked as a protection against sorcery, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Luxury Accommodations

Vancouver (AP) — Charles Weir found the thieves who took the blooms off 168 large chrysanthemums in his flower shop. Pack rats under a nearby storage room had lined their quarters with the petals. "That's too expensive a lining," he said as he called the exterminator.

Gold Confiscated Before Ship Sails

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Customs authorities confiscated more than 300 pounds of gold allegedly smuggled aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth shortly before the ship sailed early today.

They said they found a number of gold cubes concealed in metal pockets attached to the underside of rear mudguards of an automobile put aboard the British vessel.

Gold, pegged in this country at $35 an ounce, is often worth more than twice that amount abroad. Gold cannot be exported from the U. S. without a special permit. At the pegged price, with gold measured in terms of 12 Troy ounces to the pound, the 300 pounds would be worth $126,000.

Car Sagged

Customs men said they became suspicious of the car when it appeared to sag in the back as it was being put aboard ship. They said the weight of the metal pockets, plus the weight of the gold, apparently was too great for the rear spring of the car—described as a newly painted 1950 Buick.

A passenger was taken off the ship for questioning.

A customs office spokesman would not say whether there was any connection between the questioning and the gold hidden in the car, which was removed from the liner.

Volunteer Joins Yanks

Child mascots are no novelty in Korea but this adult volunteer added a new note as he joined Third Division infantrymen during their advance toward the Han river on the western front. He carries machine gun ammunition belts around his neck and a rifle on his back. (AP Wirephoto)

Hearings Sought On Defense Bill

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—The Democrats demanded today that a series of public hearings be held before the Republican-controlled legislature acts on Governor Dewey's civil defense-war regimentation bill.

One public hearing is planned.

The Democratic leaders said the proposal, now being softened, would "drastically curtail civil liberties" and grant Dewey "greater powers than ever asked by a president in time of gravest national emergency."

"Yet, neither we, the members of the legislature, nor the people of the state have been permitted a single open public hearing," Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut added.

Republican Assemblyman Frank J. Becker, sponsor of the bill, said an amended version would be ready early next week and a public hearing would be held in about two weeks.

Most amendments have been hammered out of discussions between Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore, municipal spokesmen and representatives of labor and other economic groups.

Objections Ironed Out

Moore said yesterday that most objections to the sweeping defense emergency bill had been ironed out through amendments or clarification of "misconceptions."

The major modification has been on manpower conscription provisions.

As a result, authority for the governor and the proposed state defense council to draft manpower would be effective only in event of an actual attack on U. S. territory or a North Atlantic Treaty nation, or if volunteering failed to meet prescribed percentage schedules for civil defense jobs.

The bill still would give Dewey and the defense council sweeping powers over the lives and property of New York's 15,000,000 people and its local governments in anticipation of or in event of an enemy attack.

The bill provides no funds or method of financing the extensive state and local civil defense program it would authorize.

The administration apparently wants the federal and local governments to carry most of the financial burden.

The localities have made it clear they expect the state to contribute substantially.

The financing program will be developed later and probably will be covered by separate legislation.

Dies in Chair

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—William W. Bunch, 22-year-old Negro, was electrocuted in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair last night for the $30 robbery-slaying of a Long Island gas station attendant. He was convicted of killing Herbert Brown, 21, a Negro attendant at a Freeport, N. Y., filling station Aug. 8, 1949. An automobile tire hammer was used in the slaying.

U. S. Will Provide

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—The United States has told the Italian government it is willing to provide up to $375,000,000 to help finance a large scale arms production program in Italy during the next 18 months. This promise, is conditioned however, on Italy's ability to continue expanding a production effort it has launched already. The money would be advanced only as rapidly as the Italian arms plants demonstrated they were capable of boosting output. The amounts the United States is prepared to give to make this possible, it was learned, is spelled out in a lengthy memorandum presented to the Italian government last week by Ambassador James Dunn in Rome.

Bills Are Signed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—Governor Dewey yesterday signed bills that: Continue for another year—until Feb. 15, 1952—the temporary commission on school construction headed by Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore. Extend full civil service protection to public employes who have volunteered for the armed forces since June 25, 1950. Inducted public employes were already covered.

Gold Confiscated Before Ship Sails

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Customs authorities confiscated more than 300 pounds of gold allegedly smuggled aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth shortly before the ship sailed early today.

They said they found a number of gold cubes concealed in metal pockets attached to the underside of rear mudguards of an automobile put aboard the British vessel.

Gold, pegged in this country at $35 an ounce, is often worth more than twice that amount abroad. Gold cannot be exported from the U. S. without a special permit. At the pegged price, with gold measured in terms of 12 Troy ounces to the pound, the 300 pounds would be worth $126,000.

Car Sagged

Customs men said they became suspicious of the car when it appeared to sag in the back as it was being put aboard ship. They said the weight of the metal pockets, plus the weight of the gold, apparently was too great for the rear spring of the car—described as a newly painted 1950 Buick.

A passenger was taken off the ship for questioning.

A customs office spokesman would not say whether there was any connection between the questioning and the gold hidden in the car, which was removed from the liner.

Hearings Sought On Defense Bill

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—The Democrats demanded today that a series of public hearings be held before the Republican-controlled legislature acts on Governor Dewey's civil defense-war regimentation bill.

One public hearing is planned.

The Democratic leaders said the proposal, now being softened, would "drastically curtail civil liberties" and grant Dewey "greater powers than ever asked by a president in time of gravest national emergency."

"Yet, neither we, the members of the legislature, nor the people of the state have been permitted a single open public hearing," Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut added.

Republican Assemblyman Frank J. Becker, sponsor of the bill, said an amended version would be ready early next week and a public hearing would be held in about two weeks.

Most amendments have been hammered out of discussions between Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore, municipal spokesmen and representatives of labor and other economic groups.

Objections Ironed Out

Moore said yesterday that most objections to the sweeping defense emergency bill had been ironed out through amendments or clarification of "misconceptions."

The major modification has been on manpower conscription provisions.

As a result, authority for the governor and the proposed state defense council to draft manpower would be effective only in event of an actual attack on U. S. territory or a North Atlantic Treaty nation, or if volunteering failed to meet prescribed percentage schedules for civil defense jobs.

The bill still would give Dewey and the defense council sweeping powers over the lives and property of New York's 15,000,000 people and its local governments in anticipation of or in event of an enemy attack.

The bill provides no funds or method of financing the extensive state and local civil defense program it would authorize.

The administration apparently wants the federal and local governments to carry most of the financial burden.

The localities have made it clear they expect the state to contribute substantially.

The financing program will be developed later and probably will be covered by separate legislation.

Dies in Chair

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—William W. Bunch, 22-year-old Negro, was electrocuted in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair last night for the $30 robbery-slaying of a Long Island gas station attendant. He was convicted of killing Herbert Brown, 21, a Negro attendant at a Freeport, N. Y., filling station Aug. 8, 1949. An automobile tire hammer was used in the slaying.

U. S. Will Provide

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—The United States has told the Italian government it is willing to provide up to $375,000,000 to help finance a large scale arms production program in Italy during the next 18 months. This promise, is conditioned however, on Italy's ability to continue expanding a production effort it has launched already. The money would be advanced only as rapidly as the Italian arms plants demonstrated they were capable of boosting output. The amounts the United States is prepared to give to make this possible, it was learned, is spelled out in a lengthy memorandum presented to the Italian government last week by Ambassador James Dunn in Rome.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 16, 1951

INDIA WILL PROBABLY GET GRAIN

An unhappy combination of bad weather and natural disasters has brought sizable parts of India to the brink of famine. Even to maintain its very scant rations, the country needs an extra 6,000,000 tons of grain this year. It has asked us to supply 2,000,000 tons of this amount.

Indian officials managed to buy 4,000,000 tons elsewhere. They seek the remainder from us on a loan. But our government has decided it would be better to furnish the grain as an outright grant. It would come to about $180,000,000.

A State Department official already has made a preliminary appeal to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the issue, but the committee doesn't yet have a formal aid bill under study.

From the fact that the Senate group didn't begin action immediately, the notion arose that Congress was sitting on the plan. Strictly speaking, this isn't so. But it is true that a good many lawmakers are cool to the idea.

Chiefly, they resent India's undermining of U. S. foreign policy by attempts in the United Nations to gain peace with Red China almost at the price of surrender.

There's a feeling, too, that India's grain shortage is at least partly due to its bitter trade war with neighboring Pakistan. The Indians declined to take available wheat from Pakistan. And they have planted much newly reclaimed acreage not to needed grains but to cotton and jute, to enable them to achieve greater economic independence of Pakistan.

It seems quite understandable that many Americans, including some of their representatives in the Senate, should be chagrined at India's behavior and thus somewhat reluctant to extend the desired assistance.

But the government feels, and many citizens and legislators agree, that to penalize India's starving millions because we dislike the country's conduct of foreign affairs would be playing politics with human misery.

This view gained emphasis when former president Herbert Hoover agreed recently to help President Truman plan aid to the famine areas. Long famed for his humanitarian deeds, Hoover nevertheless is a stout opponent of administration policies.

In spite of this opposition, he is lending his support because he believes "the United States has never failed to do its best to aid starving people and shouldn't fail in this case, either."

In other words, Hoover is acting in accord with America's long tradition of succoring disaster-stricken peoples all over the face of the globe, regardless of their politics, their religion, or anything else. And by suppressing his objections he appears to be implying that we all ought to do the same.

With this kind of backing, the chances are strong that the grain program will go through. But it probably won't happen before a lot of hot words are flung about the Senate chamber by those who feel India has been woefully short-sighted both at home and abroad.

TEACHING AND LIFE

The school line between teachers and non-teachers is being obliterated in one Eastern community. Scientists, artists, police and fire department employes, photographers, newspaper men and other workers are being brought into classrooms to lecture on their work and its ramifications, or on their hobbies or travels. Mothers are helping to inform home economics students, bringing their practical knowledge to bear on class problems.

"Fifty Teachers to a Classroom" is the title of the first report on this experiment. "Bringing the world and its activities into the classroom is teaching at its best and most convincing," says Dr. Paul R. Mort of Teachers College, Columbia University.

Early educational ideas, which made of students and scholars a class apart, having no place in the struggle for a livelihood, have been completely overthrown in most of the world today. Only in a few spots in the Orient do those ideas still hold sway. This New York experiment is one more example of the close cooperation between learning and living which has raised this country's standards to their high point.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

SUPPLY AND DEMAND

The laws of economics are not based on what professors write in books. They are based on human experience; on long tried experience over hundreds of centuries; upon trial and error in the relations between what a man wants and how he goes about getting it.

The law of supply and demand is not difficult to understand. It starts with a certain amount of anything being available at a given place and at a given time. Let us say, 1,000 pounds of beef are available in your market on a Monday. The owner of that beef has bought it because he assumes that he can sell it at an advantage. He has paid a price for it. He has had other costs in relationship to it: Transportation costs, labor costs, rent, insurance, taxes, etc. The retailer has worked out a formula for these extra costs, often called a mark-up. Having put his mark-up on top of the original cost of the beef, the butcher figures a profit and seeks to sell the beef.

Ordinarily being a provident merchant, he knows pretty well from experience what he will need to satisfy his customers. But suddenly he finds that other butchers in the neighborhood cannot get their supplies, for one reason or another. He discovers that he himself is likely to be short of supplies on Thursday and Friday; that he may be stuck over the very important week-end period. He also notices a number of transients in his shop who want beef.

In a word, the demand is already exceeding the supply and tends to become more so. So he protects himself by raising the price. He watches both wholesale and retail market prices. He raises the prices to conform to the market.

He is not happy about it because he knows, from his experience, that there is a law of diminishing returns. He calls it buyers' resistance. He sees a very good customer switch from top round for hamburger to chuck.

He knows that women will turn to fancy-made dishes taken from the recipes in magazines and newspapers, dishes that are stretched and made to look pretty but that are nevertheless not a juicy sirloin.

The butcher knows from experience that sooner or later there will be trouble unless wages go up in all industries except butcher shops. If wages go up, the former low earners will spend like mad, because they will think themselves rich, but what they do not know is that every day their money is worth less and less. That is called inflation.

This is, of course, oversimplified, because it deals with a society in which there are no supported agricultural prices, fictitiously maintained out of taxes; no trickery use of the money supply of the nation to alter values.

And in the end, an inflation runs away. Prices run away. Workers demand more wages. There are buyers' strikes as well as workers' strikes.

The government then steps in to save the economy. When the problem is complicated by war or by preparations for war, the situation becomes very tough, indeed.

The reason is that war reverses the law of supply and demand. It is nearly all demand. Price factors are disregarded. Goods are produced not only for use but for destruction. Goods are produced beyond probable use and much of it is, of necessity, waste.

Shortages in consumers' goods are immediately apparent and are intensified as the war period is prolonged. The law of supply and demand must be abandoned, because prices are bound to skyrocket as the supply runs increasingly short of the demand.

Therefore, curbs must be applied. These curbs are:

1. A rigid, universal ceiling on prices, wages, rents, profits;
2. Increased but equitable taxes to reduce the money supply in private hands;
3. A tightened interest rate;
4. Honestly devised and administered priorities, which means that the right to the use of labor and of materials is taken from one to be given to another. Unless priorities are correctly handled, they become a source of disturbance and discontent;
5. Subsidies for political advantage must be abolished.

The human mind is generally ingenious in getting around such a program. It invents black markets; it corrupts officials; it lowers moral standards. Therefore, the entire program is dependent upon confidence in the rigidity and honesty of its administration. In World War I, Woodrow Wilson recognized this and appointed administrations headed by Herbert Hoover and Bernard Baruch. Today, we have confusion.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

WHAT WE SHOULD KNOW ABOUT DIABETES

Physicians who were practicing before the discovery of insulin by Drs. Banting and Best will remember the discouraging problem of diabetes. By following a rigid diet, a diabetic might be kept alive for a few months or even years, but the disease was practically always fatal. Physicians today know, and their patients know, that there is no reason why there should be any deaths from diabetes if the insulin treatment is followed faithfully.

Diabetics have formed an association, the American Diabetes Association Inc., which is spreading the good news that the lives of diabetics may be prolonged so that most can live as long as if they did not have diabetes.

During the Diabetes Detection Drive last November, a pamphlet was given distribution in which diabetics and the families of diabetics were given useful, in fact life-saving, information.

Unfortunately, many diabetics are not being treated today because they do not know they have the disease," the pamphlet stated. "The symptoms of diabetes may not be noticeable at all, or are not severe enough to make the individual go to a doctor. It is estimated that there are nearly as many undiscovered diabetics in this country as there are known cases. The search for these unknown diabetics is one of the major tasks of modern medicine."

What is diabetes and what causes it?

Diabetes interferes with the patient's ability to use up certain kinds of food in a normal way, particularly starches and sugars (energy-giving foods). The body should use these foods up by muscular exercise, or store up in the liver what is not used or burned up by the body. This means that the sugar in the blood increases enormously, the kidneys get rid of this excess sugar and other needed food elements are thrown out in doing so.

The danger signals as outlined for the public in the pamphlet are: excessive thirst and passage of urine, loss of weight, intense itching, excessive hunger, failing eyesight and cataracts, easy tiring, pain in feet and hands, slow healing of cuts and bruises. Mild cases may not show all these symptoms.

Diabetes may attack any age, race or sex but it occurs oftenest in families with a history of diabetes, in those over forty and particularly in the overweight. Members of diabetic families may escape diabetes by avoiding overweight.

Someone Better Start Praying for a High Tide

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The politics-ridden Reconstruction Finance Corporation is hoping that another of its juicy deals will not make headlines. It's the story of a loan to a jukebox manufacturer in President Truman's home town, Kansas City.

Though the Jukebox business is not considered one of the stanchest pillars in our national economy, the RFC, on Jan. 23, 1947, loaned $1,500,000 to the Aireon Corp., of Kansas City, of which the taxpayers will now get back about $700,000. The other $800,000 of the taxpayers' money went down the drain.

One interesting thing about this deal is that the latter part of it was concluded even while the news headlines were sizzling over the Fulbright report about two weeks ago.

Another interesting thing is that the liquidation of the Aireon Jukebox Company in Kansas City was turned over to a man in Worcester, Mass. Just why an auctioneer in Worcester, Mass., Aaron Krock, should be picked to liquidate a company in Kansas City is hard to understand. But this may be the explanation: Auctioneer Krock is a former neighbor of RFC Vice Chairman C. Edward Rowe, whose dealings both in and out of the RFC have come in for senatorial fire.

Here is the inside story of Aireon, which smells of politics from beginning to end: Eight months after the RFC advanced it $1,500,000 in 1947, Aireon went bankrupt. About three years dragged by. Finally, with the outbreak of the Korean war, other manufacturers showed interest in a possible war plant, particularly the Starrett Television Company. It was the Democratic national committee which put the Starrett Company in touch with the RFC, through RFC Director Walter Dunham.

After this contact was made, Starrett Television seemed to have a fairly easy time closing a deal with the RFC to buy the Aireon jukebox plant for $700,000—though another bidder, New England Industries, Inc., had offered $770,000. Significantly RFC didn't even bother to check Starrett's Dun & Bradstreet rating, though the other bidders were carefully checked.

Tax Frauds

This oversight was unfortunate, for it turned out that Starrett's owner, Jacob Freidus, was under indictment for income-tax frauds aggregating nearly a quarter of a million dollars; that the vice president, Larry Knohl, had a criminal record for bankruptcy violations; and that the former president, Murray Daniels, also had a criminal record. The RFC also discovered — too late — that Starrett Television Corporation had falsified its financial statements.

Yet despite these shocking discoveries, the RFC hedged for a month before rescinding its contract with Starrett. Finally it did so only under pressure from the Senate investigators.

This should have ended the political wire-pulling. Yet the RFC turned right around and hired Rowe's friend, Aaron Krock, to auction off the Aieron facilities. In doing so, the RFC by-passed its own liquidation division for no apparent reason other than to entitle Krock to a fat fee.

In the end, however, it appears that Krock did a good job. He brought in $732,760 for the piecemeal auctioning of the Aieron plant. This did not include the lease of the manufacturing space, which RFC is still holding and estimates "will give us an additional $200,000 to $250,000 in the next five years."

Yet only three months before, RFC was prepared to sell both the facilities and the lease to Starret Television Corp. for a flat $700,000. Krock will now keep $36,638, plus $8,000 advertising expenses, out of the $732,760 purchase price. Even with the extra $250,000 expected from the lease, the total recovery is a far cry from the original $1,500,000 loan made by the RFC.

Note—Chief credit for uncovering "influence and favoritism" in the RFC goes to Sen. Bill Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, who tried to get President Truman to houseclean the RFC. He had made the mistake, however, of having urged one Harry Truman to resign after the November elections went against him in 1946. Fulbright's advice, since then, is bitterly resented by aforesaid Harry Truman.

Servants of Brotherhood

James Jones, the Negro Western Union messenger in Florence, S. C., this year has bettered his own high score in collecting money for the March of Dimes. Always one of the big money-raisers, Jones this year collected $2,950 for polio victims. White friends in Florence gave him a big sendoff... Without any fanfare B'nai B'rith has been doing a wonderful job adopting entire wards in army, navy and marine corps hospitals in order to care for disabled veterans... Credit the Spencer Times of Spencer, Iowa, for doing one of the best promotions of civil defense plans. C.D. is lagging in many cities... Here is how some of our heroes without headlines take it on the chin: After saving many lives, Robert A. Joyce of the New York Fire Department died, leaving a widow and eight children. Mrs. Joyce now receives as her pension the ridiculous sum of $11.83 weekly. Since a fireman's wife and children can get just as hungry as any others, Mrs. Joyce inquired about going on citiy relief. There she found that the same city which pays her a pension of $11.83 would pay her $60 if on relief... Mrs. Joyce and a lot of other firemen's wives, policemen's widows and retired schoolteachers don't like relief. But inflation (about the best friend of communism) makes it almost impossible for the retired or pensioned worker to live.

Oriental News Front

It will probably be denied, but President Truman and the National Security Council have approved a secret plan for sending American military supplies and ammunition to Chiang Kai-shek's forces on Formosa. Several shiploads of military equipment already have left the west coast and more are due to leave shortly. ... Admiral Hillenkoetter, former chief of central intelligence, has been quietly assigned as naval commander of the Formosa Straits. He will be in close contact with Chiang's intelligence, which supposedly comes from guerrillas on the China mainland. ... General MacArthur has told John Foster Dulles the United States should give up the idea of a peace conference for Japan. MacArthur says a peace treaty could be written more quickly by exchanging notes through ordinary diplomatic channels. This would also torpedo any Russian scheme to use the peace conference as a forum for new propaganda attacks against the west, he says... Dulles, much impressed with MacArthur's ideas, has promised to talk it over with President Truman to see if a peace treaty for Japan can be written by July 15.

Truman, Cabinet Begin Decisive Action on Two Outstanding International Questions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 16 — President Truman and his cabinet have begun to deal decisively with two major questions that have been the subject of international discussion. Mr. Truman announced unequivocally that the question of crossing the 38th Parallel in Korea was not up for revision and that our forces were going ahead on the basis of the authority already granted by the U.N. At the same time he authorized Secretary of Defense Marshall to state to Congress that six American divisions of troops would be stationed in Europe.

By removing all doubt concerning our future operations in Korea, the President disposed of the incipient controversy which began the other day with a speech in the British Parliament by Prime Minister Attlee who seemed to want to have a lot of debate on that issue. What the President's statement means in that the U.N. forces are going ahead as planned and that they will cross the parallel when and if they find it militarily desirable to do so.

Many people who are watching Korean developments have not yet come to realize what a frightful punishment is being inflicted on the Chinese aggressors. A popular fallacy exists that the Chinese have an unlimited supply of troops and that more hordes can swarm in when tens of thousands are killed. The truth is that the Chinese Communists have a very limited number of trained troops and that, if the battle continues as sanguinary in the next few months as it has in these recent weeks, the flower of the Red Chinese Army may be decimated. Then a counter-revolution in China would have a chance of success. It is estimated that Mao does not have more than 500,000 crack troops who could be spared in the north. The rate at which casualties are being encountered means that the Red Chinese cannot go on much longer against the type of warfare being waged against them. The enemy toll has been estimated as more than ten losses to our one.

The U.N. commanders are not seeking to gain ground buf merely to kill as many of the enemy as possible and break up their formations. This tactic is succeeding. It is being asked where all this will lead. The answer is that in due time the Communist regime will have to withdraw and abjectly seek a "cease fire."

One reason for this will be the breakdown of the supply line. It is costing the Red Chinese not just manpower but a large amount of money to keep their armies equipped and supplied with ammunition and weapons. If the Russians are furnishing these munitions then the Soviet Union is under a tremendous strain, too. So far as America is concerned, the Korean war, of course, is expensive. But if it teaches the Soviet-Chinese alliance that there is no intention to appease an aggressor and that the fighting will be continued indefinitely in the Far East until there is a chance for a respectable settlement, the operation as a whole will be more than worth while.

The Communists in Moscow will also be impressed by the bold decision in Washington to announce publicly the addition of four U. S. divisions to the two already in Europe. This should dispose of the controversy over the number of troops and the percentage. As Secretary Marshall himself explained, there should be no limitation written into the law because the situation is self-limiting. Thus if General Eisenhower at any time were to render a formal opinion to our government that six divisions could not be successfully maintained in Europe because these were not adequately supported by troops from our allies, the question could arise as to whether any divisions should remain. That would be the extreme of the case. But it gives General Eisenhower considerable leverage for negotiating, with our allies.

Conversely, if the Europeans who are more concerned about their own defense than we are examine the meaning of America's contribution of six divisions, they will come to realize instantly that there must be a lot more supplied. To put it another way, America is in a better position to bring about the mobilization of a larger continental army derived from our allies now that announcement has been made concerning six divisions that would have been the case if the debate for the next several weeks had shifted back and forth on the basis of some hypothetical percentage or ratio.

Secretary Marshall really accomplished a ten-strike by announcing the exact number of divisions. For, while, as he says, this is telling the potential enemy something that perhaps for security reasons shouldn't be told, there is nevertheless a greater advantage in telling it than in trying to handle the problem any other way. The truth is that a force of six divisions can hardly furnish Russia with any real excuse to grow nervous, even though her propaganda may heap a lot of abuse on us for even so small a number as six. All in all, progress is being made toward an eventual solution of the troops controversy in Congress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Associated Press last summer was seriously accused by one of its client managing editors of slanting news against Senator Joe McCarthy in his campaign against the Communist treason. There was a loose debate and some of the A.P. editors vindicated the A.P., and, incidently, themselves, in a judgment which thus discredited itself. Solemn consideration was given to the opinion of one editor who had been accused by McCarthy of promoting a known Communist to an influential editorial position on his paper. I have been gathering and examining the facts of this situation and will report further as soon as I am able to.

Meanwhile, I call attention to a later A.P. dispatch, under a Washington dateline, which spoke of a "feud" between McCarthy and Drew Pearson, the propagandist, who has given sly service to the Communist line for years without detection or challenge until McCarthy, on the floor of the Senate, alleged that Pearson was in the power of his so-called legman David Katz, sometimes called Karr, who formerly wrote for the Communist Daily Worker in New York.

McCarthy firmly established from government records a basis for a charge that Katz, or Karr, had been a Communist. Howard Rushmore, a reformed Communist, formerly employed by the Worker, said Katz had been a familiar figure in the Worker office and said that only Communists were allowed to work there. There is no doubt whatever that this man was, for years, an employe of Pearson. He still is a close professional associate of Pearson.

To speak of Senator McCarthy's campaign against Pearson as a "feud" is to comment on the senator's work in a derogatory way. The A.P. has no right to comment on anything favorably or otherwise. Its function is to report news, expressing no opinion. The situation between McCarthy and Pearson is not a feud. McCarthy is performing a duty. Neither is the situation between Pearson and me a feud. I, too, am performing a duty. One may wage feud only with one's equals. McCarthy likened his engagement with Pearson to his boyhood task of routing skunks from under the hen-house. That was unpleasant work, but he was not conducting a feud with the skunks. In my case, I have patiently explained that when I discover some abomination on the heel of my shoe and take pains to remove it, I am not fighting a feud with the nuisance. There is an absence of that personal spite which is essential to a feud.

Pearson acquired, over a period of years, a strange, dangerous power to intimidate public men and to sway public opinion by means of deliberate, wanton lies, many of them plainly malicious. Although we have not worked together and did not even meet until he had been fighting the Communist treachery for a long time, McCarthy and I have worked toward the same purpose. That purpose, here, is to discredit Pearson so thoroughly by proof of his dishonesty that his power for evil will be broken. Thereafter, let whoever wants him pay him however much to broadcast his lies to advertise a laxative or a brand of

Questions — Answers

Q—When were the "Mother Goose Rhymes" introduced into the United States?

A—In 1760, John Newbery of London issued "Mother Goose's Melody," which contained 52 nursery rhymes. Copies of the Newbery book reached the American colonies through an importer, Isaiah Thomas, and Mother Goose's New England popularity began. Twenty years later Thomas reprinted the rhymes in the first American edition in 1785.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 16, 1951

INDIA WILL PROBABLY GET GRAIN

An unhappy combination of bad weather and natural disasters has brought sizable parts of India to the brink of famine. Even to maintain its very scant rations, the country needs an extra 6,000,000 tons of grain this year. It has asked us to supply 2,000,000 tons of this amount.

Indian officials managed to buy 4,000,000 tons elsewhere. They seek the remainder from us on a loan. But our government has decided it would be better to furnish the grain as an outright grant. It would come to about $180,000,000.

A State Department official already has made a preliminary appeal to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the issue, but the committee doesn't yet have a formal aid bill under study.

From the fact that the Senate group didn't begin action immediately, the notion arose that Congress was sitting on the plan. Strictly speaking, this isn't so. But it is true that a good many lawmakers are cool to the idea.

Chiefly, they resent India's undermining of U. S. foreign policy by attempts in the United Nations to gain peace with Red China almost at the price of surrender.

There's a feeling, too, that India's grain shortage is at least partly due to its bitter trade war with neighboring Pakistan. The Indians declined to take available wheat from Pakistan. And they have planted much newly reclaimed acreage not to needed grains but to cotton and jute, to enable them to achieve greater economic independence of Pakistan.

It seems quite understandable that many Americans, including some of their representatives in the Senate, should be chagrined at India's behavior and thus somewhat reluctant to extend the desired assistance.

But the government feels, and many citizens and legislators agree, that to penalize India's starving millions because we dislike the country's conduct of foreign affairs would be playing politics with human misery.

This view gained emphasis when former president Herbert Hoover agreed recently to help President Truman plan aid to the famine areas. Long famed for his humanitarian deeds, Hoover nevertheless is a stout opponent of administration policies.

In spite of this opposition, he is lending his support because he believes "the United States has never failed to do its best to aid starving people and shouldn't fail in this case, either."

In other words, Hoover is acting in accord with America's long tradition of succoring disaster-stricken peoples all over the face of the globe, regardless of their politics, their religion, or anything else. And by suppressing his objections he appears to be implying that we all ought to do the same.

With this kind of backing, the chances are strong that the grain program will go through. But it probably won't happen before a lot of hot words are flung about the Senate chamber by those who feel India has been woefully short-sighted both at home and abroad.

TEACHING AND LIFE

The school line between teachers and non-teachers is being obliterated in one Eastern community. Scientists, artists, police and fire department employes, photographers, newspaper men and other workers are being brought into classrooms to lecture on their work and its ramifications, or on their hobbies or travels. Mothers are helping to inform home economics students, bringing their practical knowledge to bear on class problems.

"Fifty Teachers to a Classroom" is the title of the first report on this experiment. "Bringing the world and its activities into the classroom is teaching at its best and most convincing," says Dr. Paul R. Mort of Teachers College, Columbia University.

Early educational ideas, which made of students and scholars a class apart, having no place in the struggle for a livelihood, have been completely overthrown in most of the world today. Only in a few spots in the Orient do those ideas still hold sway. This New York experiment is one more example of the close cooperation between learning and living which has raised this country's standards to their high point.

'These Days'

SUPPLY AND DEMAND

The laws of economics are not based on what professors write in books. They are based on human experience; on long tried experience over hundreds of centuries; upon trial and error in the relations between what a man wants and how he goes about getting it.

The law of supply and demand is not difficult to understand. It starts with a certain amount of anything being available at a given place and at a given time. Let us say, 1,000 pounds of beef are available in your market on a Monday. The owner of that beef has bought it because he assumes that he can sell it at an advantage. He has paid a price for it. He has had other costs in relationship to it: Transportation costs, labor costs, rent, insurance, taxes, etc. The retailer has worked out a formula for these extra costs, often called a mark-up. Having put his mark-up on top of the original cost of the beef, the butcher figures a profit and seeks to sell the beef.

Ordinarily being a provident merchant, he knows pretty well from experience what he will need to satisfy his customers. But suddenly he finds that other butchers in the neighborhood cannot get their supplies, for one reason or another. He discovers that he himself is likely to be short of supplies on Thursday and Friday; that he may be stuck over the very important week-end period. He also notices a number of transients in his shop who want beef.

In a word, the demand is already exceeding the supply and tends to become more so. So he protects himself by raising the price. He watches both wholesale and retail market prices. He raises the prices to conform to the market.

He is not happy about it because he knows, from his experience, that there is a law of diminishing returns. He calls it buyers' resistance. He sees a very good customer switch from top round for hamburger to chuck.

He knows that women will turn to fancy-made dishes taken from the recipes in magazines and newspapers, dishes that are stretched and made to look pretty but that are nevertheless not a juicy sirloin.

The butcher knows from experience that sooner or later there will be trouble unless wages go up in all industries except butcher shops. If wages go up, the former low earners will spend like mad, because they will think themselves rich, but what they do not know is that every day their money is worth less and less. That is called inflation.

This is, of course, oversimplified, because it deals with a society in which there are no supported agricultural prices, fictitiously maintained out of taxes; no trickery use of the money supply of the nation to alter values.

And in the end, an inflation runs away. Prices run away. Workers demand more wages. There are buyers' strikes as well as workers' strikes.

The government then steps in to save the economy. When the problem is complicated by war or by preparations for war, the situation becomes very tough, indeed.

The reason is that war reverses the law of supply and demand. It is nearly all demand. Price factors are disregarded. Goods are produced not only for use but for destruction. Goods are produced beyond probable use and much of it is, of necessity, waste.

Shortages in consumers' goods are immediately apparent and are intensified as the war period is prolonged. The law of supply and demand must be abandoned, because prices are bound to skyrocket as the supply runs increasingly short of the demand.

Therefore, curbs must be applied. These curbs are:

1. A rigid, universal ceiling on prices, wages, rents, profits;
2. Increased but equitable taxes to reduce the money supply in private hands;
3. A tightened interest rate;
4. Honestly devised and administered priorities, which means that the right to the use of labor and of materials is taken from one to be given to another. Unless priorities are correctly handled, they become a source of disturbance and discontent;
5. Subsidies for political advantage must be abolished.

The human mind is generally ingenious in getting around such a program. It invents black markets; it corrupts officials; it lowers moral standards. Therefore, the entire program is dependent upon confidence in the rigidity and honesty of its administration. In World War I, Woodrow Wilson recognized this and appointed administrations headed by Herbert Hoover and Bernard Baruch. Today, we have confusion.

That Body of Yours

WHAT WE SHOULD KNOW ABOUT DIABETES

Physicians who were practicing before the discovery of insulin by Drs. Banting and Best will remember the discouraging problem of diabetes. By following a rigid diet, a diabetic might be kept alive for a few months or even years, but the disease was practically always fatal. Physicians today know, and their patients know, that there is no reason why there should be any deaths from diabetes if the insulin treatment is followed faithfully.

Diabetics have formed an association, the American Diabetes Association Inc., which is spreading the good news that the lives of diabetics may be prolonged so that most can live as long as if they did not have diabetes.

During the Diabetes Detection Drive last November, a pamphlet was given distribution in which diabetics and the families of diabetics were given useful, in fact life-saving, information.

Unfortunately, many diabetics are not being treated today because they do not know they have the disease," the pamphlet stated. "The symptoms of diabetes may not be noticeable at all, or are not severe enough to make the individual go to a doctor. It is estimated that there are nearly as many undiscovered diabetics in this country as there are known cases. The search for these unknown diabetics is one of the major tasks of modern medicine."

What is diabetes and what causes it?

Diabetes interferes with the patient's ability to use up certain kinds of food in a normal way, particularly starches and sugars (energy-giving foods). The body should use these foods up by muscular exercise, or store up in the liver what is not used or burned up by the body. This means that the sugar in the blood increases enormously, the kidneys get rid of this excess sugar and other needed food elements are thrown out in doing so.

The danger signals as outlined for the public in the pamphlet are: excessive thirst and passage of urine, loss of weight, intense itching, excessive hunger, failing eyesight and cataracts, easy tiring, pain in feet and hands, slow healing of cuts and bruises. Mild cases may not show all these symptoms.

Diabetes may attack any age, race or sex but it occurs oftenest in families with a history of diabetes, in those over forty and particularly in the overweight. Members of diabetic families may escape diabetes by avoiding overweight.

Someone Better Start Praying for a High Tide

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The politics-ridden Reconstruction Finance Corporation is hoping that another of its juicy deals will not make headlines. It's the story of a loan to a jukebox manufacturer in President Truman's home town, Kansas City.

Though the Jukebox business is not considered one of the stanchest pillars in our national economy, the RFC, on Jan. 23, 1947, loaned $1,500,000 to the Aireon Corp., of Kansas City, of which the taxpayers will now get back about $700,000. The other $800,000 of the taxpayers' money went down the drain.

One interesting thing about this deal is that the latter part of it was concluded even while the news headlines were sizzling over the Fulbright report about two weeks ago.

Another interesting thing is that the liquidation of the Aireon Jukebox Company in Kansas City was turned over to a man in Worcester, Mass. Just why an auctioneer in Worcester, Mass., Aaron Krock, should be picked to liquidate a company in Kansas City is hard to understand. But this may be the explanation: Auctioneer Krock is a former neighbor of RFC Vice Chairman C. Edward Rowe, whose dealings both in and out of the RFC have come in for senatorial fire.

Here is the inside story of Aireon, which smells of politics from beginning to end: Eight months after the RFC advanced it $1,500,000 in 1947, Aireon went bankrupt. About three years dragged by. Finally, with the outbreak of the Korean war, other manufacturers showed interest in a possible war plant, particularly the Starrett Television Company. It was the Democratic national committee which put the Starrett Company in touch with the RFC, through RFC Director Walter Dunham.

After this contact was made, Starrett Television seemed to have a fairly easy time closing a deal with the RFC to buy the Aireon jukebox plant for $700,000—though another bidder, New England Industries, Inc., had offered $770,000. Significantly RFC didn't even bother to check Starrett's Dun & Bradstreet rating, though the other bidders were carefully checked.

Tax Frauds

This oversight was unfortunate, for it turned out that Starrett's owner, Jacob Freidus, was under indictment for income-tax frauds aggregating nearly a quarter of a million dollars; that the vice president, Larry Knohl, had a criminal record for bankruptcy violations; and that the former president, Murray Daniels, also had a criminal record. The RFC also discovered — too late — that Starrett Television Corporation had falsified its financial statements.

Yet despite these shocking discoveries, the RFC hedged for a month before rescinding its contract with Starrett. Finally it did so only under pressure from the Senate investigators.

This should have ended the political wire-pulling. Yet the RFC turned right around and hired Rowe's friend, Aaron Krock, to auction off the Aieron facilities. In doing so, the RFC by-passed its own liquidation division for no apparent reason other than to entitle Krock to a fat fee.

In the end, however, it appears that Krock did a good job. He brought in $732,760 for the piecemeal auctioning of the Aieron plant. This did not include the lease of the manufacturing space, which RFC is still holding and estimates "will give us an additional $200,000 to $250,000 in the next five years."

Yet only three months before, RFC was prepared to sell both the facilities and the lease to Starret Television Corp. for a flat $700,000. Krock will now keep $36,638, plus $8,000 advertising expenses, out of the $732,760 purchase price. Even with the extra $250,000 expected from the lease, the total recovery is a far cry from the original $1,500,000 loan made by the RFC.

Note—Chief credit for uncovering "influence and favoritism" in the RFC goes to Sen. Bill Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, who tried to get President Truman to houseclean the RFC. He had made the mistake, however, of having urged one Harry Truman to resign after the November elections went against him in 1946. Fulbright's advice, since then, is bitterly resented by aforesaid Harry Truman.

Servants of Brotherhood

James Jones, the Negro Western Union messenger in Florence, S. C., this year has bettered his own high score in collecting money for the March of Dimes. Always one of the big money-raisers, Jones this year collected $2,950 for polio victims. White friends in Florence gave him a big sendoff... Without any fanfare B'nai B'rith has been doing a wonderful job adopting entire wards in army, navy and marine corps hospitals in order to care for disabled veterans...Credit the Spencer Times of Spencer, Iowa, for doing one of the best promotions of civil defense plans. C.D. is lagging in many cities... Here is how some of our heroes without headlines take it on the chin: After saving many lives, Robert A. Joyce of the New York Fire Department died, leaving a widow and eight children, Mrs. Joyce now receives as her pension the ridiculous sum of $11.83 weekly. Since a fireman's wife and children can get just as hungry as any others, Mrs. Joyce inquired about going on citiy relief. There she found that the same city which pays her a pension of $11.83 would pay her $60 if on relief... Mrs. Joyce and a lot of other firemen's wives, policemen's widows and retired schoolteachers don't like relief. But inflation (about the best friend of communism) makes it almost impossible for the retired or pensioned worker to live.

Oriental News Front

It will probably be denied, but President Truman and the National Security Council have approved a secret plan for sending American military supplies and ammunition to Chiang Kai-shek's forces on Formosa. Several shiploads of military equipment already have left the west coast and more are due to leave shortly. ...Admiral Hillenkoetter, former chief of central intelligence, has been quietly assigned as naval commander of the Formosa Straits. He will be in close contact with Chiang's intelligence, which supposedly comes from guerrillas on the China mainland. ...General MacArthur has told John Foster Dulles the United States should give up the idea of a peace conference for Japan. MacArthur says a peace treaty could be written more quickly by exchanging notes through ordinary diplomatic channels. This would also torpedo any Russian scheme to use the peace conference as a forum for new propaganda attacks against the west, he says...Dulles, much impressed with MacArthur's ideas, has promised to talk it over with President Truman to see if a peace treaty for Japan can be written by July 15.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 16 — President Truman and his cabinet have begun to deal decisively with two major questions that have been the subject of international discussion. Mr. Truman announced unequivocally that the question of crossing the 38th Parallel in Korea was not up for revision and that our forces were going ahead on the basis of the authority already granted by the U.N. At the same time he authorized Secretary of Defense Marshall to state to Congress that six American divisions of troops would be stationed in Europe.

By removing all doubt concerning our future operations in Korea, the President disposed of the incipient controversy which began the other day with a speech in the British Parliament by Prime Minister Attlee who seemed to want to have a lot of debate on that issue. What the President's statement means in that the U.N. forces are going ahead as planned and that they will cross the parallel when and if they find it militarily desirable to do so.

Many people who are watching Korean developments have not yet come to realize what a frightful punishment is being inflicted on the Chinese aggressors. A popular fallacy exists that the Chinese have an unlimited supply of troops and that more hordes can swarm in when tens of thousands are killed. The truth is that the Chinese Communists have a very limited number of trained troops and that, if the battle continues as sanguinary in the next few months as it has in these recent weeks, the flower of the Red Chinese Army may be decimated. Then a counter-revolution in China would have a chance of success. It is estimated that Mao does not have more than 500,000 crack troops who could be spared in the north. The rate at which casualties are being encountered means that the Red Chinese cannot go on much longer against the type of warfare being waged against them. The enemy toll has been estimated as more than ten losses to our one.

The U.N. commanders are not seeking to gain ground but merely to kill as many of the enemy as possible and break up their formations. This tactic is succeeding. It is being asked where all this will lead. The answer is that in due time the Communist regime will have to withdraw and abjectly seek a "cease fire."

One reason for this will be the breakdown of the supply line. It is costing the Red Chinese not just manpower but a large amount of money to keep their armies equipped and supplied with ammunition and weapons. If the Russians are furnishing these munitions, then the Soviet Union is under a tremendous strain, too. So far as America is concerned, the Korean war, of course, is expensive. But if it teaches the Soviet-Chinese alliance that there is no intention to appease an aggressor and that the fighting will be continued indefinitely in the Far East until there is a chance for a respectable settlement, the operation as a whole will be more than worth while.

The Communists in Moscow will also be impressed by the bold decision in Washington to announce publicly the addition of four U. S. divisions to the two already in Europe. This should dispose of the controversy over the number of troops and the percentage. As Secretary Marshall himself explained, there should be no limitation written into the law because the situation is self-limiting. Thus if General Eisenhower at any time were to render a formal opinion to our government that six divisions could not be successfully maintained in Europe because these were not adequately supported by troops from our allies, the question could arise as to whether any divisions should remain. That would be the extreme of the case. But it gives General Eisenhower considerable leverage for negotiating with our allies.

Conversely, if the Europeans who are more concerned about their own defense than we are examine the meaning of America's contribution of six divisions, they will come to realize instantly that there must be a lot more supplied. To put it another way, America is in a better position to bring about the mobilization of a larger continental army derived from our allies now that announcement has been made concerning six divisions that would have been the case if the debate for the next several weeks had shifted back and forth on the basis of some hypothetical percentage or ratio.

Secretary Marshall really accomplished a ten-strike by announcing the exact number of divisions. For, while, as he says, this is telling the potential enemy something that perhaps for security reasons shouldn't be told, there is nevertheless a greater advantage in telling it than in trying to handle the problem any other way. The truth is that a force of six divisions can hardly furnish Russia with any real excuse to grow nervous, even though her propaganda may heap a lot of abuse on us for even so small a number as six. All in all, progress is being made toward an eventual solution of the troops controversy in Congress.

Pearson acquired, over a period of years, a strange, dangerous power to intimidate public men and to sway public opinion by means of deliberate, wanton lies, many of them plainly malicious. Although we have not worked together and did not even meet until he had been fighting the Communist treachery for a long time, McCarthy and I have worked toward the same purpose. That purpose, here, is to discredit Pearson so thoroughly by proof of his dishonesty that his power for evil will be broken. Thereafter, let whoever wants him pay him however much to broadcast his lies to advertise a laxative or a brand of

Q—When were the "Mother Goose Rhymes" introduced into the United States?

A—In 1760, John Newbery of London issued "Mother Goose's Melody," which contained 52 nursery rhymes. Copies of the Newbery book reached the American colonies through an importer, Isaiah Thomas, and Mother Goose's New England popularity began. Twenty years later Thomas reprinted the rhymes in the first American edition in 1785.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 16, 1951

INDIA WILL PROBABLY GET GRAIN

An unhappy combination of bad weather and natural disasters has brought sizable parts of India to the brink of famine. Even to maintain its very scant rations, the country needs an extra 6,000,000 tons of grain this year. It has asked us to supply 2,000,000 tons of this amount.

Indian officials managed to buy 4,000,000 tons elsewhere. They seek the remainder from us on a loan. But our government has decided it would be better to furnish the grain as an outright grant. It would come to about $180,000,000.

A State Department official already has made a preliminary appeal to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the issue, but the committee doesn't yet have a formal aid bill under study.

From the fact that the Senate group didn't begin action immediately, the notion arose that Congress was sitting on the plan. Strictly speaking, this isn't so. But it is true that a good many lawmakers are cool to the idea.

Chiefly, they resent India's undermining of U. S. foreign policy by attempts in the United Nations to gain peace with Red China almost at the price of surrender.

There's a feeling, too, that India's grain shortage is at least partly due to its bitter trade war with neighboring Pakistan. The Indians declined to take available wheat from Pakistan. And they have planted much newly reclaimed acreage not to needed grains but to cotton and jute, to enable them to achieve greater economic independence of Pakistan.

It seems quite understandable that many Americans, including some of their representatives in the Senate, should be chagrined at India's behavior and thus somewhat reluctant to extend the desired assistance.

But the government feels, and many citizens and legislators agree, that to penalize India's starving millions because we dislike the country's conduct of foreign affairs would be playing politics with human misery.

This view gained emphasis when former president Herbert Hoover agreed recently to help President Truman plan aid to the famine areas. Long famed for his humanitarian deeds, Hoover nevertheless is a stout opponent of administration policies.

In spite of this opposition, he is lending his support because he believes "the United States has never failed to do its best to aid starving people and shouldn't fail in this case, either."

In other words, Hoover is acting in accord with America's long tradition of succoring disaster-stricken peoples all over the face of the globe, regardless of their politics, their religion, or anything else. And by suppressing his objections he appears to be implying that we all ought to do the same.

With this kind of backing, the chances are strong that the grain program will go through. But it probably won't happen before a lot of hot words are flung about the Senate chamber by those who feel India has been woefully short-sighted both at home and abroad.

TEACHING AND LIFE

The school line between teachers and non-teachers is being obliterated in one Eastern community. Scientists, artists, police and fire department employes, photographers, newspaper men and other workers are being brought into classrooms to lecture on their work and its ramifications, or on their hobbies or travels. Mothers are helping to inform home economics students, bringing their practical knowledge to bear on class problems.

"Fifty Teachers to a Classroom" is the title of the first report on this experiment. "Bringing the world and its activities into the classroom is teaching at its best and most convincing," says Dr. Paul R. Mort of Teachers College, Columbia University.

Early educational ideas, which made of students and scholars a class apart, having no place in the struggle for a livelihood, have been completely overthrown in most of the world today. Only in a few spots in the Orient do those ideas still hold sway. This New York experiment is one more example of the close cooperation between learning and living which has raised this country's standards to their high point.

'These Days'

SUPPLY AND DEMAND

The laws of economics are not based on what professors write in books. They are based on human experience; on long tried experience over hundreds of centuries; upon trial and error in the relations between what a man wants and how he goes about getting it.

The law of supply and demand is not difficult to understand. It starts with a certain amount of anything being available at a given place and at a given time. Let us say, 1,000 pounds of beef are available in your market on a Monday. The owner of that beef has bought it because he assumes that he can sell it at an advantage. He has paid a price for it. He has had other costs in relationship to it: Transportation costs, labor costs, rent, insurance, taxes, etc. The retailer has worked out a formula for these extra costs, often called a mark-up. Having put his mark-up on top of the original cost of the beef, the butcher figures a profit and seeks to sell the beef.

Ordinarily being a provident merchant, he knows pretty well from experience what he will need to satisfy his customers. But suddenly he finds that other butchers in the neighborhood cannot get their supplies, for one reason or another. He discovers that he himself is likely to be short of supplies on Thursday and Friday; that he may be stuck over the very important week-end period. He also notices a number of transients in his shop who want beef.

In a word, the demand is already exceeding the supply and tends to become more so. So he protects himself by raising the price. He watches both wholesale and retail market prices. He raises the prices to conform to the market.

He is not happy about it because he knows, from his experience, that there is a law of diminishing returns. He calls it buyers' resistance. He sees a very good customer switch from top round for hamburger to chuck.

He knows that women will turn to fancy-made dishes taken from the recipes in magazines and newspapers, dishes that are stretched and made to look pretty but that are nevertheless not a juicy sirloin.

The butcher knows from experience that sooner or later there will be trouble unless wages go up in all industries except butcher shops. If wages go up, the former low earners will spend like mad, because they will think themselves rich, but what they do not know is that every day their money is worth less and less. That is called inflation.

This is, of course, oversimplified, because it deals with a society in which there are no supported agricultural prices, fictitiously maintained out of taxes; no trickery use of the money supply of the nation to alter values.

And in the end, an inflation runs away. Prices run away. Workers demand more wages. There are buyers' strikes as well as workers' strikes.

The government then steps in to save the economy. When the problem is complicated by war or by preparations for war, the situation becomes very tough, indeed.

The reason is that war reverses the law of supply and demand. It is nearly all demand. Price factors are disregarded. Goods are produced not only for use but for destruction. Goods are produced beyond probable use and much of it is, of necessity, waste.

Shortages in consumers' goods are immediately apparent and are intensified as the war period is prolonged. The law of supply and demand must be abandoned, because prices are bound to skyrocket as the supply runs increasingly short of the demand.

Therefore, curbs must be applied. These curbs are:

1. A rigid, universal ceiling on prices, wages, rents, profits;
2. Increased but equitable taxes to reduce the money supply in private hands;
3. A tightened interest rate;
4. Honestly devised and administered priorities, which means that the right to the use of labor and of materials is taken from one to be given to another. Unless priorities are correctly handled, they become a source of disturbance and discontent;
5. Subsidies for political advantage must be abolished.

The human mind is generally ingenious in getting around such a program. It invents black markets; it corrupts officials; it lowers moral standards. Therefore, the entire program is dependent upon confidence in the rigidity and honesty of its administration. In World War I, Woodrow Wilson recognized this and appointed administrations headed by Herbert Hoover and Bernard Baruch. Today, we have confusion.

That Body of Yours

WHAT WE SHOULD KNOW ABOUT DIABETES

Physicians who were practicing before the discovery of insulin by Drs. Banting and Best will remember the discouraging problem of diabetes. By following a rigid diet, a diabetic might be kept alive for a few months or even years, but the disease was practically always fatal. Physicians today know, and their patients know, that there is no reason why there should be any deaths from diabetes if the insulin treatment is followed faithfully.

Diabetics have formed an association, the American Diabetes Association Inc., which is spreading the good news that the lives of diabetics may be prolonged so that most can live as long as if they did not have diabetes.

During the Diabetes Detection Drive last November, a pamphlet was given distribution in which diabetics and the families of diabetics were given useful, in fact life-saving, information.

Unfortunately, many diabetics are not being treated today because they do not know they have the disease," the pamphlet stated. "The symptoms of diabetes may not be noticeable at all, or are not severe enough to make the individual go to a doctor. It is estimated that there are nearly as many undiscovered diabetics in this country as there are known cases. The search for these unknown diabetics is one of the major tasks of modern medicine."

What is diabetes and what causes it?

Diabetes interferes with the patient's ability to use up certain kinds of food in a normal way, particularly starches and sugars (energy-giving foods). The body should use these foods up by muscular exercise, or store up in the liver what is not used or burned up by the body. This means that the sugar in the blood increases enormously, the kidneys get rid of this excess sugar and other needed food elements are thrown out in doing so.

The danger signals as outlined for the public in the pamphlet are: excessive thirst and passage of urine, loss of weight, intense itching, excessive hunger, failing eyesight and cataracts, easy tiring, pain in feet and hands, slow healing of cuts and bruises. Mild cases may not show all these symptoms.

Diabetes may attack any age, race or sex but it occurs oftenest in families with a history of diabetes, in those over forty and particularly in the overweight. Members of diabetic families may escape diabetes by avoiding overweight.

Someone Better Start Praying for a High Tide

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The politics-ridden Reconstruction Finance Corporation is hoping that another of its juicy deals will not make headlines. It's the story of a loan to a jukebox manufacturer in President Truman's home town, Kansas City.

Though the Jukebox business is not considered one of the stanchest pillars in our national economy, the RFC, on Jan. 23, 1947, loaned $1,500,000 to the Aireon Corp., of Kansas City, of which the taxpayers will now get back about $700,000. The other $800,000 of the taxpayers' money went down the drain.

One interesting thing about this deal is that the latter part of it was concluded even while the news headlines were sizzling over the Fulbright report about two weeks ago.

Another interesting thing is that the liquidation of the Aireon Jukebox Company in Kansas City was turned over to a man in Worcester, Mass. Just why an auctioneer in Worcester, Mass., Aaron Krock, should be picked to liquidate a company in Kansas City is hard to understand. But this may be the explanation: Auctioneer Krock is a former neighbor of RFC Vice Chairman C. Edward Rowe, whose dealings both in and out of the RFC have come in for senatorial fire.

Here is the inside story of Aireon, which smells of politics from beginning to end: Eight months after the RFC advanced it $1,500,000 in 1947, Aireon went bankrupt. About three years dragged by. Finally, with the outbreak of the Korean war, other manufacturers showed interest in a possible war plant, particularly the Starrett Television Company. It was the Democratic national committee which put the Starrett Company in touch with the RFC, through RFC Director Walter Dunham.

After this contact was made, Starrett Television seemed to have a fairly easy time closing a deal with the RFC to buy the Aireon jukebox plant for $700,000—though another bidder, New England Industries, Inc., had offered $770,000. Significantly RFC didn't even bother to check Starrett's Dun & Bradstreet rating, though the other bidders were carefully checked.

Tax Frauds

This oversight was unfortunate, for it turned out that Starrett's owner, Jacob Freidus, was under indictment for income-tax frauds aggregating nearly a quarter of a million dollars; that the vice president, Larry Knohl, had a criminal record for bankruptcy violations; and that the former president, Murray Daniels, also had a criminal record. The RFC also discovered — too late — that Starrett Television Corporation had falsified its financial statements.

Yet despite these shocking discoveries, the RFC hedged for a month before rescinding its contract with Starrett. Finally it did so only under pressure from the Senate investigators.

This should have ended the political wire-pulling. Yet the RFC turned right around and hired Rowe's friend, Aaron Krock, to auction off the Aieron facilities. In doing so, the RFC by-passed its own liquidation division for no apparent reason other than to entitle Krock to a fat fee.

In the end, however, it appears that Krock did a good job. He brought in $732,760 for the piecemeal auctioning of the Aieron plant. This did not include the lease of the manufacturing space, which RFC is still holding and estimates "will give us an additional $200,000 to $250,000 in the next five years."

Yet only three months before, RFC was prepared to sell both the facilities and the lease to Starret Television Corp. for a flat $700,000. Krock will now keep $36,638, plus $8,000 advertising expenses, out of the $732,760 purchase price. Even with the extra $250,000 expected from the lease, the total recovery is a far cry from the original $1,500,000 loan made by the RFC.

Note—Chief credit for uncovering "influence and favoritism" in the RFC goes to Sen. Bill Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, who tried to get President Truman to houseclean the RFC. He had made the mistake, however, of having urged one Harry Truman to resign after the November elections went against him in 1946. Fulbright's advice, since then, is bitterly resented by aforesaid Harry Truman.

Servants of Brotherhood

James Jones, the Negro Western Union messenger in Florence, S. C., this year has bettered his own high score in collecting money for the March of Dimes. Always one of the big money-raisers, Jones this year collected $2,950 for polio victims. White friends in Florence gave him a big sendoff... Without any fanfare B'nai B'rith has been doing a wonderful job adopting entire wards in army, navy and marine corps hospitals in order to care for disabled veterans... Credit the Spencer Times of Spencer, Iowa, for doing one of the best promotions of civil defense plans. C.D. is lagging in many cities... Here is how some of our heroes without headlines take it on the chin: After saving many lives, Robert A. Joyce of the New York Fire Department died, leaving a widow and eight children. Mrs. Joyce now receives as her pension the ridiculous sum of $11.83 weekly. Since a fireman's wife and children can get just as hungry as any others, Mrs. Joyce inquired about going on city relief. There she found that the same city which pays her a pension of $11.83 would pay her $60 if on relief... Mrs. Joyce and a lot of other firemen's wives, policemen's widows and retired schoolteachers don't like relief. But inflation (about the best friend of communism) makes it almost impossible for the retired or pensioned worker to live.

Oriental News Front

It will probably be denied, but President Truman and the National Security Council have approved a secret plan for sending American military supplies and ammunition to Chiang Kai-shek's forces on Formosa. Several shiploads of military equipment already have left the west coast and more are due to leave shortly. ... Admiral Hillenkoetter, former chief of central intelligence, has been quietly assigned as naval commander of the Formosa Straits. He will be in close contact with Chiang's intelligence, which supposedly comes from guerrillas on the China mainland. ... General MacArthur has told John Foster Dulles the United States should give up the idea of a peace conference for Japan. MacArthur says a peace treaty could be written more quickly by exchanging notes through ordinary diplomatic channels. This would also torpedo any Russian scheme to use the peace conference as a forum for new propaganda attacks against the west, he says... Dulles, much impressed with MacArthur's ideas, has promised to talk it over with President Truman to see if a peace treaty for Japan can be written by July 15.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 16 — President Truman and his cabinet have begun to deal decisively with two major questions that have been the subject of international discussion. Mr. Truman announced unequivocally that the question of crossing the 38th Parallel in Korea was not up for revision and that our forces were going ahead on the basis of the authority already granted by the U.N. At the same time he authorized Secretary of Defense Marshall to state to Congress that six American divisions of troops would be stationed in Europe.

By removing all doubt concerning our future operations in Korea, the President disposed of the incipient controversy which began the other day with a speech in the British Parliament by Prime Minister Attlee who seemed to want to have a lot of debate on that issue. What the President's statement means in that the U.N. forces are going ahead as planned and that they will cross the parallel when and if they find it militarily desirable to do so.

Many people who are watching Korean developments have not yet come to realize what a frightful punishment is being inflicted on the Chinese aggressors. A popular fallacy exists that the Chinese have an unlimited supply of troops and that more hordes can swarm in when tens of thousands are killed. The truth is that the Chinese Communists have a very limited number of trained troops and that, if the battle continues as sanguinary in the next few months as it has in these recent weeks, the flower of the Red Chinese Army may be decimated. Then a counter-revolution in China would have a chance of success. It is estimated that Mao does not have more than 500,000 crack troops who could be spared in the north. The rate at which casualties are being encountered means that the Red Chinese cannot go on much longer against the type of warfare being waged against them. The enemy toll has been estimated as more than ten losses to our one.

The U.N. commanders are not seeking to gain ground but merely to kill as many of the enemy as possible and break up their formations. This tactic is succeeding. It is being asked where all this will lead. The answer is that in due time the Communist regime will have to withdraw and abjectly seek a "cease fire."

One reason for this will be the breakdown of the supply line. It is costing the Red Chinese not just manpower but a large amount of money to keep their armies equipped and supplied with ammunition and weapons. If the Russians are furnishing these munitions, then the Soviet Union is under a tremendous strain, too. So far as America is concerned, the Korean war, of course, is expensive. But if it teaches the Soviet-Chinese alliance that there is no intention to appease an aggressor and that the fighting will be continued indefinitely in the Far East until there is a chance for a respectable settlement, the operation as a whole will be more than worth while.

The Communists in Moscow will also be impressed by the bold decision in Washington to announce publicly the addition of four U. S. divisions to the two already in Europe. This should dispose of the controversy over the number of troops and the percentage. As Secretary Marshall himself explained, there should be no limitation written into the law because the situation is self-limiting. Thus if General Eisenhower at any time were to render a formal opinion to our government that six divisions could not be successfully maintained in Europe because these were not adequately supported by troops from our allies, the question could arise as to whether any divisions should remain. That would be the extreme of the case. But it gives General Eisenhower considerable leverage for negotiating with our allies.

Conversely, if the Europeans who are more concerned about their own defense than we are examine the meaning of America's contribution of six divisions, they will come to realize instantly that there must be a lot more supplied. To put it another way, America is in a better position to bring about the mobilization of a larger continental army derived from our allies now that announcement has been made concerning six divisions that would have been the case if the debate for the next several weeks had shifted back and forth on the basis of some hypothetical percentage or ratio.

Secretary Marshall really accomplished a ten-strike by announcing the exact number of divisions. For, while, as he says, this is telling the potential enemy something that perhaps for security reasons shouldn't be told, there is nevertheless a greater advantage in telling it than in trying to handle the problem any other way. The truth is that a force of six divisions can hardly furnish Russia with any real excuse to grow nervous, even though her propaganda may heap a lot of abuse on us for even so small a number as six. All in all, progress is being made toward an eventual solution of the troops controversy in Congress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Associated Press last summer was seriously accused by one of its client managing editors of slanting news against Senator Joe McCarthy in his campaign against the Communist treason. There was a loose debate and some of the A.P. editors vindicated the A.P., and, incidently, themselves, in a judgment which thus discredited itself. Solemn consideration was given to the opinion of one editor who had been accused by McCarthy of promoting a known Communist to an influential editorial position on his paper. I have been gathering and examining the facts of this situation and will report further as soon as I am able to.

Meanwhile, I call attention to a later A.P. dispatch, under a Washington dateline, which spoke of a "feud" between McCarthy and Drew Pearson, the propagandist, who has given sly service to the Communist line for years without detection or challenge until McCarthy, on the floor of the Senate, alleged that Pearson was in the power of his so-called legman David Katz, sometimes called Karr, who formerly wrote for the Communist Daily Worker in New York.

McCarthy firmly established from government records a basis for a charge that Katz, or Karr, had been a Communist. Howard Rushmore, a reformed Communist, formerly employed by the Worker, said Katz had been a familiar figure in the Worker office and said that only Communists were allowed to work there. There is no doubt whatever that this man was, for years, an employe of Pearson. He still is a close professional associate of Pearson.

To speak of Senator McCarthy's campaign against Pearson as a "feud" is to comment on the senator's work in a derogatory way. The A.P. has no right to comment on anything favorably or otherwise. Its function is to report news, expressing no opinion. The situation between McCarthy and Pearson is not a feud. McCarthy is performing a duty. Neither is the situation between Pearson and me a feud. I, too, am performing a duty. One may wage feud only with one's equals. McCarthy likened his engagement with Pearson to his boyhood task of routing skunks from under the hen-house. That was unpleasant work, but he was not conducting a feud with the skunks. In my case, I have patiently explained that when I discover some abomination on the heel of my shoe and take pains to remove it, I am not fighting a feud with the nuisance. There is an absence of that personal spite which is essential to a feud.

Pearson acquired, over a period of years, a strange, dangerous power to intimidate public men and to sway public opinion by means of deliberate, wanton lies, many of them plainly malicious. Although we have not worked together and did not even meet until he had been fighting the Communist treachery for a long time, McCarthy and I have worked toward the same purpose. That purpose, here, is to discredit Pearson so thoroughly by proof of his dishonesty that his power for evil will be broken. Thereafter, let whoever wants him pay him however much to broadcast his lies to advertise a laxative or a brand of

The Stayman Convention is known far and wide among expert players as a device for finding a major suit fit after the bidding has been opened with one no-trump. It can also be used to find a fit in a minor suit, as Sam Stayman proves with the hand shown today, taken from his new book, "Expert Bidding."

The hand came up in a team match, not long ago, and provoked much discussion. One team got to six no-trump and went down; the other team got to six diamonds, and made the slam.

The successful team used the Stayman Convention. South's bid of two clubs asked North to show a biddable major suit if he had one. North's rebid of two no-trump indicated that he had no major suit but did have just about as good a hand as it was possible for him to have for his opening bid of one no-trump. (With slightly less strength, North's rebid would have been two diamonds instead of two no-trump.)

This gave South more information than appears on the surface. North surely had four cards in some suit, and apparently did not have a four-card major. The chances were very good, therefore, that North had a four-card minor suit.

Hence South mentioned his diamonds before showing the full strength of his hand. When South later bid five no-trump, he asked North to choose his slam. North had kept silent about the diamond fit until then but could now afford to show it. Naturally South was very happy to accept North's decision to play the hand at six diamonds rather than at six no-trump.

The play was simplicity itself. South drew trumps, gave up one spade, and eventually ruffed his last spade in dummy.

At the other table, the North player got up to six no-trump without any mention of a suit. He had eleven tricks — but only eleven. The spades did not break 3-3, and his attempt at a squeeze failed.

The Stayman Convention therefore gained 1470 points on this hand — the difference between a successful slam at diamonds and a one-trick set at six no-trump.

Bad Pork News: Sows Are Sold

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—There may be bad news for consumers in livestock market reports that farmers are sending more sows to slaughter markets than a year ago.

It could mean, Agriculture Department officials said today, that pork production this year may not be as large as had been expected and hoped for.

The more sows farmers sell, the fewer will be left to produce pigs for the crop of hogs which will make up the pork supply next fall and winter.

Labor Members

as "unfair and unworkable" and it appeared that the Labor Policy Committee would endorse his stand.

If it did so and if it declined to suggest the names of substitute labor members for the wage board, speculation was that the entire setup would have to be revised. Without labor representation, unions might feel freer to strike up wage demands than if they had a direct hand in fixing policy.

It appeared possible the government would have to scrap the present three-part board, which is headed by Cyrus S. Ching, and substitute for it a panel of members all designated as representing the public.

That would take time and—because prices cannot effectively be controlled unless wages are too—might jeopardize the whole program.

The impact of the split-up was not made any the less severe by the fact that the wage board's policy is only a recommendation, which still must be approved by Stabilization Director Eric Johnston.

The formula is the result of discussions which have been in progress ever since the government on Jan. 26 froze wages and salaries at Jan. 25 levels.

As it emerged, it was something of a compromise. The industry members had suggested an eight per cent ceiling. Labor held out for 12. Ching and his public member colleagues had advanced nine as a way out, later went up to ten.

The ceiling would not interfere with any larger increases already in effect.

The figure would not include any so-called fringe benefits—pension plans, welfare funds and so on—granted before Johnson signed the order. Any negotiated later would have to be included.

On the question of prices, Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) officials said new regulations to be issued soon, but not for at least several days, would fix dollars and cents ceilings on most meats.

OPS yesterday issued a price rollback order which officials said would lower prices charged by many meat packers without affecting the housewife much, if at all.

pany. The company generally sets the industry wage pattern.

The union demands a 15-cent-an-hour increase. It says the average industry wage now is $1.42 an hour with the minimum $1.17.

Union President Emil Rieve said the American Woolen refused to make a "reasonable offer."

He quoted company officials as saying that price ceilings must be lifted before wages could be raised.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Continued activity and higher prices for gold shares today pulled the stock market a little higher.

The golds were up more than two dollars a share while the remainder of the market held its rise to around a dollar.

Losses were frequent throughout the list, but these were kept down to something like 50 to 75 cents at the outside.

McIntyre-Porcupine made the best gain followed by Homestake Mining, Dome Mines, and Alaska Juneau.

Also a little higher on the whole were steels, motors, merchandising issues, chemicals, and oils.

The market started with prices narrowly mixed, and only the gold group stood out. Gradually, however, there was scattered improvement which finally translated itself into a bulge on the up side.

McCrory Stores stood out with a better than average performance pricewise following reports that directors meeting yesterday had discussed a proposal to split the common stock two-for-one.

Crime Threat to U. S.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—Governor Dewey sees the nation's appalling amount of crime" as a threat to U. S. security. Proclaiming Feb. 18-24 "Crime Prevention Week" in New York state, Dewey said yesterday: "In the present emergency, the appalling amount of crime that prevails constitutes a threat not only to the lives, property and security of the individual, but also to the security of the nation."

Russian Contribution Cited . . .

was based on "sample" institute documents which he said he and McCarthy studied before a subpoena-armed agent of the judiciary subcommittee seized thousands of I.P.R. papers last week. The agent took the papers from a barn on a farm near Lee, Mass.

Mundt said the records he and McCarthy examined before the raid also indicated:

1. "A vast amount of correspondence between Russians and the IPR-Russians who apparently worked for the Soviet government."

2. "Many of the same characters who figured in the Amerasia magazine case of 1945 also were active in the IPR." That case involved alleged theft of hundreds of secret government papers. Mundt said he preferred not to mention any names regarding what he termed "The Amerasia link."

3. "There was plenty of correspondence between the IPR and Frederick Vanderbilt Field," wealthy New Yorker who refused last year to tell a Senate committee whether he ever was a Communist. The Senate cited him for contempt and he is now under indictment.

4. "There seemed to be a lot of correspondence between Lattimore and Jessup."

That was a reference to Owen Lattimore, Far Eastern affairs expert who once was editor of an IPR magazine, and Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, key advisor to Secretary of State Acheson and an IPR member.

McCarthy has charged that Lattimore was Russia's top spy in this country and that Jessup had "an unusual affinity" for Communist causes. Both men flatly denied the charges.

Gardiner Youth Killed at Tunnel

Alfred T. Manganaro, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Manganaro of Gardiner, was killed at 11:55 o'clock Thursday night in the Board of Water Supply tunnel near Grahamsville.

Just how the accident happened was not definitely determined and an investigation was being made today by Lieut. John J. Quinlan of the B.W.S. police force.

Young Manganaro was employed as a brakeman on a "muck car" used to haul debris from the tunnel. In some manner he was crushed between the cars and was dead when found some time after he had been missed by fellow workmen. The accident happened at Low's Corners on the Grahamsville tunnel job.

Funeral Monday

Funeral services will be held Monday at 9:15 a. m. from the Pine Funeral Home in New Paltz, thence to St. Charles Church in Gardiner where a Mass of requiem will be offered at 10 o'clock.

Burial will be in St. Charles Cemetery in Gardiner.

Born in Brooklyn, the son of Alfred and Angelina Sincotta Manganaro, he moved to Gardiner with his parents about four years ago. He attended New Paltz High School. His father is a retired New York city policeman.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Robert, of Gardiner.

Mobilization to Cut Force of Teachers

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—An average annual shortage of 1,100 upstate grade-school teachers for the next five years was predicted today by the state education department.

Associate Commissioner Caroll V. Newsom of the research division said the national mobilization program might make the shortage worse.

He recommended a six-point program to cope with the situation:

1. Expension of summer teacher training programs to accommodate 1,500 new students.

2. Accelerated programs to permit students in teacher training to complete four-year courses in three years.

3. Upstate use of "excess" graduates of New York city's municipal teacher training courses in the city colleges.

4. Promotional campaigns among high school students to interest them in teaching careers.

5. "Possible creation" of a placement service for teachers in the state education department. This, Newsom said, "might be especially useful in the case of teachers from other states who desire to teach in New York."

6. A review of existing training programs "in order that there may be more effective utilization of staffs."

Newsom estimated the shortage of upstate elementary teachers was 740 for the 1950-51 school year and would rise to 1,147 next year and 1,749 in the 1952-53 school year. The shortage for 1953-54 was forecast at 954 and for 1954-55 at 1,112.

Increases Recommended

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Annual salary increases ranging from $350 to $1,025 for New York city's public school teachers was recommended yesterday by a special fact finding committee. The committee, appointed last October to look into the teachers' salaries, responsibilities and duties, made its report to Maximilian Moss, president of the board of education. The proposed pay raises would require "greater taxes," the committee said, of from $32,000,000 to $34,000,000. The suggested wage increases would mean an average boost of $780, or 16.3 per cent above present wage levels—which range from $2,650 to $5,650 annually.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Frances Bartroff of 84 West Pierpont street died early this morning after a short illness. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Stephen D. Duncan and Mrs. William Zeidler; one son, Frank J. Bartroff, all of Kingston; two sisters, Mrs. Philip Kelly of Jersey City and Mrs. William O'Neil of this city; 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Her husband, Joseph Bartroff, died a number of years ago. Born in Kingston, Mrs. Bartroff resided here all her life and was the oldest resident on West Pierpont street. The Stayman Convention is known far and wide among expert players as a device for finding a major suit fit after the bidding has been opened with one no-trump. It can also be used to find a fit in a minor suit, as Sam Stayman proves with the hand shown today, taken from his new book, "Expert Bidding."

The hand came up in a team match, not long ago, and provoked much discussion. One team got to six no-trump and went down; the other team got to six diamonds, and made the slam.

The successful team used the Stayman Convention. South's bid of two clubs asked North to show a biddable major suit if he had one. North's rebid of two no-trump indicated that he had no major suit but did have just about as good a hand as it was possible for him to have for his opening bid of one no-trump. (With slightly less strength, North's rebid would have been two diamonds instead of two no-trump.)

This gave South more information than appears on the surface. North surely had four cards in some suit, and apparently did not have a four-card major. The chances were very good, therefore, that North had a four-card minor suit.

Hence South mentioned his diamonds before showing the full strength of his hand. When South later bid five no-trump, he asked North to choose his slam. North had kept silent about the diamond fit until then but could now afford to show it. Naturally South was very happy to accept North's decision to play the hand at six diamonds rather than at six no-trump.

The play was simplicity itself. South drew trumps, gave up one spade, and eventually ruffed his last spade in dummy.

At the other table, the North player got up to six no-trump without any mention of a suit. He had eleven tricks — but only eleven. The spades did not break 3-3, and his attempt at a squeeze failed.

The Stayman Convention therefore gained 1470 points on this hand — the difference between a successful slam at diamonds and a one-trick set at six no-trump.

Bad Pork News: Sows Are Sold

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—There may be bad news for consumers in livestock market reports that farmers are sending more sows to slaughter markets than a year ago.

It could mean, Agriculture Department officials said today, that pork production this year may not be as large as had been expected and hoped for.

The more sows farmers sell, the fewer will be left to produce pigs for the crop of hogs which will make up the pork supply next fall and winter.

Labor Members

as "unfair and unworkable" and it appeared that the Labor Policy Committee would endorse his stand.

If it did so and if it declined to suggest the names of substitute labor members for the wage board, speculation was that the entire setup would have to be revised. Without labor representation, unions might feel freer to strike up wage demands than if they had a direct hand in fixing policy.

It appeared possible the government would have to scrap the present three-part board, which is headed by Cyrus S. Ching, and substitute for it a panel of members all designated as representing the public.

That would take time and—because prices cannot effectively be controlled unless wages are too—might jeopardize the whole program.

The impact of the split-up was not made any the less severe by the fact that the wage board's policy is only a recommendation, which still must be approved by Stabilization Director Eric Johnston.

The formula is the result of discussions which have been in progress ever since the government on Jan. 26 froze wages and salaries at Jan. 25 levels.

As it emerged, it was something of a compromise. The industry members had suggested an eight per cent ceiling. Labor held out for 12. Ching and his public member colleagues had advanced nine as a way out, later went up to ten.

The ceiling would not interfere with any larger increases already in effect.

The figure would not include any so-called fringe benefits—pension plans, welfare funds and so on—granted before Johnson signed the order. Any negotiated later would have to be included.

On the question of prices, Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) officials said new regulations to be issued soon, but not for at least several days, would fix dollars and cents ceilings on most meats.

OPS yesterday issued a price rollback order which officials said would lower prices charged by many meat packers without affecting the housewife much, if at all.

pany. The company generally sets the industry wage pattern.

The union demands a 15-cent-an-hour increase. It says the average industry wage now is $1.42 an hour with the minimum $1.17.

Union President Emil Rieve said the American Woolen refused to make a "reasonable offer."

He quoted company officials as saying that price ceilings must be lifted before wages could be raised.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Continued activity and higher prices for gold shares today pulled the stock market a little higher.

The golds were up more than two dollars a share while the remainder of the market held its rise to around a dollar.

Losses were frequent throughout the list, but these were kept down to something like 50 to 75 cents at the outside.

McIntyre-Porcupine made the best gain followed by Homestake Mining, Dome Mines, and Alaska Juneau.

Also a little higher on the whole were steels, motors, merchandising issues, chemicals, and oils.

The market started with prices narrowly mixed, and only the gold group stood out. Gradually, however, there was scattered improvement which finally translated itself into a bulge on the up side.

McCrory Stores stood out with a better than average performance pricewise following reports that directors meeting yesterday had discussed a proposal to split the common stock two-for-one.

Crime Threat to U. S.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—Governor Dewey sees the nation's appalling amount of crime" as a threat to U. S. security. Proclaiming Feb. 18-24 "Crime Prevention Week" in New York state, Dewey said yesterday: "In the present emergency, the appalling amount of crime that prevails constitutes a threat not only to the lives, property and security of the individual, but also to the security of the nation."

Russian Contribution Cited . . .

was based on "sample" institute documents which he said he and McCarthy studied before a subpoena-armed agent of the judiciary subcommittee seized thousands of I.P.R. papers last week. The agent took the papers from a barn on a farm near Lee, Mass.

Mundt said the records he and McCarthy examined before the raid also indicated:

1. "A vast amount of correspondence between Russians and the IPR-Russians who apparently worked for the Soviet government."

2. "Many of the same characters who figured in the Amerasia magazine case of 1945 also were active in the IPR." That case involved alleged theft of hundreds of secret government papers. Mundt said he preferred not to mention any names regarding what he termed "The Amerasia link."

3. "There was plenty of correspondence between the IPR and Frederick Vanderbilt Field," wealthy New Yorker who refused last year to tell a Senate committee whether he ever was a Communist. The Senate cited him for contempt and he is now under indictment.

4. "There seemed to be a lot of correspondence between Lattimore and Jessup."

That was a reference to Owen Lattimore, Far Eastern affairs expert who once was editor of an IPR magazine, and Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, key advisor to Secretary of State Acheson and an IPR member.

McCarthy has charged that Lattimore was Russia's top spy in this country and that Jessup had "an unusual affinity" for Communist causes. Both men flatly denied the charges.

Gardiner Youth Killed at Tunnel

Alfred T. Manganaro, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Manganaro of Gardiner, was killed at 11:55 o'clock Thursday night in the Board of Water Supply tunnel near Grahamsville.

Just how the accident happened was not definitely determined and an investigation was being made today by Lieut. John J. Quinlan of the B.W.S. police force.

Young Manganaro was employed as a brakeman on a "muck car" used to haul debris from the tunnel. In some manner he was crushed between the cars and was dead when found some time after he had been missed by fellow workmen. The accident happened at Low's Corners on the Grahamsville tunnel job.

Funeral Monday

Funeral services will be held Monday at 9:15 a. m. from the Pine Funeral Home in New Paltz, thence to St. Charles Church in Gardiner where a Mass of requiem will be offered at 10 o'clock.

Burial will be in St. Charles Cemetery in Gardiner.

Born in Brooklyn, the son of Alfred and Angelina Sincotta Manganaro, he moved to Gardiner with his parents about four years ago. He attended New Paltz High School. His father is a retired New York city policeman.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Robert, of Gardiner.

Mobilization to Cut Force of Teachers

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—An average annual shortage of 1,100 upstate grade-school teachers for the next five years was predicted today by the state education department.

Associate Commissioner Caroll V. Newsom of the research division said the national mobilization program might make the shortage worse.

He recommended a six-point program to cope with the situation:

1. Expension of summer teacher training programs to accommodate 1,500 new students.

2. Accelerated programs to permit students in teacher training to complete four-year courses in three years.

3. Upstate use of "excess" graduates of New York city's municipal teacher training courses in the city colleges.

4. Promotional campaigns among high school students to interest them in teaching careers.

5. "Possible creation" of a placement service for teachers in the state education department. This, Newsom said, "might be especially useful in the case of teachers from other states who desire to teach in New York."

6. A review of existing training programs "in order that there may be more effective utilization of staffs."

Newsom estimated the shortage of upstate elementary teachers was 740 for the 1950-51 school year and would rise to 1,147 next year and 1,749 in the 1952-53 school year. The shortage for 1953-54 was forecast at 934 and for 1954-55 at 1,112.

Increases Recommended

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Annual salary increases ranging from $350 to $1,025 for New York city's public school teachers was recommended yesterday by a special fact finding committee. The committee, appointed last October to look into the teachers' salaries, responsibilities and duties, made its report to Maximilian Moss, president of the board of education. The proposed pay raises would require "greater taxes," the committee said, of from $32,000,000 to $34,000,000. The suggested wage increases would mean an average boost of $780, or 16.3 per cent above present wage levels—which range from $2,650 to $5,650 annually.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Frances Bartroff of 84 West Pierpont street died early this morning after a short illness. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Stephen D. Duncan and Mrs. William Zeidler; one son, Frank J. Bartroff, all of Kingston; two sisters, Mrs. Philip Kelly of Jersey City and Mrs. William O'Neil of this city; 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Her husband, Joseph Bartroff, died a number of years ago. Born in Kingston, Mrs. Bartroff resided here all her life and was the oldest resident on West Pierpont street. The Stayman Convention is known far and wide among expert players as a device for finding a major suit fit after the bidding has been opened with one no-trump. It can also be used to find a fit in a minor suit, as Sam Stayman proves with the hand shown today, taken from his new book, "Expert Bidding."

The hand came up in a team match, not long ago, and provoked much discussion. One team got to six no-trump and went down; the other team got to six diamonds, and made the slam.

The successful team used the Stayman Convention. South's bid of two clubs asked North to show a biddable major suit if he had one. North's rebid of two no-trump indicated that he had no major suit but did have just about as good a hand as it was possible for him to have for his opening bid of one no-trump. (With slightly less strength, North's rebid would have been two diamonds instead of two no-trump.)

This gave South more information than appears on the surface. North surely had four cards in some suit, and apparently did not have a four-card major. The chances were very good, therefore, that North had a four-card minor suit.

Hence South mentioned his diamonds before showing the full strength of his hand. When South later bid five no-trump, he asked North to choose his slam. North had kept silent about the diamond fit until then but could now afford to show it. Naturally South was very happy to accept North's decision to play the hand at six diamonds rather than at six no-trump.

The play was simplicity itself. South drew trumps, gave up one spade, and eventually ruffed his last spade in dummy.

At the other table, the North player got up to six no-trump without any mention of a suit. He had eleven tricks — but only eleven. The spades did not break 3-3, and his attempt at a squeeze failed.

The Stayman Convention therefore gained 1470 points on this hand — the difference between a successful slam at diamonds and a one-trick set at six no-trump.

Bad Pork News: Sows Are Sold

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—There may be bad news for consumers in livestock market reports that farmers are sending more sows to slaughter markets than a year ago.

It could mean, Agriculture Department officials said today, that pork production this year may not be as large as had been expected and hoped for.

The more sows farmers sell, the fewer will be left to produce pigs for the crop of hogs which will make up the pork supply next fall and winter.

Labor Members

as "unfair and unworkable" and it appeared that the Labor Policy Committee would endorse his stand.

If it did so and if it declined to suggest the names of substitute labor members for the wage board, speculation was that the entire setup would have to be revised. Without labor representation, unions might feel freer to strike up wage demands than if they had a direct hand in fixing policy.

It appeared possible the government would have to scrap the present three-part board, which is headed by Cyrus S. Ching, and substitute for it a panel of members all designated as representing the public.

That would take time and—because prices cannot effectively be controlled unless wages are too—might jeopardize the whole program.

The impact of the split-up was not made any the less severe by the fact that the wage board's policy is only a recommendation, which still must be approved by Stabilization Director Eric Johnston.

The formula is the result of discussions which have been in progress ever since the government on Jan. 26 froze wages and salaries at Jan. 25 levels.

As it emerged, it was something of a compromise. The industry members had suggested an eight per cent ceiling. Labor held out for 12. Ching and his public member colleagues had advanced nine as a way out, later went up to ten.

The ceiling would not interfere with any larger increases already in effect.

The figure would not include any so-called fringe benefits—pension plans, welfare funds and so on—granted before Johnson signed the order. Any negotiated later would have to be included.

On the question of prices, Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) officials said new regulations to be issued soon, but not for at least several days, would fix dollars and cents ceilings on most meats.

OPS yesterday issued a price rollback order which officials said would lower prices charged by many meat packers without affecting the housewife much, if at all.

pany. The company generally sets the industry wage pattern.

The union demands a 15-cent-an-hour increase. It says the average industry wage now is $1.42 an hour with the minimum $1.17.

Union President Emil Rieve said the American Woolen refused to make a "reasonable offer."

He quoted company officials as saying that price ceilings must be lifted before wages could be raised.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Continued activity and higher prices for gold shares today pulled the stock market a little higher.

The golds were up more than two dollars a share while the remainder of the market held its rise to around a dollar.

Losses were frequent throughout the list, but these were kept down to something like 50 to 75 cents at the outside.

McIntyre-Porcupine made the best gain followed by Homestake Mining, Dome Mines, and Alaska Juneau.

Also a little higher on the whole were steels, motors, merchandising issues, chemicals, and oils.

The market started with prices narrowly mixed, and only the gold group stood out. Gradually, however, there was scattered improvement which finally translated itself into a bulge on the up side.

McCrory Stores stood out with a better than average performance pricewise following reports that directors meeting yesterday had discussed a proposal to split the common stock two-for-one.

Crime Threat to U. S.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—Governor Dewey sees the nation's appalling amount of crime" as a threat to U. S. security. Proclaiming Feb. 18-24 "Crime Prevention Week" in New York state, Dewey said yesterday: "In the present emergency, the appalling amount of crime that prevails constitutes a threat not only to the lives, property and security of the individual, but also to the security of the nation."

Russian Contribution Cited . . .

was based on "sample" institute documents which he said he and McCarthy studied before a subpoena-armed agent of the judiciary subcommittee seized thousands of I.P.R. papers last week. The agent took the papers from a barn on a farm near Lee, Mass.

Mundt said the records he and McCarthy examined before the raid also indicated:

1. "A vast amount of correspondence between Russians and the IPR-Russians who apparently worked for the Soviet government."

2. "Many of the same characters who figured in the Amerasia magazine case of 1945 also were active in the IPR." That case involved alleged theft of hundreds of secret government papers. Mundt said he preferred not to mention any names regarding what he termed "The Amerasia link."

3. "There was plenty of correspondence between the IPR and Frederick Vanderbilt Field," wealthy New Yorker who refused last year to tell a Senate committee whether he ever was a Communist. The Senate cited him for contempt and he is now under indictment.

4. "There seemed to be a lot of correspondence between Lattimore and Jessup."

That was a reference to Owen Lattimore, Far Eastern affairs expert who once was editor of an IPR magazine, and Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, key advisor to Secretary of State Acheson and an IPR member.

McCarthy has charged that Lattimore was Russia's top spy in this country and that Jessup had "an unusual affinity" for Communist causes. Both men flatly denied the charges.

Youth Service News Features Kerhonkson

Kerhonkson village is featured in the current issue of "Youth Service News," a publication of the New York State Youth Commission which has wide circulation among youth organizations, social worker organizations of the state. The item tells of the Youth Center of the village which is housed in a building made available through the activities of a Veterans group which purchased the building which became available when two churches united.

The item tells of the appearance some time ago of a group of residents who appeared on the "Strike It Rich" quiz program in New York and took back $400 for work in the Center. Hy Banks, a veteran, suggested the trip to New York to raise money for the work. The contestants were accompanied by a bus load of supporters. Contestants on the program were Irving Gilman, Don Griffo and Al Brockbank.

Pleas Are Entered

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Peace Information Center and four of its officers pleaded innocent today to an indictment charging failure to register as a foreign agent. Their trial was set for April 2 by Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts. The Peace Center, which has headquarters in New York, has been the chief sponsor in this country for the so-called "Stockholm Peace Petition," described by the government as Communist-inspired.

Gardiner Youth Killed at Tunnel

Alfred T. Manganaro, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Manganaro of Gardiner, was killed at 11:55 o'clock Thursday night in the Board of Water Supply tunnel near Grahamsville.

Just how the accident happened was not definitely determined and an investigation was being made today by Lieut. John J. Quinlan of the B.W.S. police force.

Young Manganaro was employed as a brakeman on a "muck car" used to haul debris from the tunnel. In some manner he was crushed between the cars and was dead when found some time after he had been missed by fellow workmen. The accident happened at Low's Corners on the Grahamsville tunnel job.

Funeral Monday

Funeral services will be held Monday at 9:15 a. m. from the Pine Funeral Home in New Paltz, thence to St. Charles Church in Gardiner where a Mass of requiem will be offered at 10 o'clock.

Burial will be in St. Charles Cemetery in Gardiner.

Born in Brooklyn, the son of Alfred and Angelina Sincotta Manganaro, he moved to Gardiner with his parents about four years ago. He attended New Paltz High School. His father is a retired New York city policeman.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Robert, of Gardiner.

Mobilization to Cut Force of Teachers

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—An average annual shortage of 1,100 upstate grade-school teachers for the next five years was predicted today by the state education department.

Associate Commissioner Caroll V. Newsom of the research division said the national mobilization program might make the shortage worse.

He recommended a six-point program to cope with the situation:

1. Expension of summer teacher training programs to accommodate 1,500 new students.

2. Accelerated programs to permit students in teacher training to complete four-year courses in three years.

3. Upstate use of "excess" graduates of New York city's municipal teacher training courses in the city colleges.

4. Promotional campaigns among high school students to interest them in teaching careers.

5. "Possible creation" of a placement service for teachers in the state education department. This, Newsom said, "might be especially useful in the case of teachers from other states who desire to teach in New York."

6. A review of existing training programs "in order that there may be more effective utilization of staffs."

Newsom estimated the shortage of upstate elementary teachers was 740 for the 1950-51 school year and would rise to 1,147 next year and 1,749 in the 1952-53 school year. The shortage for 1953-54 was forecast at 954 and for 1954-55 at 1,112.

Increases Recommended

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Annual salary increases ranging from $350 to $1,025 for New York city's public school teachers was recommended yesterday by a special fact finding committee. The committee, appointed last October to look into the teachers' salaries, responsibilities and duties, made its report to Maximilian Moss, president of the board of education. The proposed pay raises would require "greater taxes," the committee said, of from $32,000,000 to $34,000,000. The suggested wage increases would mean an average boost of $780, or 16.3 per cent above present wage levels—which range from $2,650 to $5,650 annually.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Frances Bartroff of 84 West Pierpont street died early this morning after a short illness. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Stephen D. Duncan and Mrs. William Zeidler; one son, Frank J. Bartroff, all of Kingston; two sisters, Mrs. Philip Kelly of Jersey City and Mrs. William O'Neil of this city; 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Pantry Poetry

If items get scarce,
As some experts claim,
The hoarders will have
Only their shelves to blame.

Gold Digger—A woman who falls in love at purse-sight.

A man had to make up his mind which of two girls he ought marry. One was a movie queen and the other was as homely as a Ubangi but my! how she could cook. He decided to marry the cook. The morning after the wedding he woke up and looked into the puss of his sleeping bride. That was enough. He shook her and cried:

Man—Cook something—Quick!

Junior—Daddy, what's a sweaterer girl?

Dad—Why, er-uh, a girl who works in a sweater factory. (And after a moment's pause) Say where did you get that question?

Junior—Where did you get that answer?

Real "Square Meal"

In the 1790's dinners in New England were called "square meals" because most of the food was prepared in square tins.

Joan (romantically) — I think the poets are right, George. It's only in the great open spaces that we find ourselves.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16—During the past year, Uncle Sam spent huge sums of money for many things of doubtful value. Yet, there was one particular government project, undertaken in 1950, which will prove its worth—namely, the federal census.

Complete breakdowns of last year's decennial census are not yet available. However, figures for the states and for most of the country's larger cities have already been released. They are very significant. Those who own their own business, interests in other businesses, or make their living by selling can save time and money by studying these census figures. They give you, free of cost, elaborate surveys on quotas, routes, territories and other sales problems.

When all 1950 census figures are released, they will tell much on local merchandising conditions and opportunities throughout the nation. However, compiling census figures is a big job and it will probably be many months before all details are published. Meanwhile, readers should watch for the preliminary summaries as they are released each month.

Population Increases

On April 1, 1950, our population was 152,340,000. Since then there have been 3,704,000 births and 1,461,000 deaths and a net emigration of 10,000. This gives us about double the annual gain of ten years ago. Those states possessing the advantage of a mild climate show the greatest population increases. California is up 51.6 per cent from the 1940 level and is followed closely by Texas, Arizona and Florida. This increase of population is not coming from "playboys," but from good substantial northern people who are retiring from work on pensions. They make excellent citizens for any community.

Undoubtedly, the national trend is toward greater increases in leisure time. Firms engaged in the production of recreation equipment will more than hold their own in the years to come. Not only in the above states but elsewhere throughout the nation.

Stopped Growing

Nearly half of the states—twenty-two to be exact—show population increases below the national average in the ten-year period from 1940 to 1950. Five states register actual population losses for the period. Many of these twenty-seven states were sparsely populated anyway and their poor showing in this census is due in part to the fact that proportionately the number of men they sent into the armed forces during the Second World War was high.

The gains in population shown by the far western states reflect clearly the wartime migration to the West coast to fill jobs in the huge defense establishments out there. California has the double advantage of mild climate and plenty of jobs for everyone.

The Rural States

Many cannot understand why I continue to call attention to the "Magic Circle," comprising the states of Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, as being "the richest' in time of peace and the safest in time of war." They point out that three of these states—Arkansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma—actually lost population during the past ten years, while the other three enjoyed only nominal increases, which in each case were far below the national average. The reason for this apparent contradiction is that these six states have few large cities. Too many people foolishly continue to want to live in a large city.

Numbers do not necessarily represent true progress. The first consideration should be economic opportunity. I maintain that more economic opportunity exists in the more sparsely settled states. Readers should not forget that food experts, economists, and leaders in the conservation field consider the rural states the hope of North America in the years ahead. Recent events have made it clear that our Communist enemies will try to destroy not only our position as a leading power but our very existence as a nation. It is not at all improbabe that the large cities of the nation may someday be begging the rural sections for life and protection.

Bequests Disburse Huge Green Estate

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—The bulk of the late Hetty Green's fabulous multi-million dollar fortune is leaving her immediate family through the will of her daughter, Mrs. H. Sylvia Ann Howland Green Wilks.

Mrs. Wilks, last child of the eccentric Mrs. Green, died Feb. 5. Her will was dated July 27, 1948.

The will, filed for probate yesterday, named 63 churches, institutions and charities as beneficiaries and left $1,388,000 in personal bequests.

She also left various sums to twelve of her employes.

Mrs. Wilks at one time was estimated to be worth about $125,000,000—most of it inherited from her mother and the late Col. Edward H. R. Green, a brother.

Mrs. Wilks' will gave no indication of the size of her estate, except to specify that it was more than a million dollars.

Mrs. Green died in 1916. She built up the family fortune with shrewd investments in real estate and securities.

Dominated Daughter

A woman of iron will, Mrs. Green dominated her daughter, who was reared in her mother's austere, withdrawn pattern of life.

Mrs. Wilks' husband died in 1926. He was a great-grandson of the first John Jacob Astor.

New York city's park commissioner, Robert Moses, was among those named for personal bequests by Mrs. Wilks—receiving $10,000 "in appreciation of his work in creating public parkways."

Her will provided that the following share $1,000,000 equally:

Leonard B. Almy of (Route 1) Keystone, Okla.; Edith H. Bailey of (89 Beacon street) Hyde Park, Mass.; Lina Eppendorff of (287 Mill street) Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Sylvia H. Geib of (Route 2) Buffalo, Mo.; Warren Haskell of (275 Terrace avenue) Riverside, R. I.; Elsie H. Leicester of (2175 California street) San Francisco; Heman A. Loomis of (114 Troup street) Rochester, N. Y.

Anne Barney Sharp of (117 Sutton Manor road) New Rochelle, N. Y.; Josephine Grinnell Smith of (Pleasant Mill road) Elwood, N. J.; and Robert I. Walker of (286 Union street) New Bedford, Mass.

13 Get $25,000 Each

Mrs. Wilks named 13 persons in New York city, Canada, and England for bequests of $25,000. The same sum was left to Ethel Robinson Graeme of (3122 "O" street) Washington, D. C.

A bequest of $10,000 was made to William M. Emery of (415 County street) New Bedford, Mass., and one of $12,000 to Bert Hill, also of (Round Hill Farms) New Bedford. A cousin, Emilie Keene Elmendorf Colles, of (89 North Broadway) White Plains, N. Y., was left $5,000.

After the individual bequests, the will divided the rest of the estate into 140 shares for distribution in varying amounts to institutions. The will did not make apparent the value of these bequests.

Columbia, Harvard and Yale Universities, Vassar College and St. James Church of Hyde Park, N. Y., were among the institutions named.

As Pegler Sees It

hats or shirts. His personal financial fortunes are of no concern.

I do insist, however, that it is a duty of American journalism to destroy this menace which the press created by editorial negligence or worse. Pearson has been notorious in the profession for many years. Only a very naive editor could truthfully say he did not know Pearson's reputation.

One editor frankly said in print that he ran Pearson because the copy was cheap. As to whether the propaganda served this or that "line" or client of Pearson's favor or abused some victim of his spite, this editor was indifferent.

The man who wrote the A.P.'s reference to a non-existent feud between McCarthy and Pearson, and the man who passed that expression along on busy wires, may have been innocent. Yet one does not put an unreasonable burden on the A.P. in pointing out that nevertheless this inappropriate word tended to ridicule McCarthy and to minimize his important work and scoff away the charges against Pearson. If this were a feud, as the A.P. suggested, the public might dismiss the whole affair as a trifling jam between individuals. If, on the other hand, Pearson has plugged the Communist line in his columns and broadcasts, then McCarthy deserves fair, serious treatment. The A.P. lives on a reputation for impartial, objective treatment of news and I readily admit that it has justified that reputation in most of its work over many years.

Is Pegler being sanctimonious in this? That charge can hardly lie, for I am quite willing to be driven out of my profession if anyone can sustain against me such a record of mendacity and covert propaganda for the vantages of Communists as lies against the professional record of Drew Pearson's.

Building Is Destroyed

Binghamton, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—A gas-fed fire destroyed a downtown business building last night as hundreds of shoppers looked on. The flames swept a shoe store and a fur shop. Smoke and water damaged shops in four other buildings. Nineteen fire companies, some from nearby communities, battled the blaze for more than four hours. Two firemen suffered slight injuries. Cause of the fire was undetermined. Damage to two stores was estimated at $35,000. No official estimate of total damage was available.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16—During the past year, Uncle Sam spent huge sums of money for many things of doubtful value. Yet, there was one particular government project, undertaken in 1950, which will prove its worth—namely, the federal census.

Complete breakdowns of last year's decennial census are not yet available. However, figures for the states and for most of the country's larger cities have already been released. They are very significant. Those who own their own business, interests in other businesses, or make their living by selling can save time and money by studying these census figures. They give you, free of cost, elaborate surveys on quotas, routes, territories and other sales problems.

When all 1950 census figures are released, they will tell much on local merchandising conditions and opportunities throughout the nation. However, compiling census figures is a big job and it will probably be many months before all details are published. Meanwhile, readers should watch for the preliminary summaries as they are released each month.

Population Increases

On April 1, 1950, our population was 152,340,000. Since then there have been 3,704,000 births and 1,461,000 deaths and a net emigration of 10,000. This gives us about double the annual gain of ten years ago. Those states possessing the advantage of a mild climate show the greatest population increases. California is up 51.6 per cent from the 1940 level and is followed closely by Texas, Arizona and Florida. This increase of population is not coming from "playboys," but from good substantial northern people who are retiring from work on pensions. They make excellent citizens for any community.

Undoubtedly, the national trend is toward greater increases in leisure time. Firms engaged in the production of recreation equipment will more than hold their own in the years to come. Not only in the above states but elsewhere throughout the nation.

Stopped Growing

Nearly half of the states—twenty-two to be exact—show population increases below the national average in the ten-year period from 1940 to 1950. Five states register actual population losses for the period. Many of these twenty-seven states were sparsely populated anyway and their poor showing in this census is due in part to the fact that proportionately the number of men they sent into the armed forces during the Second World War was high.

The gains in population shown by the far western states reflect clearly the wartime migration to the West coast to fill jobs in the huge defense establishments out there. California has the double advantage of mild climate and plenty of jobs for everyone.

The Rural States

Many cannot understand why I continue to call attention to the "Magic Circle," comprising the states of Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, as being "the richest" in time of peace and the safest in time of war." They point out that three of these states—Arkansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma—actually lost population during the past ten years, while the other three enjoyed only nominal increases, which in each case were far below the national average. The reason for this apparent contradiction is that these six states have few large cities. Too many people foolishly continue to want to live in a large city.

Numbers do not necessarily represent true progress. The first consideration should be economic opportunity. I maintain that more economic opportunity exists in the more sparsley settled states. Readers should not forget that food experts, economists, and leaders in the conservation field consider the rural states the hope of North America in the years ahead. Recent events have made it clear that our Communist enemies will try to destroy not only our position as a leading power but our very existence as a nation. It is not at all improbabe that the large cities of the nation may someday be begging the rural sections for life and protection.

Bequests Disburse Huge Green Estate

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—The bulk of the late Hetty Green's fabulous multi-million dollar fortune is leaving her immediate family through the will of her daughter, Mrs. H. Sylvia Ann Howland Green Wilks.

Mrs. Wilks, last child of the eccentric Mrs. Green, died Feb. 5. Her will was dated July 27, 1948.

The will, filed for probate yesterday, named 63 churches, institutions and charities as beneficiaries and left $1,388,000 in personal bequests.

She also left various sums to twelve of her employes.

Mrs. Wilks at one time was estimated to be worth about $125,000,000—most of it inherited from her mother and the late Col. Edward H. R. Green, a brother.

Mrs. Wilks' will gave no indication of the size of her estate, except to specify that it was more than a million dollars.

Mrs. Green died in 1916. She built up the family fortune with shrewd investments in real estate and securities.

Dominated Daughter

A woman of iron will, Mrs. Green dominated her daughter, who was reared in her mother's austere, withdrawn pattern of life.

Mrs. Wilks' husband died in 1926. He was a great-grandson of the first John Jacob Astor.

New York city's park commissioner, Robert Moses, was among those named for personal bequests by Mrs. Wilks—receiving $10,000 "in appreciation of his work in creating public parkways."

Her will provided that the following share $1,000,000 equally:

Leonard B. Almy of (Route 1) Keystone, Okla.; Edith H. Bailey of (89 Beacon street) Hyde Park, Mass.; Lina Eppendorff of (287 Mill street) Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Sylvia H. Geib of (Route 2) Buffalo, Mo.; Warren Haskell of (275 Terrace avenue) Riverside, R. I.; Elsie H. Leicester of (2175 California street) San Francisco; Heman A. Loomis of (114 Troup street) Rochester, N. Y.

Anne Barney Sharp of (117 Sutton Manor road) New Rochelle, N. Y.; Josephine Grinnell Smith of (Pleasant Mill road) Elwood, N. J.; and Robert I. Walker of (286 Union street) New Bedford, Mass.

13 Get $25,000 Each

Mrs. Wilks named 13 persons in New York city, Canada, and England for bequests of $25,000. The same sum was left to Ethel Robinson Graeme of (3122 "O" street) Washington, D. C.

A bequest of $10,000 was made to William M. Emery of (415 County street) New Bedford, Mass., and one of $12,000 to Bert Hill, also of (Round Hill Farms) New Bedford. A cousin, Emilie Keene Elmendorf Colles, of (89 North Broadway) White Plains, N. Y., was left $5,000.

After the individual bequests, the will divided the rest of the estate into 140 shares for distribution in varying amounts to institutions. The will did not make apparent the value of these bequests.

Columbia, Harvard and Yale Universities, Vassar College and St. James Church of Hyde Park, N. Y., were among the institutions named.

As Pegler Sees It

hats or shirts. His personal financial fortunes are of no concern.

I do insist, however, that it is a duty of American journalism to destroy this menace which the press created by editorial negligence or worse. Pearson has been notorious in the profession for many years. Only a very naive editor could truthfully say he did not know Pearson's reputation.

One editor frankly said in print that he ran Pearson because the copy was cheap. As to whether the propaganda served this or that "line" or client of Pearson's favor or abused some victim of his spite, this editor was indifferent.

The man who wrote the A.P.'s reference to a non-existent feud between McCarthy and Pearson, and the man who passed that expression along on busy wires, may have been innocent. Yet one does not put an unreasonable burden on the A.P. in pointing out that nevertheless this inappropriate word tended to ridicule McCarthy and to minimize his important work and scoff away the charges against Pearson. If this were a feud, as the A.P. suggested, the public might dismiss the whole affair as a trifling jam between individuals. If, on the other hand, Pearson has plugged the Communist line in his columns and broadcasts, then McCarthy deserves fair, serious treatment. The A.P. lives on a reputation for impartial, objective treatment of news and I readily admit that it has justified that reputation in most of its work over many years.

Is Pegler being sanctimonious in this? That charge can hardly lie, for I am quite willing to be driven out of my profession if anyone can sustain against me such a record of mendacity and covert propaganda for the vantages of Communists as lies against the professional record of Drew Pearson's.

Building Is Destroyed

Binghamton, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—A gas-fed fire destroyed a downtown business building last night as hundreds of shoppers looked on. The flames swept a shoe store and a fur shop. Smoke and water damaged shops in four other buildings. Nineteen fire companies, some from nearby communities, battled the blaze for more than four hours. Two firemen suffered slight injuries. Cause of the fire was undetermined. Damage to two stores was estimated at $35,000. No official estimate of total damage was available.

Is Graduated—at 91

Leominster, Mass., Feb. 16 (AP)—Miss Hannah Johns finally became a high school graduate—at 91 years of ago. A Salvation Army worker for a quarter of a century, she decided two years ago to complete her high school education and had attended classes since. Last night she marched proudly with the Leominster evening high school graduating class and received her diploma. Her teacher, Mrs. Katherine Perry, said Miss Johns' only sign of age is that she is "a mite deaf."

Gibney, Korean War Correspondent, Will Address Dinner Club

FRANK GIBNEY

A red-haired, 29-year-old correspondent, one of the first to cover the Korean War, will speak next Tuesday at the Kingston National Dinner Club meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel, it was announced today.

A year ago this same correspondent, Frank Gibney, was Tokyo bureau chief of "Time," "Life" and "Fortune." Today he holds the dubious distinction of being the first United States correspondent to be a casualty in the Korean War. Wounded while crossing a bridge over the Han river during the evacuation of Seoul, after what he calls "a quick patching up," Gibney returned to make another eight-round trip flights into Korea.

Tuesday night in his "Report From Korea" the Yale graduate, who is one of the youngest men to have held the responsible position of bureau chief, will attempt to answer several burning questions as to what is going on in Korea, what is likely to be the final outcome, how deeply have we become involved.

Amazed Yale Dean

Gibney first attracted attention when he was still a student at Fordham Preparatory School, by winning some oratory contests. Later, one of the last Greek majors to be graduated from Yale in recent years, he both amazed and dumbfounded the dean by finishing the four-year college course in a record breaking one and a half years. Known today as an accomplished linguist, he not only speaks French and German, but also Japanese, which he learned at the U. S. Navy Japanese Language School, Boulder, Col. during World War 2.

Knows Orient Well

Fortunately Gibney's knowledge of the Orient is not limited to the Korean War's basically dramatic episodes. He spent 18 months in the Pacific during World War 2 interrogating Japanese prisoners of war. With Hawaii as his base, he went on to Peliliu with the Marines, and to Okinawa with the Army. Luck was with him, and he survived both heavy casualty operations.

Following the Japanese surrender he was sent to Japan, first as a navy liason officer with the 25th Army Division, and later as aide and flag lieutenant to Vice-Admiral Robert Griffin, U.S.N., who commanded the U. S. Navy forces in Japan.

As a journalist Gibney has served with the New York bureau of the United Press, and with the Time, Inc. bureaus in New York and London. He was with "Time" in Paris for seven months, and was sent on special assignments to Switzerland, Holland, and various parts of France.

Far Eastern Experience

In the Far East, in addition to covering Japan, Gibney visited the Philippines, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Borneo, and Malaya.

During the Korean conflict he was one of the first correspondents to hit the beach at Wolmido Island at the outset on the Inchon invasion, and stayed on to report the victorious re-entrance of the United Nations troops into Seoul.

From the vantage point of knowing Korea well in the days before the present war, he is reported as believing that the United States policy of intervention in June redeemed the nation's prestige in Asia and has provided groundwork for future successful statesmanship there.

Rosary Society Has Monthly Meeting

St. Mary's Rosary Society held a well attended monthly meeting Monday night, Feb. 12, in the school hall. Much was accomplished during the business meeting, it was reported, by the group's various committees.

Mrs. John O'Rourke, chairman, announced the society's cake and apron sale will be held March 18, while the rummage sale has been scheduled for the first week in May. Those with articles of clothing to contribute are asked to contact Mrs. Peter Golgoski, chairman.

The Rev. John Flaherty, moderator, then addressed the group, and spoke of a movie, "The Holy Shroud," which will be given March 5 in the school hall by the Rev. Adam Otterbein, C. Ss. R. All parishioners, and their friends, are invited to attend.

Saturday Broadcast To Deal With P.-T.A.

"P-T.A. Foundation and Frontiers" will be broadcast over local networks on "Public Affairs of N.B.C." Saturday from 12:15 to 12:30 p. m., Mrs. Everett Schutt, district radio and television chairman of Newburgh, and formerly of this city, announced today.

Speakers on the broadcast will be Mrs. John Hayes, national president; Mrs. L. W. Hughes, national founders state chairman; and Mrs. Harold C. Hunt, second vice president, and superintendent of the Chicago public schools.

Wed Here Sunday

Mrs. Michael C. Pugliese, the former Ada Marie Perry, who was wed Sunday, Feb. 11, in St. Mary's Church. Mr. and Mrs. Pugliese are now on their wedding trip in Florida. (Pennington Photo)

Miss Ada Perry Is Wed in St. Mary's To Michael Pugliese of East Kingston

Miss Ada Marie Perry, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Perry and the late Santo Perry, was married Sunday, Feb. 11 at 2 p. m. to Michael C. Pugliese of East Kingston. The groom is the son of Charles Pugliese of East Kingston, and the late Mrs. Pugliese. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury performed the double ring ceremony in St. Mary's Church, this city.

Theodore Riccobono, organist, played traditional wedding selections and Miss Patricia Keefe, soloist, sang Gounod's "Ave Maria." The church was decorated with white gladioli.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Ernest Perry wore an ivory satin gown with imported French applique lace cut in a dropped Bertha neckline. Lace appliques were scattered throughout the gown and into the train. She wore a three-quarter length imported French silk illusion veil with a hand rolled scalloped edge. Her veil was attached to a satin bonnet trimmed with orange blossoms and she carried a spray of calla lilies.

Miss Mary Perry, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was dressed in an off-shoulder satin gown, cut with a bouffant skirt, and a flange trimmed with crystal beads. She wore a large illusion and satin hat to match and carried a boquet of imported wheat trimmed with gold maline and satin ribbon.

The bride's other attendants included Miss Agnes Perry, niece of the bride; Miss Frances Perry, cousin of he bride, and Miss Marie Pugliese, sister of the groom. They were dressed in identical satin gowns cut with bolero jackets and fitted bodices trimmed with crystal beading and full skirts. They wore matching satin hats and carried sprays of matching leaves.

Miss Agnes Perry was dressed in a mink color, Miss Frances Perry in shrimp pink and Miss Pugliese in emerald green.

Thomas Eigo of East Kingston was best man. Ushers were Ralph Guido of East Kingston, Vincent Perry of 172 Delaware avenue, cousin of the bride, and Thomas Mayone, Glasco.

A reception for 400 guests followed at The Barn.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

PROBLEM OF GOOD LOOKS

A vexed (and perplexed) wife asks: "What can I do about a too-good-looking husband whom women swarm around as bees around a hive. It's always the same: the wives of our best friends, neighbors, strangers. He's had a series of secretaries too who have had the 'Boss Bug' so that he had to get rid of them! He seems devoted enough to me and his family although I must say that the adulation has made him self-centered and selfish and I think he imagines everyone appreciates him except his family. I don't know why I'm writing this way to you because I guess there's nothing you can say to me about it."

My only advice is not to let him see anything other than delight at the admiration which he receives! Whatever you do don't let them outdo you in appreciation of him!

Children at Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: We've received several wedding invitations lately from family friends and relatives, which excluded even our half-grown children. I think they would be the most thrilled of all at seeing their cousins married and that it is very unfair of people not to ask them! I'd like your opinion.

Answer: Usually very little children are excluded, but it certainly would hurt the older ones to be left out at the wedding of any near relatives unless they understand that the reception is to be a sit-down breakfast to which the number has to be strictly limited.

Gift to Bridegroom

Dear Mrs. Post: I'd like to give the bridegroom, for whom I am to be best man, an expensive piece of luggage which I know he'd like especialy for his wedding trip. But if I buy this for him there will be nothing left to buy a wedding present for the bride. What about it?

Answer: Since you are obviously the bridegroom's best friend, the bride will surely understand that no slight to her is intended in your giving him a piece of such real utility.

What are the essential requirements for a bride's hope chest and personal trousseau? Mrs. Post's leaflet E-5 includes a list of essential needs which can be enlarged as circumstances permit. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

NEW WHISPER-WEIGHT WOOL

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York — (NEA) — The all-season suit in lightweight wool is a highlight of spring's fashions. This practical suit may be made of domestic wool or it may be British wool. American designers are cutting both.

The advantages of whisper-weight 100 per cent virgin wool fabric are readily seen. It makes a suit do a full-time, rather than a seasonal, job in a wardrobe. It's protection against the whimsical ups-and-downs of the mercury reading. It drapes beautifully.

Designer Philip Mangone uses such wool for a town suit (left) in darkest navy blue lighted by touches of white in a polka-dot scarf-neckline and cuffs. The collar is rolled, cuffs are flared and hipline is arched. This suit has a slim-lined skirt with easy-to-wear lines.

Maurice Rentner cuts polka-dotted British wool into an all-season suit (right) with trim lines. He uses a small, detachable linen collar at the neckline, nips in the waist with a narrow leather belt, and marches buttons straight down the front of the jacket. The skirt is slim and simple.

Miss Grace Georgia Nicholas, High Falls, Is the Bride of Eugene Curtis Terwilliger

High Falls, Feb. 16—Miss Grace Georgia Nicholas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alwin L. Nicholas of High Falls, became the bride of Eugene Curtis Terwilliger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Terwilliger of High Falls, Saturday. The double ring ceremony was performed at 1:30 p. m. in St. John's Episcopal Church, High Falls, by the Venerable Archdeacon George F. Bratt of Poughkeepsie, archdeacon of the New York Diacese.

Miss Dorothy Schneider of Rosendale, organist, played traditional bridal selections. The church was decorated with white snapdragons, and the pews were marked with white bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lace over satin gown, en train, with a fingertip veil fastened to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas.

Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Alan Hudson of High Falls, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Vandemark of Brooklyn. Mrs. Hudson wore a gown of Nile green nylon marquisette, with a matching picture hat, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Vandemark was dressed in orchid nylon marquisette, and carried orchid and blue iris and sweet peas. Both attendants wore long mitts.

Robert Terwilliger of Rosendale, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Alan Hudson of High Falls, brother-in-law of the bride, and George Dymond of Stone Ridge.

A wedding reception for 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Terwilliger planned a wedding trip to New York. The bride wore a suit of brown chiffon velvet for traveling, with a white rose corsage. The couple will make their home in High Falls.

The bride attended the High Falls school, and is a graduate of Kingston High School. She is employed at the Ulster Knife Co., Ellenville.

The groom is a graduate of Kingston High School, and the High Falls School, and is also an employe at the Ulster Knife Co.

Gibney, Korean War Correspondent, Will Address Dinner Club

FRANK GIBNEY

A red-haired, 29-year-old correspondent, one of the first to cover the Korean War, will speak next Tuesday at the Kingston National Dinner Club meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel, it was announced today.

A year ago this same correspondent, Frank Gibney, was Tokyo bureau chief of "Time," "Life" and "Fortune." Today he holds the dubious distinction of being the first United States correspondent to be a casualty in the Korean War. Wounded while crossing a bridge over the Han river during the evacuation of Seoul, after what he calls "a quick patching up," Gibney returned to make another eight-round trip flights into Korea.

Tuesday night in his "Report From Korea" the Yale graduate, who is one of the youngest men to have held the responsible position of bureau chief, will attempt to answer several burning questions as to what is going on in Korea, what is likely to be the final outcome, how deeply have we become involved.

Amazed Yale Dean

Gibney first attracted attention when he was still a student at Fordham Preparatory School, by winning some oratory contests. Later, one of the last Greek majors to be graduated from Yale in recent years, he both amazed and dumbfounded the dean by finishing the four-year college course in a record breaking one and a half years. Known today as an accomplished linguist, he not only speaks French and German, but also Japanese, which he learned at the U. S. Navy Japanese Language School, Boulder, Col. during World War 2.

Knows Orient Well

Fortunately Gibney's knowledge of the Orient is not limited to the Korean War's basically dramatic episodes. He spent 16 months in the Pacific during World War 2 interrogating Japanese prisoners of war. With Hawaii as his base, he went on to Peliliu with the Marines, and to Okinawa with the Army. Luck was with him, and he survived both heavy casualty operations.

Following the Japanese surrender he was sent to Japan, first as a navy liason officer with the 25th Army Division, and later as aide and flag lieutenant to Vice-Admiral Robert Griffin, U.S.N., who commanded the U. S. Navy forces in Japan.

As a journalist Gibney has served with the New York bureau of the United Press, and with the Time, Inc. bureaus in New York and London. He was with "Time" in Paris for seven months, and was sent on special assignments to Switzerland, Holland, and various parts of France.

Far Eastern Experience

In the Far East, in addition to covering Japan, Gibney visited the Philippines, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Borneo, and Malaya.

During the Korean conflict he was one of the first correspondents to hit the beach at Wolmido Island at the outset on the Inchon invasion, and stayed on to report the victorious re-entrance of the United Nations troops into Seoul.

From the vantage point of knowing Korea well in the days before the present war, he is reported as believing that the United States policy of intervention in June redeemed the nation's prestige in Asia and has provided groundwork for future successful statesmanship there.

Rosary Society Has Monthly Meeting

St. Mary's Rosary Society held a well attended monthly meeting Monday night, Feb. 12, in the school hall. Much was accomplished during the business meeting, it was reported, by the group's various committees.

Mrs. John O'Rourke, chairman, announced the society's cake and apron sale will be held March 18, while the rummage sale has been scheduled for the first week in May. Those with articles of clothing to contribute are asked to contact Mrs. Peter Golgoski, chairman.

The Rev. John Flaherty, moderator, then addressed the group, and spoke of a movie, "The Holy Shroud," which will be given March 5 in the school hall by the Rev. Adam Otterbein, C. Ss. R. All parishioners, and their friends, are invited to attend.

Saturday Broadcast To Deal With P.-T.A.

"P-T.A. Foundation and Frontiers" will be broadcast over local networks on "Public Affairs of N.B.C." Saturday from 12:15 to 12:30 p. m., Mrs. Everett Schutt, district radio and television chairman of Newburgh, and formerly of this city, announced today.

Speakers on the broadcast will be Mrs. John Hayes, national president; Mrs. L. W. Hughes, national founders state chairman; and Mrs. Harold C. Hunt, second vice president, and superintendent of the Chicago public schools.

Wed Here Sunday

Mrs. Michael C. Pugliese, the former Ada Marie Perry, who was wed Sunday, Feb. 11, in St. Mary's Church. Mr. and Mrs. Pugliese are now on their wedding trip in Florida. (Pennington Photo)

Miss Ada Perry Is Wed in St. Mary's To Michael Pugliese of East Kingston

Miss Ada Marie Perry, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Perry and the late Santo Perry, was married Sunday, Feb. 11 at 2 p. m. to Michael C. Pugliese of East Kingston. The groom is the son of Charles Pugliese of East Kingston, and the late Mrs. Pugliese. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury performed the double ring ceremony in St. Mary's Church, this city.

Theodore Riccobono, organist, played traditional wedding selections and Miss Patricia Keefe, soloist, sang Gounod's "Ave Maria." The church was decorated with white gladioli.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Ernest Perry wore an ivory satin gown with imported French applique lace cut in a dropped Bertha neckline. Lace appliques were scattered throughout the gown and into the train. She wore a three-quarter length imported French silk illusion veil with a hand rolled scalloped edge. Her veil was attached to a satin bonnet trimmed with orange blossoms and she carried a spray of calla lilies.

Miss Mary Perry, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was dressed in an off-shoulder satin gown, cut with a bouffant skirt, and a flange trimmed with crystal beads. She wore a large illusion and satin hat to match and carried a boquet of imported wheat trimmed with gold maline and satin ribbon.

The bride's other attendants included Miss Agnes Perry, niece of the bride; Miss Frances Perry, cousin of he bride, and Miss Marie Pugliese, sister of the groom. They were dressed in identical satin gowns cut with bolero jackets and fitted bodices trimmed with crystal beading and full skirts. They wore matching satin hats and carried sprays of matching leaves.

Miss Agnes Perry was dressed in a mink color, Miss Frances Perry in shrimp pink and Miss Pugliese in emerald green.

Thomas Eigo of East Kingston was best man. Ushers were Ralph Guido of East Kingston, Vincent Perry of 172 Delaware avenue, cousin of the bride, and Thomas Mayone, Glasco.

A reception for 400 guests followed at The Barn.

PROBLEM OF GOOD LOOKS

A vexed (and perplexed) wife asks: "What can I do about a too-good-looking husband whom women swarm around as bees around a hive. It's always the same: the wives of our best friends, neighbors, strangers. He's had a series of secretaries too who have had the 'Boss Bug' so that he had to get rid of them! He seems devoted enough to me and his family although I must say that the adulation has made him self-centered and selfish and I think he imagines everyone appreciates him except his family. I don't know why I'm writing this way to you because I guess there's nothing you can say to me about it."

My only advice is not to let him see anything other than delight at the admiration which he receives! Whatever you do don't let them outdo you in appreciation of him!

Children at Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: We've received several wedding invitations lately from family friends and relatives, which excluded even our half-grown children. I think they would be the most thrilled of all at seeing their cousins married and that it is very unfair of people not to ask them! I'd like your opinion.

Answer: Usually very little children are excluded, but it certainly would hurt the older ones to be left out at the wedding of any near relatives unless they understand that the reception is to be a sit-down breakfast to which the number has to be strictly limited.

Gift to Bridegroom

Dear Mrs. Post: I'd like to give the bridegroom, for whom I am to be best man, an expensive piece of luggage which I know he'd like especialy for his wedding trip. But if I buy this for him there will be nothing left to buy a wedding present for the bride. What about it?

Answer: Since you are obviously the bridegroom's best friend, the bride will surely understand that no slight to her is intended in your giving him a piece of such real utility.

NEW WHISPER-WEIGHT WOOL

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York — (NEA) — The all-season suit in lightweight wool is a highlight of spring's fashions. This practical suit may be made of domestic wool or it may be British wool. American designers are cutting both.

The advantages of whisper-weight 100 per cent virgin wool fabric are readily seen. It makes a suit do a full-time, rather than a seasonal, job in a wardrobe. It's protection against the whimsical ups-and-downs of the mercury reading. It drapes beautifully.

Designer Philip Mangone uses such wool for a town suit (left) in darkest navy blue lighted by touches of white in a polka-dot scarf-neckline and cuffs. The collar is rolled, cuffs are flared and hipline is arched. This suit has a slim-lined skirt with easy-to-wear lines.

Maurice Rentner cuts polka-dotted British wool into an all-season suit (right) with trim lines. He uses a small, detachable linen collar at the neckline, nips in the waist with a narrow leather belt, and marches buttons straight down the front of the jacket. The skirt is slim and simple.

Miss Grace Georgia Nicholas, High Falls, Is the Bride of Eugene Curtis Terwilliger

High Falls, Feb. 16—Miss Grace Georgia Nicholas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alwin L. Nicholas of High Falls, became the bride of Eugene Curtis Terwilliger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Terwilliger of High Falls, Saturday. The double ring ceremony was performed at 1:30 p. m. in St. John's Episcopal Church, High Falls, by the Venerable Archdeacon George F. Bratt of Poughkeepsie, archdeacon of the New York Diacese.

Miss Dorothy Schneider of Rosendale, organist, played traditional bridal selections. The church was decorated with white snapdragons, and the pews were marked with white bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lace over satin gown, en train, with a fingertip veil fastened to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas.

Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Alan Hudson of High Falls, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Vandemark of Brooklyn. Mrs. Hudson wore a gown of Nile green nylon marquisette, with a matching picture hat, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Vandemark was dressed in orchid nylon marquisette, and carried orchid and blue iris and sweet peas. Both attendants wore long mitts.

Robert Terwilliger of Rosendale, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Alan Hudson of High Falls, brother-in-law of the bride, and George Dymond of Stone Ridge.

A wedding reception for 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Terwilliger planned a wedding trip to New York. The bride wore a suit of brown chiffon velvet for traveling, with a white rose corsage. The couple will make their home in High Falls.

The bride attended the High Falls school, and is a graduate of Kingston High School. She is employed at the Ulster Knife Co., Ellenville.

The groom is a graduate of Kingston High School, and the High Falls School, and is also an employe at the Ulster Knife Co.

NEW WHISPER-WEIGHT WOOL

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York — (NEA) — The all-season suit in lightweight wool is a highlight of spring's fashions. This practical suit may be made of domestic wool or it may be British wool. American designers are cutting both.

The advantages of whisper-weight 100 per cent virgin wool fabric are readily seen. It makes a suit do a full-time, rather than a seasonal, job in a wardrobe. It's protection against the whimsical ups-and-downs of the mercury reading. It drapes beautifully.

Designer Philip Mangone uses such wool for a town suit (left) in darkest navy blue lighted by touches of white in a polka-dot scarf-neckline and cuffs. The collar is rolled, cuffs are flared and hipline is arched. This suit has a slim-lined skirt with easy-to-wear lines.

Maurice Rentner cuts polka-dotted British wool into an all-season suit (right) with trim lines. He uses a small, detachable linen collar at the neckline, nips in the waist with a narrow leather belt, and marches buttons straight down the front of the jacket. The skirt is slim and simple.

Miss Grace Georgia Nicholas, High Falls, Is the Bride of Eugene Curtis Terwilliger

High Falls, Feb. 16—Miss Grace Georgia Nicholas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alwin L. Nicholas of High Falls, became the bride of Eugene Curtis Terwilliger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Terwilliger of High Falls, Saturday. The double ring ceremony was performed at 1:30 p. m. in St. John's Episcopal Church, High Falls, by the Venerable Archdeacon George F. Bratt of Poughkeepsie, archdeacon of the New York Diacese.

Miss Dorothy Schneider of Rosendale, organist, played traditional bridal selections. The church was decorated with white snapdragons, and the pews were marked with white bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lace over satin gown, en train, with a fingertip veil fastened to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas.

Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Alan Hudson of High Falls, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Vandemark of Brooklyn. Mrs. Hudson wore a gown of Nile green nylon marquisette, with a matching picture hat, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Vandemark was dressed in orchid nylon marquisette, and carried orchid and blue iris and sweet peas. Both attendants wore long mitts.

Robert Terwilliger of Rosendale, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Alan Hudson of High Falls, brother-in-law of the bride, and George Dymond of Stone Ridge.

A wedding reception for 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Terwilliger planned a wedding trip to New York. The bride wore a suit of brown chiffon velvet for traveling, with a white rose corsage. The couple will make their home in High Falls.

The bride attended the High Falls school, and is a graduate of Kingston High School. She is employed at the Ulster Knife Co., Ellenville.

The groom is a graduate of Kingston High School, and the High Falls School, and is also an employe at the Ulster Knife Co.

Labor Government Sticks in Britain

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—By a surprising 21-vote majority, the British Labor government last night defeated the eighth Conservative attempt in a year to drive it from office.

The parliamentary test came in an attack on the $13,160,000,000 three-year rearmament plan.

In the 308 to 287 vote, Labor kept its ranks solid despite an earlier threat by left wing socialists to bolt on the armed issue. Six Liberals also voted with the government majority.

The vote was on a motion of censure introduced by Conservative leader Winston Churchill, who scathingly described Labor's rearmament efforts as inept and incompetent.

On the last four censure motions brought by the Conservative opposition, the Liberal bloc voted against the government. This time they said displays of party differences increased the danger of war.

The left-wing Laborites, who had urged a go-slow policy on rearmament for fear of enraging the Russians and increasing world tensions, decided to stick with the party rather than force a general election that might put the Conservatives into power.

Passage of the opposition motion would have forced Prime Minister Attlee's government to resign. Labor has hung to office by a narrow majority since it was continued in power a year ago.

Says Allies Have Right To Cross 38th Parallel

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Truman says Allied troops in Korea still have the same United Nations authority to cross the 38th Parallel that they exercised in driving over it last year.

Any future incursion beyond that line, he told his news conference yesterday, is a matter of military strategy and as such is in the hands of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Mr. Truman added that there also were political aspects involved in such a crossing but he didn't care to comment on those now. He expressed his views on the controversial point in response to reporters' questions.

The British have been trying to keep the Korean fighting as limited as possible and are reported opposed to crossing the 38th.

Southern Borders Closed

Hong Kong, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Chinese Reds virtually closed their southern borders yesterday with the announced aim of preventing of Nationalist spies. The no entry ban even affected Hong Kong Chinese who held travel permits and identity cards from recognized Communist controlled firms here.

Says Work Above Average

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Work of journalism school graduates has been above the average in the publishing, advertising and radio fields—according to a survey among newspapermen and college professors. The survey report, released last night by the American Council on Education for Journalism, is based on the records of graduates from 39 council-approved journalism schools. "The finding contradicts the time-worn theory still held in some newspaper offices that the fundamentals of newspaper work cannot be learned in college," said Council President Alfred H. Kirchhofer.

No Tulip King

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—The queen will reign without a king at Albany's tulip festival the week of May 12. The festival committee decided "it wouldn't be fair to select a king with so many boys in service or facing service."

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

I am only sorry that I cannot show all the readers the collection of old newspapers loaned me by Charles O'Connor, dating from the "Rising Sun" of 1795. Right before me I have "The Ulster Democrat" printed in Kingston, on October 14, 1851, just 100 years ago. It is readable, although the print is small. There are six columns on the front page. No headline news. There is a long poem, called "The Parting of Summer" by Mrs. Hemans. The front page otherwise is entirely taken up by a story called "The Orphan Boy's Prayer" by Sylvanus Cobb, Jr. I would say the paper is made from rags instead of wood pulp as it is easy to handle, like a soft handerchief.

In the editorial section there is an article stating "Opening to Albany of the Hudson River Railroad." In its entire length from New York to Albany. Hithierto the portion of the road between Poughkeepsie and Tivoli (26 miles) was not in operation, and the passengers were conveyed in a steamboat between the two points. Last week the road was completed, and the cars ran over it privately. Yesterday it was publicly opened by the running of two exercusion trains each way, and returning. The through started at 7 o'clock a. m. from Chamber street, leaving 31st street, at 7:30 stopping at Peekskill at 8:30 at Poughkeepsie, at 9:30 Rhinebeck at 9:55, Hudson at 10:40, and arriving at E. Albany at 11:25, being four hours and 25 minutes from Chambers street. Two similar trains started from the Albany terminus at the same hours, making the same stops with nearly equal time."

They further stated in the Oct. 14, 1851 "Ulster Democrat," "When the new portion of the road...especially as much of it as runs over the river on piles and embankments settles down and becomes firm, the distance will be accomplished in still less time than was performed yesterday. One portion of the line extends for four miles over water, in a single stretch. The entire length of the road, from Chambers street to Albany is 143 miles. As a general feature, it may be observed that the work is constructed along the eastern bank of the river, five feet above high tides. The whole number of curves is 279. The shortest curve is at Peekskill, which is of 1,000 feet radius. The rock excavation is immense, a very large portion of the road being hewn out of the solid rock, along the water's edge, besides the following tunnels: Oscowana, or Peg's Island, 225 feet, Abbott's Point, (bridge tunnel) 100 ft. Flat Rock 70 ft. Anthony's Nose, 400 ft. Garrison's at Phillip's Hill, 900 ft. Breakneck Hill, 400 ft. New Hamburgh, 1,400 ft. and Milton Ferry, 100 ft."

These details should interest many folks who have gone to Albany or New York on this road for this information is like you say "From the horse's mouth" written by those in the know at the time of construction. The total amount of rock cutting was nearly two million cubic feet. On the Highland division above Fishkill, to Peekskill a distance of 16 miles, over 425,000 cubic yards of rock was excavated. The whole cost of this railroad was 9 million dollars. And it's still as good as it was then, 100 years ago, but now the trains are streamlined and go much faster.

Heart Stops Second Time

Indianapolis, Feb. 16 (AP)—Two-year-old Cleair Mitchell's heart stopped last night for the second time, and the last. The little girl was taken to the general hospital Wednesday for an emergency appendectomy. Near the end of the operation her heart stopped. The surgeon made an incision in her chest and massaged her heart until a faint beat was restored. The operation was completed, and she appeared to be recovering. But her heart and brain had suffered too much from lack of oxygen. She died last night.

Truman Can't Hurry Tax Action Planners

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Tax-writing lawmakers appeared unimpressed today by President Truman's assertion that they may be contributing to inflation by delaying action on his tax plans.

Commenting on the President's remark at his news conference yesterday, Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the House Ways and Means Committee declared:

"I can't help what he said. Our committee was unanimous in its decision that we should have full hearings before we attempt to write a new tax bill."

Doughton added he wasn't aware that the administration had been very eager to brake the inflationary trend by applying wage-price controls.

The committee's decision to hold a full investigation of possible tax revenues before acting apparently blocked the two-phase tax program suggested by Mr. Truman and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder. They proposed a $10,000,000,000 "quickie" increase now, with another boost of at least $6,500,000,000 later this year.

Labor Government Sticks in Britain

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—By a surprising 21-vote majority, the British Labor government last night defeated the eighth Conservative attempt in a year to drive it from office.

The parliamentary test came in an attack on the $13,160,000,000 three-year rearmament plan.

In the 308 to 287 vote, Labor kept its ranks solid despite an earlier threat by left wing socialists to bolt on the armed issue. Six Liberals also voted with the government majority.

The vote was on a motion of censure introduced by Conservative leader Winston Churchill, who scathingly described Labor's rearmament efforts as inept and incompetent.

On the last four censure motions brought by the Conservative opposition, the Liberal bloc voted against the government. This time they said displays of party differences increased the danger of war.

The left-wing Laborites, who had urged a go-slow policy on rearmament for fear of enraging the Russians and increasing world tensions, decided to stick with the party rather than force a general election that might put the Conservatives into power.

Passage of the opposition motion would have forced Prime Minister Attlee's government to resign. Labor has hung to office by a narrow majority since it was continued in power a year ago.

Says Allies Have Right To Cross 38th Parallel

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Truman says Allied troops in Korea still have the same United Nations authority to cross the 38th Parallel that they exercised in driving over it last year.

Any future incursion beyond that line, he told his news conference yesterday, is a matter of military strategy and as such is in the hands of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Mr. Truman added that there also were political aspects involved in such a crossing but he didn't care to comment on those now. He expressed his views on the controversial point in response to reporters' questions.

The British have been trying to keep the Korean fighting as limited as possible and are reported opposed to crossing the 38th.

Southern Borders Closed

Hong Kong, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Chinese Reds virtually closed their southern borders yesterday with the announced aim of preventing of Nationalist spies. The no entry ban even affected Hong Kong Chinese who held travel permits and identity cards from recognized Communist controlled firms here.

Says Work Above Average

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Work of journalism school graduates has been above the average in the publishing, advertising and radio fields—according to a survey among newspapermen and college professors. The survey report, released last night by the American Council on Education for Journalism, is based on the records of graduates from 39 council-approved journalism schools. "The finding contradicts the time-worn theory still held in some newspaper offices that the fundamentals of newspaper work cannot be learned in college," said Council President Alfred H. Kirchhofer.

No Tulip King

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—The queen will reign without a king at Albany's tulip festival the week of May 12. The festival committee decided "it wouldn't be fair to select a king with so many boys in service or facing service."

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

I am only sorry that I cannot show all the readers the collection of old newspapers loaned me by Charles O'Connor, dating from the "Rising Sun" of 1795. Right before me I have "The Ulster Democrat" printed in Kingston, on October 14, 1851, just 100 years ago. It is readable, although the print is small. There are six columns on the front page. No headline news. There is a long poem, called "The Parting of Summer" by Mrs. Hemans. The front page otherwise is entirely taken up by a story called "The Orphan Boy's Prayer" by Sylvanus Cobb, Jr. I would say the paper is made from rags instead of wood pulp as it is easy to handle, like a soft handerchief.

In the editorial section there is an article stating "Opening to Albany of the Hudson River Railroad." In its entire length from New York to Albany. Hitherto the portion of the road between Poughkeepsie and Tivoli (26 miles) was not in operation, and the passengers were conveyed in a steamboat between the two points. Last week the road was completed, and the cars ran over it privately. Yesterday it was publicly opened by the running of two exercusion trains each way, and returning. The through started at 7 o'clock a. m. from Chamber street, leaving 31st street, at 7:30 stopping at Peekskill at 8:30 at Poughkeepsie, at 9:30 Rhinebeck at 9:55, Hudson at 10:40, and arriving at E. Albany at 11:25, being four hours and 25 minutes from Chambers street. Two similar trains started from the Albany terminus at the same hours, making the same stops with nearly equal time."

They further stated in the Oct. 14, 1851 "Ulster Democrat," "When the new portion of the road...especially as much of it as runs over the river on piles and embankments settles down and becomes firm, the distance will be accomplished in still less time than was performed yesterday. One portion of the line extends for four miles over water, in a single stretch. The entire length of the road, from Chambers street to Albany is 143 miles. As a general feature, it may be observed that the work is constructed along the eastern bank of the river, five feet above high tides. The whole number of curves is 279. The shortest curve is at Peekskill, which is of 1,000 feet radius. The rock excavation is immense, a very large portion of the road being hewn out of the solid rock, along the water's edge, besides the following tunnels: Oscowana, or Peg's Island, 225 feet. Abbott's Point, (bridge tunnel) 100 ft. Flat Rock 70 ft. Anthony's Nose. 400 ft. Garrison's at Phillip's Hill, 900 ft. Breakneck Hill, 400 ft. New Hamburgh, 1,400 ft. and Milton Ferry, 100 ft."

These details should interest many folks who have gone to Albany or New York on this road for this information is like you say "From the horse's mouth" written by those in the know at the time of construction. The total amount of rock cutting was nearly two million cubic feet. On the Highland division above Fishkill, to Peekskill a distance of 16 miles, over 425,000 cubic yards of rock was excavated. The whole cost of this railroad was 9 million dollars. And it's still as good as it was then, 100 years ago, but now the trains are streamlined and go much faster.

Heart Stops Second Time

Indianapolis, Feb. 16 (AP)—Two-year-old Cleair Mitchell's heart stopped last night for the second time, and the last. The little girl was taken to the general hospital Wednesday for an emergency appendectomy. Near the end of the operation her heart stopped. The surgeon made an incision in her chest and massaged her heart until a faint beat was restored. The operation was completed, and she appeared to be recovering. But her heart and brain had suffered too much from lack of oxygen. She died last night.

Truman Can't Hurry Tax Action Planners

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Tax-writing lawmakers appeared unimpressed today by President Truman's assertion that they may be contributing to inflation by delaying action on his tax plans.

Commenting on the President's remark at his news conference yesterday, Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the House Ways and Means Committee declared:

"I can't help what he said. Our committee was unanimous in its decision that we should have full hearings before we attempt to write a new tax bill."

Doughton added he wasn't aware that the administration had been very eager to brake the inflationary trend by applying wage-price controls.

The committee's decision to hold a full investigation of possible tax revenues before acting apparently blocked the two-phase tax program suggested by Mr. Truman and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder. They proposed a $10,000,000,000 "quickie" increase now, with another boost of at least $6,500,000,000 later this year.

Labor Government Sticks in Britain

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—By a surprising 21-vote majority, the British Labor government last night defeated the eighth Conservative attempt in a year to drive it from office.

The parliamentary test came in an attack on the $13,160,000,000 three-year rearmament plan.

In the 308 to 287 vote, Labor kept its ranks solid despite an earlier threat by left wing socialists to bolt on the armed issue. Six Liberals also voted with the government majority.

The vote was on a motion of censure introduced by Conservative leader Winston Churchill, who scathingly described Labor's rearmament efforts as inept and incompetent.

On the last four censure motions brought by the Conservative opposition, the Liberal bloc voted against the government. This time they said displays of party differences increased the danger of war.

The left-wing Laborites, who had urged a go-slow policy on rearmament for fear of enraging the Russians and increasing world tensions, decided to stick with the party rather than force a general election that might put the Conservatives into power.

Passage of the opposition motion would have forced Prime Minister Attlee's government to resign. Labor has hung to office by a narrow majority since it was continued in power a year ago.

Says Allies Have Right To Cross 38th Parallel

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Truman says Allied troops in Korea still have the same United Nations authority to cross the 38th Parallel that they exercised in driving over it last year.

Any future incursion beyond that line, he told his news conference yesterday, is a matter of military strategy and as such is in the hands of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Mr. Truman added that there also were political aspects involved in such a crossing but he didn't care to comment on those now. He expressed his views on the controversial point in response to reporters' questions.

The British have been trying to keep the Korean fighting as limited as possible and are reported opposed to crossing the 38th.

Southern Borders Closed

Hong Kong, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Chinese Reds virtually closed their southern borders yesterday with the announced aim of preventing of Nationalist spies. The no entry ban even affected Hong Kong Chinese who held travel permits and identity cards from recognized Communist controlled firms here.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

I am only sorry that I cannot show all the readers the collection of old newspapers loaned me by Charles O'Connor, dating from the "Rising Sun" of 1795. Right before me I have "The Ulster Democrat" printed in Kingston, on October 14, 1851, just 100 years ago. It is readable, although the print is small. There are six columns on the front page. No headline news. There is a long poem, called "The Parting of Summer" by Mrs. Hemans. The front page otherwise is entirely taken up by a story called "The Orphan Boy's Prayer" by Sylvanus Cobb, Jr. I would say the paper is made from rags instead of wood pulp as it is easy to handle, like a soft handerchief.

In the editorial section there is an article stating "Opening to Albany of the Hudson River Railroad." In its entire length from New York to Albany. Hitherto the portion of the road between Poughkeepsie and Tivoli (26 miles) was not in operation, and the passengers were conveyed in a steamboat between the two points. Last week the road was completed, and the cars ran over it privately. Yesterday it was publicly opened by the running of two exercusion trains each way, and returning. The through started at 7 o'clock a. m. from Chamber street, leaving 31st street, at 7:30 stopping at Peekskill at 8:30 at Poughkeepsie, at 9:30 Rhinebeck at 9:55, Hudson at 10:40, and arriving at E. Albany at 11:25, being four hours and 25 minutes from Chambers street. Two similar trains started from the Albany terminus at the same hours, making the same stops with nearly equal time."

They further stated in the Oct. 14, 1851 "Ulster Democrat," "When the new portion of the road...especially as much of it as runs over the river on piles and embankments settles down and becomes firm, the distance will be accomplished in still less time than was performed yesterday. One portion of the line extends for four miles over water, in a single stretch. The entire length of the road, from Chambers street to Albany is 143 miles. As a general feature, it may be observed that the work is constructed along the eastern bank of the river, five feet above high tides. The whole number of curves is 279. The shortest curve is at Peekskill, which is of 1,000 feet radius. The rock excavation is immense, a very large portion of the road being hewn out of the solid rock, along the water's edge, besides the following tunnels: Oscowana, or Peg's Island, 225 feet. Abbott's Point, (bridge tunnel) 100 ft. Flat Rock 70 ft. Anthony's Nose, 400 ft. Garrison's at Phillip's Hill, 900 ft. Breakneck Hill, 400 ft. New Hamburgh, 1,400 ft. and Milton Ferry, 100 ft."

These details should interest many folks who have gone to Albany or New York on this road for this information is like you say "From the horse's mouth" written by those in the know at the time of construction. The total amount of rock cutting was nearly two million cubic feet. On the Highland division above Fishkill, to Peekskill a distance of 16 miles, over 425,000 cubic yards of rock was excavated. The whole cost of this railroad was 9 million dollars. And it's still as good as it was then, 100 years ago, but now the trains are streamlined and go much faster.

Says Work Above Average

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Work of journalism school graduates has been above the average in the publishing, advertising and radio fields—according to a survey among newspapermen and college professors. The survey report, released last night by the American Council on Education for Journalism, is based on the records of graduates from 39 council-approved journalism schools. "The finding contradicts the time-worn theory still held in some newspaper offices that the fundamentals of newspaper work cannot be learned in college," said Council President Alfred H. Kirchhofer.

No Tulip King

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—The queen will reign without a king at Albany's tulip festival the week of May 12. The festivatl committee decided "it wouldn't be fair to select a king with so many boys in service or facing service."

Truman Can't Hurry Tax Action Planners

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Tax-writing lawmakers appeared unimpressed today by President Truman's assertion that they may be contributing to inflation by delaying action on his tax plans.

Commenting on the President's remark at his news conference yesterday, Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the House Ways and Means Committee declared:

"I can't help what he said. Our committee was unanimous in its decision that we should have full hearings before we attempt to write a new tax bill."

Doughton added he wasn't aware that the administration had been very eager to brake the inflationary trend by applying wage-price controls.

The committee's decision to hold a full investigation of possible tax revenues before acting apparently blocked the two-phase tax program suggested by Mr. Truman and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder. They proposed a $10,000,000,000 "quickie" increase now, with another boost of at least $6,500,000,000 later this year.

Heart Stops Second Time

Indianapolis, Feb. 16 (AP)—Two-year-old Cleair Mitchell's heart stopped last night for the second time, and the last. The little girl was taken to the general hospital Wednesday for an emergency appendectomy. Near the end of the operation her heart stopped. The surgeon made an incision in her chest and massaged her heart until a faint beat was restored. The operation was completed, and she appeared to be recovering. But her heart and brain had suffered too much from lack of oxygen. She died last night.

Yankee Cagers Beat Valley Stars, 61-58

Small Crowd Sees Game at Auditorium

Fred Davi's first professional basketball promotion was an artistic success but a financial flop-eroo, as the Yankee Five edged the Hudson Valley Stars, 61-58, before approximately 300 fans last night at the municipal auditorium.

Those who did turn out to greet the major league baseball and professional football stars were treated to a delightful throwback to the Piltdown age of basketball.

Coach Wes Westrum's area cagers got off to a fast start, running up eight straight points before the visitors could find the range and led 20-13 at the quarter.

The superior height and rebounding strength of the Yankees exacted its toll in the second half. The Yankees moved ahead for the first time in the closing seconds of the third period, 48-47.

Clark Mains' one-hander knotted the count at 51-51 midway in the fourth quarter but Bob Cole's driving layup put the visitors ahead to stay.

Sub Scores 19

The Yankees's big star was the unheralded John Drake, a New York Giant football substitute, wno poured 19 points through the hoop and murdered the Stars under the boards.

Drake and two other subs—Cole and Fitzgerald—accounted for half of the Yankee total.

Monte Irvin and Hank Thompson, the Negro stars of the New York baseball Giants, looked extremely uncomfortable in basketball uniforms and were used primarily for window dressing. Both grinned through their chores, however, as though they were having the time of their life.

Allie Clark, the Cleveland Indian outfielder, and Babe Sharkey, giant lineman of the football Yankees, each had 11 points and played a respectable floor game. The fifth starter Emil Tunnel, great defensive back of the football Giants, contributed four points.

Kleine Tops Locals

Big Bill Kleine, who led the Stars with 16 points, started with a rash of baskets for the losers, racking up 10 points in the first period. Clark Mains emerged with a dozen points most of them in crucial sports during the second half.

Wes Westrum, who arrived late, played about five minutes and failed to score. Davi's outside importations, "Boo" Schafer of Saugerties had 8 points, Tom Polack of Haverstraw hit for five and Tom Erceg of Cementon produced a couple of baskets.

C.Y.O. Repeats Win Over Esopus

St. Mary's C.Y.O. repeated its recent victory over the Esopus Firemen by edging Earle Terwilliger's cagers, 45-43, in last night's preliminary at the municipal auditorium. Previously they had trounced the Firemen, 66-59, on the Esopus court.

The C.Y.O. basketeers built up a 16-3 cushion in the first period and never relinquished the lead, although the Firemen were pressing at the finish, having outscored the winners 15-9, for the period.

Rienzo tossed in 14 points for the winners and DeCicco accounted for 13. Joe Ferraro's 16 markers led the Firemen.

Angels Victors In Benefit Game

Picking up steam in the second period, Harry's Angels went on to an easy 69-46 victory over the J.I.S. Stars of Poughkeepsie last night a Heart Fund benefit basketball game at the Bridge City Y.M.C.A.

The home cagers led 15-14 at the quarter mark but the Angels moved ahead, 30-24, at halftime and stayed there without too much trouble.

Andy Juhl hit for 20 points to lead the Angels, while Ward Dunham accounted for 18, Bud Scheffe. 13 and Eric Goercke 15. Bruno led the Stars with 10.

Revenoc Captures Bahamas Race

Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 16 (AP)—The winner of the 13th annual Miami-to-Nassau yacht sailings race is Harvey Conover's Revenoc.

It was the second victory for the 45-foot yawl and her owner from Larchmont, N. Y. Revenoc won the 184-mile race in 1947.

It was announced yesterday that the yawl had won with a corrected time of 26 hours, 30 minutes, 17 seconds, in one of the tightest races in the 13-year history of the event.

High School Cagers Play Port Jervis

Kingston High tries to keep its DUSO League pennant hopes alive against Port Jervis High, tonight at the municipal auditorium, while Poughkeepsie High and Newburgh Academy clash in their pivotal contest in the N.F.A. gym.

In other DUSO sets, Monticello invades Middletown and Beacon visits Ellenville.

The Maroon's mathematical chance in the conference race hinges on a Newburgh victory over the Blues and a local triumph over Newburgh. This parlay would create a triple tie in the lost column.

Port Jervis has won only one game in a dozen league starts. Kingston won the first game between the teams, 64 to 53.

Coast Track Dispute Rages

Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—Santa Anita race track officials continue today to maintain there is nothing wrong with their racing course and others contend it has been too hard.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, one of the blue bloods of thoroughbred racing,, said he thought the strip "was too hard," but added that perhaps it had been softened up somewhat during the past week.

Director of Racing Carleton Burke declared the track is one of the best in the nation and general manager Gwynn Wilson said records show there have been only half as many horses broken down this season than in previous meetings at Santa Anita.

Admittedly, some of the best known horses are on the sidelines including Bed O'Roses.

"I told them before the Bed O'Roses race that it was too hard, and you saw what happened," Vanderbilt, owner of the nationally regarded filly said.

Bed O'Roses, racing in the $205,700 Santa Anita Maturity Feb. 3, appeared headed for the winner's circle for the biggest purse in thoroughbred history when she broke down in the stretch.

Vanderbilt said he raced 14 horses succesfully through the Hollywood Park meeting but now has "half that many running here." "Something," he said, "has to give, and if it isn't the ground, it has to be the horses."

Furgol Paces Rio Grande Open

Harlingen, Tex., Feb. 16 (AP)—The $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open pushed into its second round today with the field chasing Marty Furgol, a golfer who's looking for a job.

The Long Beach, Calif., professional yesterday whipped par by six strokes over the battered, muddy 6,095-yard Harlingen muniepal course and his 65 stood up as the lead.

He was just one stroke ahead of veteran Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., and Chuck Klein of San Antonio, Tex., when 125 players of the original field of 146 answered the call to the tee today.

Some of the top-rated fellows failed to get into the par-cracking bracket. Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, for instance, did an even par 71 as did E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Andrew's Ill., the Texas Open champion. Mangrum, leading money-winner of the year, has been the big favorite for $2,000 first money here.

Tonight the field will be out to the low 60 shooters and ties. They wil go into the final 36 holes tomorrow and Sunday.

Ken Strong Trophy

New York, Feb. 16 (AP) — The New York University Club will present the first annual Ken Strong to Charles "Chuck" Young of White Plains High School at ceremonies tonight at the University Faculty Club. Young, an all-Westchester county athlete, was named the outstanding scholastic football player in the metropolitan area by a group of local sportswriters. The Ken Strong trophy was named in honor of N.Y.U.'s most famous football player.

Louis Rates Ez 6th Among Foes

San Francisco, Feb. 16 (AP)—Old Joe Louis, who ruled the heavyweight ranks longest of 'em all, rates Ezzard Charles, current champion and the one who beat him in his comeback attempt, as only the sixth best man he ever fought.

The Brown Bomber never pulled a punch in the ring and he wasn't pulling verbal ones either as he mulled over a distinguished boxing career and decided that title holder Charles was only No. 6 in a lengthy list of opponents.

Ol' Joe, who will be 37 come May and is fighting his way into another championship match with Charles, picked Billy Conn as the best of all those who have faced him.

"No doubt about it, that Billy was the best. He was winning that title right away from me when I managed to get to him. He sure could box and he had a good punch," Louis said.

The ex-champ was referring to their 1941 meeting when challenger Conn was well ahead on points but made the mistake of trying to slug with Joe in the 13th round. Louis kayoed Conn again in 1946, this time in eight rounds.

Behind Conn, the man who wore the crown from June, 1937 until he retired in March, 1949, rated the best men to face him as follows:

No. 2—Max Baer.
No. 3—James J. Braddock.
No. 4—Max Schmeling.
No. 5—Tommy Farr.
No. 6—Ezzard Charles.
No. 7—Primo Carnera.

Saints Rally to Trip A.Z.A. Cagers, 41-27

After a slow first half, St. Mary's "A" club came to life and went on to register a 41 to 27 victory over the A.Z.A. cagers this week in a Junior Church Basketball League game.

The Saints trailed by 14-11 in the first period and 19-18 at halftime.

A 16-point spread in the third quarter decided the outcome.

L. Perry and Erena were the big guns for the Saints with 16 and 14 markers respectively. Levy scored 16 of the A.Z.A. total of 27.

Wally Dusek On Mat Card

One of the famed Dusek brothers—Wally Dusek—of the so-called "riot squad clan" of professional wrestling will be introduced to Kingston fans in the opening 30-minute bout Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

Dusek is a member of the group of Nebraska brothers who were the first to introduce rough house tactics to the mat game. He is paired against Abbie Mancuso of Texas.

Lord Leslie Carlton and Tarzan "Poodles" Hewitt, the most famous badman of the wrestling game today, clash in the feature bout to a finish.

Yankee Cagers Beat Valley Stars, 61-58

Small Crowd Sees Game at Auditorium

Fred Davi's first professional basketball promotion was an artistic success but a financial flop-eroo, as the Yankee Five edged the Hudson Valley Stars, 61-58, before approximately 300 fans last night at the municipal auditorium.

Those who did turn out to greet the major league baseball and professional football stars were treated to a delightful throwback to the Piltdown age of basketball.

Coach Wes Westrum's area cagers got off to a fast start, running up eight straight points before the visitors could find the range and led 20-13 at the quarter.

The superior height and rebounding strength of the Yankees exacted its toll in the second half. The Yankees moved ahead for the first time in the closing seconds of the third period, 48-47.

Clark Mains' one-hander knotted the count at 51-51 midway in the fourth quarter but Bob Cole's driving layup put the visitors ahead to stay.

Sub Scores 19

The Yankees's big star was the unheralded John Drake, a New York Giant football substitute, who poured 19 points through the hoop and murdered the Stars under the boards.

Drake and two other subs—Cole and Fitzgerald—accounted for half of the Yankee total.

Monte Irvin and Hank Thompson, the Negro stars of the New York baseball Giants, looked extremely uncomfortable in basketball uniforms and were used primarily for window dressing. Both grinned through their chores, however, as though they were having the time of their life.

Allie Clark, the Cleveland Indian outfielder, and Babe Sharkey, giant lineman of the football Yankees, each had 11 points and played a respectable floor game. The fifth starter Emil Tunnel, great defensive back of the football Giants, contributed four points.

Kleine Tops Locals

Big Bill Kleine, who led the Stars with 16 points, started with a rash of baskets for the losers, racking up 10 points in the first period. Clark Mains emerged with a dozen points most of them in crucial sports during the second half.

Wes Westrum, who arrived late, played about five minutes and failed to score. Davi's outside importations, "Boo" Schafer of Saugerties had 8 points, Tom Polack of Haverstraw hit for five and Tom Erceg of Cementon produced a couple of baskets.

The boxscore:

C.Y.O. Repeats Win Over Esopus

St. Mary's C.Y.O. repeated its recent victory over the Esopus Firemen by edging Earle Terwilliger's cagers, 45-43, in last night's preliminary at the municipal auditorium. Previously they had trounced the Firemen, 66-59, on the Esopus court.

The C.Y.O. basketeers built up a 16-3 cushion in the first period and never relinquished the lead, although the Firemen were pressing at the finish, having outscored the winners 15-9, for the period.

Rienzo tossed in 14 points for the winners and DeCicco accounted for 13. Joe Ferraro's 16 markers led the Firemen.

Revenoc Captures Bahamas Race

Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 16 (AP)—The winner of the 13th annual Miami-to-Nassau yacht sailings race is Harvey Conover's Revenoc.

It was the second victory for the 45-foot yawl and her owner from Larchmont, N. Y. Revenoc won the 184-mile race in 1947.

It was announced yesterday that the yawl had won with a corrected time of 26 hours, 30 minutes, 17 seconds, in one of the tightest races in the 13-year history of the event.

High School Cagers Play Port Jervis

Kingston High tries to keep its DUSO League pennant hopes alive against Port Jervis High, tonight at the municipal auditorium, while Poughkeepsie High and Newburgh Academy clash in their pivotal contest in the N.F.A. gym.

In other DUSO sets, Monticello invades Middletown and Beacon visits Ellenville.

The Maroon's mathematical chance in the conference race hinges on a Newburgh victory over the Blues and a local triumph over Newburgh. This parlay would create a triple tie in the lost column.

Port Jervis has won only one game in a dozen league starts. Kingston won the first game between the teams, 64 to 53.

The lineups:

Coast Track Dispute Rages

Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—Santa Anita race track officials continue today to maintain there is nothing wrong with their racing course and others contend it has been too hard.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, one of the blue bloods of thoroughbred racing,, said he thought the strip "was too hard," but added that perhaps it had been softened up somewhat during the past week.

Director of Racing Carleton Burke declared the track is one of the best in the nation and general manager Gwynn Wilson said records show there have been only half as many horses broken down this season than in previous meetings at Santa Anita.

Admittedly, some of the best known horses are on the sidelines including Bed O'Roses.

"I told them before the Bed O'Roses race that it was too hard, and you saw what happened," Vanderbilt, owner of the nationally regarded filly said.

Bed O'Roses, racing in the $205,700 Santa Anita Maturity Feb. 3, appeared headed for the winner's circle for the biggest purse in thoroughbred history when she broke down in the stretch.

Vanderbilt said he raced 14 horses succesfully through the Hollywood Park meeting but now has "half that many running here." "Something," he said, "has to give, and if it isn't the ground, it has to be the horses."

Furgol Paces Rio Grande Open

Harlingen, Tex., Feb. 16 (AP)—The $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open pushed into its second round today with the field chasing Marty Furgol, a golfer who's looking for a job.

The Long Beach, Calif., professional yesterday whipped par by six strokes over the battered, muddy 6,095-yard Harlingen municipal course and his 65 stood up as the lead.

He was just one stroke ahead of veteran Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., and Chuck Klein of San Antonio, Tex., when 125 players of the original field of 146 answered the call to the tee today.

Some of the top-rated fellows failed to get into the par-cracking bracket. Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, for instance, did an even par 71 as did E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Andrew's Ill., the Texas Open champion. Mangrum, leading money-winner of the year, has been the big favorite for $2,000 first money here.

Tonight the field will be out to the low 60 shooters and ties. They wil go into the final 36 holes tomorrow and Sunday.

Ken Strong Trophy

New York, Feb. 16 (AP) — The New York University Club will present the first annual Ken Strong to Charles "Chuck" Young of White Plains High School at ceremonies tonight at the University Faculty Club. Young, an all-Westchester county athlete, was named the outstanding scholastic football player in the metropolitan area by a group of local sportswriters. The Ken Strong trophy was named in honor of N.Y.U.'s most famous football player.

Louis Rates Ez 6th Among Foes

San Francisco, Feb. 16 (AP)—Old Joe Louis, who ruled the heavyweight ranks longest of 'em all, rates Ezzard Charles, current champion and the one who beat him in his comeback attempt, as only the sixth best man he ever fought.

The Brown Bomber never pulled a punch in the ring and he wasn't pulling verbal ones either as he mulled over a distinguished boxing career and decided that title holder Charles was only No. 6 in a lengthy list of opponents.

Ol' Joe, who will be 37 come May and is fighting his way into another championship match with Charles, picked Billy Conn as the best of all those who have faced him.

"No doubt about it, that Billy was the best. He was winning that title right away from me when I managed to get to him. He sure could box and he had a good punch," Louis said.

The ex-champ was referring to their 1941 meeting when challenger Conn was well ahead on points but made the mistake of trying to slug with Joe in the 13th round. Louis kayoed Conn again in 1946, this time in eight rounds.

Behind Conn, the man who wore the crown from June, 1937 until he retired in March, 1949, rated the best men to face him as follows:

No. 2—Max Baer.
No. 3—James J. Braddock.
No. 4—Max Schmeling.
No. 5—Tommy Farr.
No. 6—Ezzard Charles.
No. 7—Primo Carnera.
No. 8—Jersey Joe Walcott.
No. 9—Bob Pastor.
No. 10 —Arturo Godoy.

Wally Dusek On Mat Card

One of the famed Dusek brothers—Wally Dusek—of the so-called "riot squad clan" of professional wrestling will be introduced to Kingston fans in the opening 30-minute bout Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

Dusek is a member of the group of Nebraska brothers who were the first to introduce rough house tactics to the mat game. He is paired against Abbie Mancuso of Texas.

Lord Leslie Carlton and Tarzan "Poodles" Hewitt, the most famous badman of the wrestling game today, clash in the feature bout to a finish.

High School Cagers Play Port Jervis

Kingston High tries to keep its DUSO League pennant hopes alive against Port Jervis High, tonight at the municipal auditorium, while Poughkeepsie High and Newburgh Academy clash in their pivotal contest in the N.F.A. gym.

In other DUSO sets, Monticello invades Middletown and Beacon visits Ellenville.

The Maroon's mathematical chance in the conference race hinges on a Newburgh victory over the Blues and a local triumph over Newburgh. This parlay would create a triple tie in the lost column.

Port Jervis has won only one game in a dozen league starts. Kingston won the first game between the teams, 64 to 53.

The lineups:

KINGSTON HIGH		PORT JERVIS
22 Leroy Hooker	Forward	Cronk (5)
18 George Carpouzis	Forward	R. Habig (4)
27 Moll Leonard	Center	Rhodes (6)
29 Chil Caruso	Guard	Lord (10)
28 Pete Camp	Guard	Schoonmaker (9)

Coast Track Dispute Rages

Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—Santa Anita race track officials continue today to maintain there is nothing wrong with their racing course and others contend it has been too hard.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, one of the blue bloods of thoroughbred racing,, said he thought the strip "was too hard," but added that perhaps it had been softened up somewhat during the past week.

Director of Racing Carleton Burke declared the track is one of the best in the nation and general manager Gwynn Wilson said records show there have been only half as many horses broken down this season than in previous meetings at Santa Anita.

Admittedly, some of the best known horses are on the sidelines including Bed O'Roses.

"I told them before the Bed O'Roses race that it was too hard, and you saw what happened," Vanderbilt, owner of the nationally regarded filly said.

Bed O'Roses, racing in the $205,700 Santa Anita Maturity Feb. 3, appeared headed for the winner's circle for the biggest purse in thoroughbred history when she broke down in the stretch.

Vanderbilt said he raced 14 horses succesfully through the Hollywood Park meeting but now has "half that many running here." "Something," he said, "has to give, and if it isn't the ground, it has to be the horses."

Furgol Paces Rio Grande Open

Harlingen, Tex., Feb. 16 (AP)—The $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open pushed into its second round today with the field chasing Marty Furgol, a golfer who's looking for a job.

The Long Beach, Calif., professional yesterday whipped par by six strokes over the battered, muddy 6,095-yard Harlingen muniepal course and his 65 stood up as the lead.

He was just one stroke ahead of veteran Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., and Chuck Klein of San Antonio, Tex., when 125 players of the original field of 146 answered the call to the tee today.

Some of the top-rated fellows failed to get into the par-cracking bracket. Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, for instance, did an even par 71 as did E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Andrew's Ill., the Texas Open champion. Mangrum, leading money-winner of the year, has been the big favorite for $2,000 first money here.

Tonight the field will be out to the low 60 shooters and ties. They wil go into the final 36 holes tomorrow and Sunday.

Ken Strong Trophy

New York, Feb. 16 (AP) — The New York University Club will present the first annual Ken Strong to Charles "Chuck" Young of White Plains High School at ceremonies tonight at the University Faculty Club. Young, an all-Westchester county athlete, was named the outstanding scholastic football player in the metropolitan area by a group of local sportswriters. The Ken Strong trophy was named in honor of N.Y.U.'s most famous football player.

Louis Rates Ez 6th Among Foes

San Francisco, Feb. 16 (AP)—Old Joe Louis, who ruled the heavyweight ranks longest of 'em all, rates Ezzard Charles, current champion and the one who beat him in his comeback attempt, as only the sixth best man he ever fought.

The Brown Bomber never pulled a punch in the ring and he wasn't pulling verbal ones either as he mulled over a distinguished boxing career and decided that title holder Charles was only No. 6 in a lengthy list of opponents.

Ol' Joe, who will be 37 come May and is fighting his way into another championship match with Charles, picked Billy Conn as the best of all those who have faced him.

"No doubt about it, that Billy was the best. He was winning that title right away from me when I managed to get to him. He sure could box and he had a good punch," Louis said.

The ex-champ was referring to their 1941 meeting when challenger Conn was well ahead on points but made the mistake of trying to slug with Joe in the 13th round. Louis kayoed Conn again in 1946, this time in eight rounds.

Behind Conn, the man who wore the crown from June, 1937 until he retired in March, 1949, rated the best men to face him as follows:

No. 2—Max Baer.
No. 3—James J. Braddock.
No. 4—Max Schmeling.
No. 5—Tommy Farr.
No. 6—Ezzard Charles.
No. 7—Primo Carnera.
No. 8—Jersey Joe Walcott.
No. 9—Bob Pastor.
No. 10 —Arturo Godoy.

Saints Rally to Trip A.Z.A. Cagers, 41-27

After a slow first half, St. Mary's "A" club came to life and went on to register a 41 to 27 victory over the A.Z.A. cagers this week in a Junior Church Basketball League game.

The Saints trailed by 14-11 in the first period and 19-18 at halftime.

A 16-point spread in the third quarter decided the outcome.

L. Perry and Erena were the big guns for the Saints with 16 and 14 markers respectively. Levy scored 16 of the A.Z.A. total of 27.

Wally Dusek On Mat Card

One of the famed Dusek brothers—Wally Dusek—of the so-called "riot squad clan" of professional wrestling will be introduced to Kingston fans in the opening 30-minute bout Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

Dusek is a member of the group of Nebraska brothers who were the first to introduce rough house tactics to the mat game. He is paired against Abbie Mancuso of Texas.

Lord Leslie Carlton and Tarzan "Poodles" Hewitt, the most famous badman of the wrestling game today, clash in the feature bout to a finish.

Robinson Claims Welterweight Crown, Points for Shot at Maxim's Title

New York, Illinois Disagree With Ray

Chicago, Feb. 16 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson would like to stack the light heavyweight boxing crown on top of two others he claims to wear.

Robinson, welterweight champion since late in 1946, blasted Jake LaMotta out from under the middleweight championship Wednesday night and inherited LaMotta's title.

He and his manager, George Gainsford, immediately said they wanted more of the same from Joey Maxim, light heavyweight champ.

They also declared that Robinson still held his welterweight championship.

This didn't jibe with the thinking of spokesman for both the New York and Illinois Athletic Commissions. They insisted Sugar Ray automatically abdicated as welter king when his hand was raised above the stricken LaMotta after 13 bruising rounds in the Chicago Stadium.

A return match for the middleweight championship between Robinson and LaMotta is doubtful but he has a contractural right to fight for the title within 90 days. LaMotta complained that making the 160 pound weight for the match with Sugar Ray had weakened him. Observers are convinced he has outgrown the middleweight division.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club which sponsored Wednesday night's fight, said "it was unfair to make Jake make the weight."

Maxim-LaMotta

Al Weill, I.B.C. matchmaker, indicated a LaMotta-Maxim fight was in the works. Jake didn't reveal his own plans, if any. He left yesterday for New York, where he probably will talk with Norris about future fights.

Norris said yesterday: "I'd like to put him (LaMotta) in with Maxim."

That is precisely what Manager Gainford would like to do with Sugar Ray. Gainford said:

"Sure we'd like to fight Maxim. It's the big money match. We've been after him for a year . . . there's a chance of our fighting Maxim this summer."

Thus, Robinson, suffering growing pains in the welterweight division, and the vanquished LaMotta, finding 160-pound weight strictures a definite liability, both are gazing upward covetously at tough Maxim.

Aware of this, Joey himself was looking up and beyond—toward the crown of heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

Both Joey and his manager, Jack Kearns, expressed willingness for Maxim to meet either Robinson or LaMotta—if the Charles fight, which Kearns said has been promised him for June, doesn't go through.

Says Firemen Paid

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan says most of the 27 firemen promoted last December to the rank of lieutenant paid $200 each to get their raise in rank. Hogan, conducting a joint probe with City Commissioner of Investigation James H. Sheils, said yesterday "a majority" of the firemen paid for promotions but he did not reveal who received the money. Hogan said he also is looking into the promotion of 47 other firemen to lieutenant later in December.

Hairston 1-2 Choice Over Paddy Young

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Gene (Silent) Hairston, the busy-punching Negro youngster who has been moving fast during the last year, is a 1 to 2 choice to make Paddy Young his 13th straight victim tonight when they clash in a 10 rounder at Madison Square Garden.

The 21-year-old Bronxite has vaulted from nowhere to a No. 6 ranking among the world's middleweights in just 12 months. In that time Hairston has won 12 straight fights including triumphs over such worthies as Kid Gavilan, Lester Felton and Lee Sala.

A victory over the stiff-punching Paddy might earn Gene a non-title bout with the new middleweight champion, Ray Robinson, in the Garden. Matchmaker Al Weill of the International Boxing Club said he is thinking of such a match in order to show Sugar Ray in New York soon.

As the rabbit is an animal of sight its ears are large and turned backwards, so that it can better hear sounds behind.

Bowling

Eleanor Singer cracked the lone "500" in the Matinee Club League session with 180-180-159-519. Runnerup Evelyn Francis posted 462, Marge Logan 444, Pat Pearson 424, Betty Monashefsky 412, Rose Chamberland 409, Jessie Burnett 402 and Rose Rhymer and Mabel MacAvery, 400.

Three Sisterhood League keglerettes crashed the "400" circle, with Bea Arlensky's 453, with 144-176-133, setting the pace. S. Jacobs shot 430 and Betty Monashefsky 410.

Herbie Kessman wound up his No-Can-Do League trundling with a rousing 248 solo and 561 triple to shade Johnny Lowe by a single pin for high series honors. His other scores were 140 and 173. Lowe posted 190-171-199.

W. Ferguson accounted for 201-210-539; Allen Hoey 532, Don Koeppen 526, Bill Thomas 513, William Pieper 510 and Ray Otto 509.

Bespectacled Bill Murray reeled off 591, with 200-213-178, for top honors in the Colonial Men's League. F. Embree took runnerup honors with 200-572, while Jim Moss posted 209-561; Chris Gallso 200-548, Jack Blinder 206-541, J. Roberts 214-539, Tom Orfino 529, George Uhl 528, Bud Greenburg 522.

Wrapping 191 and 199 around a big 234 middle shot, Herbie Sleight led the Junior Major League keglers with a 624 series at the Bowlatorium. Joe Dulin southpawed 204-584 and Ernie Bartzpff came up with 571.

Other good pinfall was credited to Joe Ruzzo with 214-565; J. Miliano 559, Len Ward 211-556, Ed Ouglieltree 552, B. Davis 544, Chris Robinson 205-542, J. Maurer 208-541, G. Hanna 536, Tommy Orr 535, and Len Stauble 534.

Sue Heins slipped slightly from her smashing Wednesday performance but her 489 was hefty enough to lead the Central Rec women by a good margin. Ellen Hilton posted 459, Jessie Burnett 451, Anne Perry 424, Eve Rose 415 and Thelma Garon 406.

Picking up speed in each game, Andy Gilday paced the C.Y.O. wheel at the Bowlodrome this week with a 562 series.

Gilday shot games of 166-185-211 for the top score.

Joe Mahar rattled the maples for 538; Joe Fautz 209-534; A. Maurer 216-533; D. Clausi 530; J. Bruck 205-524; G. Smith 517; and Jim Noble 505.

Joe Huber enjoyed one of his rare nights as leader of the Freeman Bowling League last night when he stacked the maples for 184-149-190-523 on the Bowlatorium planks. Scores were generally low and Roland Post copped runnerup honors with 522. Other "500" trundlers were Ray Amell 512, George Kuriger 511, John Hass 506 and Frank Bruno 502. Jack Hartman hit 492, John Howard 489, Ferrell McElrath 488 and Jim Noble 487.

Bill Kuehn spanked the maples for a tremendous 680 series in the Ferraro Major last night, pounding solos of 211, 234 and 235. Clifton Quick powered a 266 solo and 642 triple, while Jim Moss posted 241-212-640. Larry Weishaupt crashed the "600" bracket with 200-215-608.

Other good pinfall was credited to Richard Howard with 221-593, Harry Smith 215-587, George Flemings 202-587, Ed Heins 206-582, Ken Joseph 234-581, Ed Murphy 210-578, John MacLellan 211-574, Frank Spada 201-573, Harold Broskie 211-572 and Ben Fein 211-571.

Hotshots of the Jacobson Mixed League were in a scoring mood last night and Leo Bechtold emerged as the individual leader with 162-198-212-570. Bob Gorsline accounted for 538, Fred Schussler 524, Lou Navara 516, Carlo Perry 510, Joe Lukas 497, Dorothy Simmons 494 (tops for the distaff department), Harold Rockwell 481.

A big middle game of 256 was instrumental in Frank Grimaldi's 594 series in the Commercial League. His other scores were 155 and 183. E. Rowe celebrated the birth of a daughter by spanking the maples for 211-540 and W. Cameron hit 529. Other top counts included M. Bahl's 518, Ed Dasher 514, W. Stenson 504, G. Stoutenburg and J. Scheinvold 489, M. Williams 478 and Hans Maylahn 474.

Robinson Claims Welterweight Crown, Points for Shot at Maxim's Title

New York, Illinois Disagree With Ray

Chicago, Feb. 16 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson would like to stack the light heavyweight boxing crown on top of two others he claims to wear.

Robinson, welterweight champion since late in 1946, blasted Jake LaMotta out from under the middleweight championship Wednesday night and inherited LaMotta's title.

He and his manager, George Gainsford, immediately said they wanted more of the same from Joey Maxim, light heavyweight champ.

They also declared that Robinson still held his welterweight championship.

This didn't jibe with the thinking of spokesman for both the New York and Illinois Athletic Commissions. They insisted Sugar Ray automatically abdicated as welter king when his hand was raised above the stricken LaMotta after 13 bruising rounds in the Chicago Stadium.

A return match for the middleweight championship between Robinson and LaMotta is doubtful but he has a contractural right to fight for the title within 90 days. LaMotta complained that making the 160 pound weight for the match with Sugar Ray had weakened him. Observers are convinced he has outgrown the middleweight division.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club which sponsored Wednesday night's fight, said "It was unfair to make Jake make the weight."

Maxim-LaMotta

Al Weill, I.B.C. matchmaker, indicated a LaMotta-Maxim fight was in the works. Jake didn't reveal his own plans, if any. He left yesterday for New York, where he probably will talk with Norris about future fights.

Norris said yesterday: "I'd like to put him (LaMotta) in with Maxim."

That is precisely what Manager Gainford would like to do with Sugar Ray. Gainford said:

"Sure we'd like to fight Maxim. It's the big money match. We've been after him for a year . . . there's a chance of our fighting Maxim this summer."

Thus, Robinson, suffering growing pains in the welterweight division, and the vanquished LaMotta, finding 160-pound weight strictures a definite liability, both are gazing upward covetously at tough Maxim.

Aware of this, Joey himself was looking up and beyond—toward the crown of heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

Both Joey and his manager, Jack Kearns, expressed willingness for Maxim to meet either Robinson or LaMotta—if the Charles fight, which Kearns said has been promised him for June, doesn't go through.

Says Firemen Paid

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan says most of the 27 firemen promoted last December to the rank of lieutenant paid $200 each to get their raise in rank. Hogan, conducting a joint probe with City Commissioner of Investigation James H. Sheils, said yesterday "a majority" of the firemen paid for promotions but he did not reveal who received the money. Hogan said he also is looking into the promotion of 47 other firemen to lieutenant later in December.

Hairston 1-2 Choice Over Paddy Young

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Gene (Silent) Hairston, the busy-punching Negro youngster who has been moving fast during the last year, is a 1 to 2 choice to make Paddy Young his 13th straight victim tonight when they clash in a 10 rounder at Madison Square Garden.

The 21-year-old Bronxite has vaulted from nowhere to a No. 6 ranking among the world's middleweights in just 12 months. In that time Hairston has won 12 straight fights including triumphs over such worthies as Kid Gavilan, Lester Felton and Lee Sala.

A victory over the stiff-punching Paddy might earn Gene a non-title bout with the new middleweight champion, Ray Robinson, in the Garden. Matchmaker Al Weill of the International Boxing Club said he is thinking of such a match in order to show Sugar Ray in New York soon.

As the rabbit is an animal of flight its ears are large and turned backwards, so that it can better hear sounds behind.

Bowling

Eleanor Singer cracked the lone "500" in the Matinee Club League session with 180-180-159-519. Runnerup Evelyn Francis posted 462, Marge Logan 444, Pat Pearson 424, Betty Monashefsky 412, Rose Chamberland 409, Jessie Burnett 402 and Rose Rhymer and Mabel MacAvery, 400.

Three Sisterhood League keglerettes crashed the "400" circle, with Bea Arlensky's 453, with 144-176-133, setting the pace. S. Jacobs shot 430 and Betty Monashefsky 410.

Herbie Kessman wound up his No-Can-Do League trundling with a rousing 248 solo and 561 triple to shade Johnny Lowe by a single pin for high series honors. His other scores were 140 and 173. Lowe posted 190-171-199.

W. Ferguson accounted for 201-210-559; Allen Hoey 532, Don Koeppen 526, Bill Thomas 513, William Pieper 510 and Ray Otto 509.

Bespectacled Bill Murray reeled off 591, with 200-213-178, for top honors in the Colonial Men's League. F. Embree took runnerup honors with 200-572, while Jim Moss posted 209-561; Chris Gallso 200-546, Jack Blinder 206-541, J. Roberts 214-539, Tom Orfino 529, George Uhl 528, Bud Greenburg 522.

Wrapping 191 and 199 around a big 234 middle shot, Herbie Sleight led the Junior Major League keglers with a 624 series at the Bowlatorium. Joe Dulin southpawed 204-584 and Ernie Bartroff came up with 571.

Other good pinfall was credited to Joe Ruzzo with 214-565; J. Milano 559, Len Ward 211-556, Ed Ougheltree 552, B. Davis 544, Chris Robinson 205-542, J. Maurer 208-541, G. Hanna 536, Tommy Orr 535, and Len Stauble 534.

Sue Heins slipped slightly from her smashing Wednesday performance but her 489 was hefty enough to lead the Central Rec women by a good margin. Ellen Hitton posted 459, Jessie Burnett 451, Anne Perry 424, Eve Rose 415 and Thelma Garon 406.

Picking up speed in each game, Andy Gilday paced the C.Y.O. wheel at the Bowlodrome this week with a 562 series.

Joe Mahar rattled the maples for 538; Joe Fautz 209-534; A. Maurer 216-533; D. Clausi 530; J. Bruck 205-524; G. Smith 517; and Jim Noble 505.

Joe Huber enjoyed one of his rare nights as leader of the Freeman Bowling League last night when he stacked the maples for 184-149-190-523 on the Bowlatorium planks. Scores were gnerally low and Roland Post copped runnerup honors with 522. Other "500" trundlers were Ray Amell 512, George Kuriger 511, John Hass 506 and Frank Bruno 502. Jack Hartman hit 492, John Howard 489, Ferrell McElrath 488 and Jim Noble 487.

Bill Kuehn spanked the maples for a tremendous 680 series in the Ferraro Major last night, pounding solos of 211, 234 and 235. Clifton Quick powered a 266 solo and 642 triple, while Jim Moss posted 241-212-640. Larry Weishaupt crashed the "600" bracket with 200-215-608.

Other good pinfall was credited to Richard Howard with 221-593, Harry Smith 215-587, George Flemings 202-587, Ed Heins 206-582, Ken Joseph 234-581, Ed Murphy 210-578, John MacLellan 211-574, Frank Spada 201-573, Harold Broskie 211-572 and Ben Fein 211-571.

Hotshots of the Jacobson Mixed League were in a scoring mood last night and Leo Bechtold emerged as the individual leader with 162-196-212-570. Bob Gorsline accounted for 538, Fred Schussler 524, Lou Navara 516, Carlo Perry 510, Joe Lukas 497, Rorothy Simmons 494 (tops for the distaff department), Harold Rockwell 481.

A big middle game of 256 was instrumental in Frank Grimaldi's 594 series in the Commercial League. His other scores were 155 and 183. E. Rowe celebrated the birth of a daughter by spanking the maples for 211-540 and W. Cameron hit 529. Other top counts included M. Bahl's 518, Ed Dasher 514, W. Stenson 504, G. Stoutenburg and J. Scheinvold 489, M. Williams 478 and Hans Maylahn 474.

Robinson Claims Welterweight Crown, Points for Shot at Maxim's Title

New York, Illinois Disagree With Ray

Chicago, Feb. 16 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson would like to stack the light heavyweight boxing crown on top of two others he claims to wear.

Robinson, welterweight champion since late in 1946, blasted Jake LaMotta out from under the middleweight championship Wednesday night and inherited LaMotta's title.

He and his manager, George Gainsford, immediately said they wanted more of the same from Joey Maxim, light heavyweight champ.

They also declared that Robinson still held his welterweight championship.

This didn't jibe with the thinking of spokesman for both the New York and Illinois Athletic Commissions. They insisted Sugar Ray automatically abdicated as welter king when his hand was raised above the stricken LaMotta after 13 bruising rounds in the Chicago Stadium.

A return match for the middleweight championship between Robinson and LaMotta is doubtful but he has a contractural right to fight for the title within 90 days. LaMotta complained that making the 160 pound weight for the match with Sugar Ray had weakened him. Observers are convinced he has outgrown the middleweight division.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club which sponsored Wednesday night's fight, said "It was unfair to make Jake make the weight."

Maxim-LaMotta

Al Weill, I.B.C. matchmaker, indicated a LaMotta-Maxim fight was in the works. Jake didn't reveal his own plans, if any. He left yesterday for New York, where he probably will talk with Norris about future fights.

Norris said yesterday: "I'd like to put him (LaMotta) in with Maxim."

That is precisely what Manager Gainford would like to do with Sugar Ray. Gainford said:

"Sure we'd like to fight Maxim. It's the big money match. We've been after him for a year * * * there's a chance of our fighting Maxim this summer."

Thus, Robinson, suffering growing pains in the welterweight division, and the vanquished LaMotta, finding 160-pound weight strictures a definite liability, both are gazing upward covetously at tough Maxim.

Aware of this, Joey himself was looking up and beyond—toward the crown of heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

Both Joey and his manager, Jack Kearns, expressed willingness for Maxim to meet either Robinson or LaMotta—if the Charles fight, which Kearns said has been promised him for June, doesn't go through.

Hairston 1-2 Choice Over Paddy Young

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Gene (Silent) Hairston, the busy-punching Negro youngster who has been moving fast during the last year, is a 1 to 2 choice to make Paddy Young his 13th straight victim tonight when they clash in a 10 rounder at Madison Square Garden.

The 21-year-old Bronxite has vaulted from nowhere to a No. 6 ranking among the world's middleweights in just 12 months. In that time Hairston has won 12 straight fights including triumphs over such worthies as Kid Gavilan, Lester Felton and Lee Sala.

A victory over the stiff-punching Paddy might earn Gene a non-title bout with the new middleweight champion, Ray Robinson, in the Garden. Matchmaker Al Weill of the International Boxing Club said he is thinking of such a match in order to show Sugar Ray in New York soon.

As the rabbit is an animal of flight its ears are large and turned backwards, so that it can better hear sounds behind.

Bowling

Eleanor Singer cracked the lone "500" in the Matinee Club League session with 180-180-159-519. Runnerup Evelyn Francis posted 462, Marge Logan 444, Pat Pearson 424, Betty Monashefsky 412, Rose Chamberland 409, Jessie Burnett 402 and Rose Rhymer and Mabel MacAvery, 400.

Three Sisterhood League kegalerettes crashed the "400" circle, with Bea Arlensky's 453, with 144-176-133, setting the pace. S. Jacobs shot 430 and Betty Monashefsky 410.

Herbie Kessman wound up his No-Can-Do League trundling with a rousing 248 solo and 561 triple to shade Johnny Lowe by a single pin for high series honors. His other scores were 140 and 173. Lowe posted 190-171-199.

W. Ferguson accounted for 201-210-559; Allen Hoey 532, Don Koeppen 526, Bill Thomas 513, William Pieper 510 and Ray Otto 509.

Bespectacled Bill Murray reeled off 591, with 200-213-178, for top honors in the Colonial Men's League. F. Embree took runnerup honors with 200-572, while Jim Moss posted 209-561; Chris Gallso 200-546, Jack Blinder 206-541, J. Roberts 214-539, Tom Orfino 529, George Uhl 528, Bud Greenburg 522.

Wrapping 191 and 199 around a big 234 middle shot, Herbie Sleight led the Junior Major League keglers with a 624 series at the Bowlatorium. Joe Dulin southpawed 204-584 and Ernie Bartroff came up with 571.

Other good pinfall was credited to Joe Ruzzo with 214-565; J. Milano 559, Len Ward 211-556, Ed Ougheltree 552, B. Davis 544, Chris Robinson 205-542, J. Maurer 206-541, G. Hanna 536, Tommy Orr 535, and Len Stauble 534.

Sue Heins slipped slightly from her smashing Wednesday performance but her 489 was hefty enough to lead the Central Rec women by a good margin. Ellen Hitton posted 459, Jessie Burnett 451, Anne Perry 424, Eve Rose 415 and Thelma Garon 406.

Picking up speed in each game, Andy Gilday paced the C.Y.O. wheel at the Bowlodrome this week with a 562 series.

Gilday shot games of 166-185-211 for the top score.

Joe Mahar rattled the maples for 538; Joe Fautz 209-534; A. Maurer 216-533; D. Clausi 530; J. Bruck 205-524; G. Smith 517; and Jim Noble 505.

Joe Huber enjoyed one of his rare nights as leader of the Freeman Bowling League last night when he stacked the maples for 184-149-190-523 on the Bowlatorium planks. Scores were gnerally low and Roland Post copped runnerup honors with 522. Other "500" trundlers were Ray Amell 512, George Kuriger 511, John Hass 506 and Frank Bruno 502. Jack Hartman hit 492, John Howard 489, Ferrell McElrath 488 and Jim Noble 487.

Bill Kuehn spanked the maples for a tremendous 680 series in the Ferraro Major last night, pounding solos of 211, 234 and 235. Clifton Quick powered a 266 solo and 642 triple, while Jim Moss posted 241-212-640, Larry Weishaupt crashed the "600" bracket with 200-215-608.

Other good pinfall was credited to Richard Howard with 221-593, Harry Smith 215-587, George Flemings 202-587, Ed Heins 206-582, Ken Joseph 234-581, Ed Murphy 210-578, John MacLellan 211-574, Frank Spada 201-573, Harold Broskie 211-572 and Ben Fein 211-571.

Hotshots of the Jacobson Mixed League were in a scoring mood last night and Leo Bechtold emerged as the individual leader with 162-196-212-570. Bob Gorsline accounted for 538, Fred Schussler 524, Lou Navara 516, Carlo Perry 510, Joe Lukas 497, Rorothy Simmons 494 (tops for the distaff department), Harold Rockwell 481.

A big middle game of 256 was instrumental in Frank Grimaldi's 594 series in the Commercial League. His other scores were 155 and 183. E. Rowe celebrated the birth of a daughter by spanking the maples for 211-540 and W. Cameron hit 529. Other top counts included M. Bahl's 518, Ed Dasher 514, W. Stenson 504, G. Stoutenburg and J. Scheinvold 489, M. Williams 478 and Hans Maylahn 474.

Says Firemen Paid

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan says most of the 27 firemen promoted last December to the rank of lieutenant paid $200 each to get their raise in rank. Hogan, conducting a joint probe with City Commissioner of Investigation James H. Sheils, said yesterday "a majority" of the firemen paid for promotions but he did not reveal who received the money. Hogan said he also is looking into the promotion of 47 other firemen to lieutenant later in December.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 15 — Benjamin Schecter was numbered among the callers in the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday.

Charles Rodriguez is spending the winter at his Coons District place, the one time Daniel Sampson farm.

Add early harbingers of spring: That genial septuagenarian, Louis Thiel, put-putting happily up and down the Onteora Trail on his motor bike.

Mr. and Mrs. John McGovern who sojourned for several weeks in the Orlando sector of Florida, found the weather down there a bit too cool for comfort during much of their stay. The former Phoenicia couple enjoyed motor trips to the Gulf Coast and other sections of Florida.

John Adsit, who is employed on the Broadway crossing project, has been on night duty for the past week.

Duane Winnie, one of 27 county young men inducted into the army February 8, was brought up in Ashokan and attended Kingston High School. The youngest son of Mrs. Seymour Winnie, Duanne is a house painter and has held offices in the Ashokan Rod & Gun Club and Baseball Clubs.

Morton Hendrickson, Jr., another new soldier from this section, came from New York two years ago and has since resided with his mother on the family farm, the former J. W. Jones place on the mountain road. His father is employed in the city and comes to Shokan week-ends.

The Queen Esthers of the Glenford M.E. Church met Wednesday night with Mrs. James Stoutenburg. Also, the same evening, members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the West Hurley unit of the Ashokan M.E. Charge were scheduled to meet at the home of Mrs. Aubrey Berry of the Zena road.

Merlin DuBois of the Glenford hill road is picking up a lot of scrap metal in the north reservoir country these winter days. He is a hustler and a keen hand at ascertaining who has saleable scrap laying around the place.

Big trucks of John Arborio, Poughkeepsie state road contractor, go up the trail with cargoes of immense concrete cylinders, such as are now used for small bridges. Two of these is all a big platform truck can handle.

Echo of waterworks days: Feb. 15, 1910—R. D. Patchin elected chairman of special school meeting called by Trustee Frank Lane to discuss plans for new Boiceville schoolhouse. It was decided to buy a lot on the McKelvey flats, despite opposition from the west side of the Esopus Creek. John H. and Josiah L. Hasbrouck were named as building committee to act with Trustee Lane.—(How many readers know that Rolland Patchin was a great-grandson of Gen. Freegift Patchin of Schoharie county, who was taken captive by the Indians under the notorious Tory leader, Capt. John Brant?)

The average motor truck in the United States today is seven years old.

LEGAL NOTICE — LEGAL NOTICE

COUNTY COURT, ULSTER COUNTY—
COUNTY OF ULSTER, Plaintiff, against MARIA BRANDESS, MARJORIE D. MARSHALL and THE FEDERAL LAND BANK OF SPRINGFIELD, Defendants.

TAKE NOTICE that a petition has been made by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Ulster, verified 13th February, 1951, praying that it may be adjudged that the public use requires the condemnation of the real property hereinafter described and that the plaintiff is entitled to take and hold said property for the public use and that commissioners of appraisal be appointed by this Court to ascertain and determine the compensation to be made to the owners of said lands to be so acquired; and that such petition will be presented at a Special Term of the County Court of the County of Ulster, to be held at the Court House in the City of Kingston, New York, on the 7th day of March, 1951, at the opening of court on such day or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard; and that application will then and there be made for the relief demanded in said petition.

The following is a description of the parcels of land to be acquired in this proceeding and as described in said petition, to wit:

All those parcels of land situate in the Towns of Gardiner and Rochester, County of Ulster, and State of New York, needed for the reconstruction of the County Road No. 117, and County Aid Road No. 500, which parcels are severally shown upon certain maps filed with the petition in this proceeding in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster, and respectively numbered upon said maps and bounded and described as follows:

PARCEL NO. 24

Beginning at a point on the southeasterly boundary of an Intersecting Road between County Road No. 117 and State Highway No. 8318, at the intersection of said road boundary with the division line between the property of Gordon E. Peck (reputed owner) on the northeast, and the property of Mrs. Maria Brandes (reputed owner) on the southwest, said point being 30± feet distant northerly, measured at right angles from station P 3+07± of the hereinafter described survey base line for the New Paltz-Minnewaska, County Road No. 117, thence southeasterly along said division line 91± feet to a point 49 feet distant southerly, measured at right angles, from station P 3+47± of said survey base line; thence S 69° 37' W 122.0± feet to a point 58 feet distant southeasterly, measured at right angles, from station P 4+15 of said survey base line; thence S 53° 43' W 582.0 feet to a point 30 feet distant southeasterly, measured at right angles, from station P 9+96 of said survey base line; thence S 62° 21' W 233.0± feet to a point on the southeasterly boundary of said Intersecting Road, said point being 16± feet distant northwesterly, measured at right angles, from station P 12+24 of said survey base line; thence northeasterly along the southeasterly boundary of said Intersecting Road 928± feet to the point of beginning, being 1.370 acres more or less.

PARCEL NO. 25

Beginning at a point on the northwesterly boundary of an Intersecting Road between County Road No. 117 and State Hikhway No. 8318, said point being 58± feet distant northwesterly, measured at right angles, from station P 11+25 of the hereinafter described survey base line for the New Paltz-Minnewaska, County Road No. 117; thence S 69° 13' W 217.0± feet to a point 49 feet distant northerly, measured at right angles, from station P 13+86 of said survey base line; thence S 83° 50' W 540.0± feet to a point on the division line between the property of Mrs. Maria Brandes (reputed owner) on the northeast and the lands of the People of the State of New York (Conservation Department, Division of Lands and Forests) on the southwest, said point being 32 feet distant northerly, measured at right angles, from station P 19+26± of said survey base line; thence southeasterly along said division line 80± feet to a point 36 feet distant southerly, measured at right angles, from station P 18+83± of said survey base line; thence N 85° 46' E 434.0± feet to a point 37 feet distant southerly measured at right angles, from station P 14+59 of said survey base line; thence N 72° 14' E 173.0± feet to a point on the northwesterly boundary of said Intersecting Road, said point being 3± feet distant northerly, measured at right angles, from station P 12+91 of said survey base line; thence northeasterly along the northwesterly boundary of said Intersecting Road 154± feet to the point of beginning, being 1.180 acres more or less.

Still Supply Reds

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—Britain's Labor government, needled by the Conservatives for shipping vital Malayan rubber to Russia and her satellites, has promised to review its policy if the flow becomes too large. Board of Trade President Harold Wilson gave this assurance yesterday after Conservative M.P. A. T. Lennox-Boyd asked in the House of Commons whether the goverment had stopped shipping rubber to Russia and Communist China. "We are keeping a watch on the situation," Wilson said.

Arkansas Approves

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 16 (AP)—Arkansas ratified yesterday a proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution limiting the president to two full terms. It was the 30th state to do so. When and if six more states approve, making a three-fourths majority of the states, the amendment will become law.

FOR RESULTS — ADVERTISE IN THE FREEMAN

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 15 — Benjamin Schecter was numbered among the callers in the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday.

Charles Rodriguez is spending the winter at his Coons District place, the one time Daniel Sampson farm.

Add early harbingers of spring: That genial septuagenarian, Louis Thiel, put-putting happily up and down the Onteora Trail on his motor bike.

Mr. and Mrs. John McGovern who sojourned for several weeks in the Orlando sector of Florida, found the weather down there a bit too cool for comfort during much of their stay. The former Phoenicia couple enjoyed motor trips to the Gulf Coast and other sections of Florida.

John Adsit, who is employed on the Broadway crossing project, has been on night duty for the past week.

Duane Winnie, one of 27 county young men inducted into the army February 8, was brought up in Ashokan and attended Kingston High School. The youngest son of Mrs. Seymour Winnie, Duanne is a house painter and has held offices in the Ashokan Rod & Gun Club and Baseball Clubs.

Morton Hendrickson, Jr., another new soldier from this section, came from New York two years ago and has since resided with his mother on the family farm, the former J. W. Jones place on the mountain road. His father is employed in the city and comes to Shokan week-ends.

The Queen Esthers of the Glenford M.E. Church met Wednesday night with Mrs. James Stoutenburg. Also, the same evening, members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the West Hurley unit of the Ashokan M.E. Charge were scheduled to meet at the home of Mrs. Aubrey Berry of the Zena road.

Merlin DuBois of the Glenford hill road is picking up a lot of scrap metal in the north reservoir country these winter days. He is a hustler and a keen hand at ascertaining who has saleable scrap laying around the place.

Big trucks of John Arborio, Poughkeepsie state road contractor, go up the trail with cargoes of immense concrete cylinders, such as are now used for small bridges. Two of these is all a big platform truck can handle.

Echo of waterworks days: Feb. 15, 1910—R. D. Patchin elected chairman of special school meeting called by Trustee Frank Lane to discuss plans for new Boiceville schoolhouse. It was decided to buy a lot on the McKelvey flats, despite opposition from the west side of the Esopus Creek. John H. and Josiah L. Hasbrouck were named as building committee to act with Trustee Lane.—(How many readers know that Rolland Patchin was a great-grandson of Gen. Freegift Patchin of Schoharie county, who was taken captive by the Indians under the notorious Tory leader, Capt. John Brant?)

The average motor truck in the United States today is seven years old.

Still Supply Reds

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—Britain's Labor government, needled by the Conservatives for shipping vital Malayan rubber to Russia and her satellites, has promised to review its policy if the flow becomes too large. Board of Trade President Harold Wilson gave this assurance yesterday after Conservative M.P. A. T. Lennox-Boyd asked in the House of Commons whether the goverment had stopped shipping rubber to Russia and Communist China. "We are keeping a watch on the situation," Wilson said.

Arkansas Approves

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 16 (AP)—Arkansas ratified yesterday a proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution limiting the president to two full terms. It was the 30th state to do so. When and if six more states approve, making a three-fourths majority of the states, the amendment will become law.

LEGAL NOTICE

COUNTY COURT, ULSTER COUNTY—

COUNTY OF ULSTER, Plaintiff, against MARIA BRANDESS, MARJORIE D. MARSHALL, and THE FEDERAL LAND BANK OF SPRINGFIELD, Defendants.

TAKE NOTICE that a petition has been made by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Ulster, verified 13th February, 1951, praying that it may be adjudged that the public use requires the condemnation of the real property hereinafter described and that the plaintiff is entitled to take and hold said property for the public use and that three commissioners of appraisal be appointed by this Court to ascertain and determine the compensation to be made to the owners of said lands to be so acquired; and that such petition will be presented at a Special Term of the County Court of the County of Ulster, to be held at the Court House in the City of Kingston, New York, on the 7th day of March, 1951, at the opening of court on such day or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard; and that application will then and there be made for the relief demanded in said petition.

The following is a description of the parcels of land to be acquired in this proceeding and as described in said petition, to wit:

All those parcels of land situate in the Towns of Gardiner and Rochester, County of Ulster, and State of New York, needed for the reconstruction of the County Road No. 117, and County Aid Road No. 500, which parcels are severally shown upon certain maps filed with the petition in this proceeding in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster, and respectively numbered upon said maps and bounded and described as follows:

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 15 — Benjamin Schecter was numbered among the callers in the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday.

Charles Rodriguez is spending the winter at his Coons District place, the one time Daniel Sampson farm.

Add early harbingers of spring: That genial septuagenarian, Louis Thiel, put-putting happily up and down the Onteora Trail on his motor bike.

Mr. and Mrs. John McGovern who sojourned for several weeks in the Orlando sector of Florida, found the weather down there a bit too cool for comfort during much of their stay. The former Phoenicia couple enjoyed motor trips to the Gulf Coast and other sections of Florida.

John Adsit, who is employed on the Broadway crossing project, has been on night duty for the past week.

Duane Winnie, one of 27 county young men inducted into the army February 8, was brought up in Ashokan and attended Kingston High School. The youngest son of Mrs. Seymour Winnie, Duanne is a house painter and has held offices in the Ashokan Rod & Gun Club and Baseball Clubs.

Morton Hendrickson, Jr., another new soldier from this section, came from New York two years ago and has since resided with his mother on the family farm, the former J. W. Jones place on the mountain road. His father is employed in the city and comes to Shokan week-ends.

The Queen Esthers of the Glenford M.E. Church met Wednesday night with Mrs. James Stoutenburg. Also, the same evening, members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the West Hurley unit of the Ashokan M.E. Charge were scheduled to meet at the home of Mrs. Aubrey Berry of the Zena road.

Merlin DuBois of the Glenford hill road is picking up a lot of scrap metal in the north reservoir country these winter days. He is a hustler and a keen hand at ascertaining who has saleable scrap laying around the place.

Big trucks of John Arborio, Poughkeepsie state road contractor, go up the trail with cargoes of immense concrete cylinders, such as are now used for small bridges. Two of these is all a big platform truck can handle.

Echo of waterworks days: Feb. 15, 1910—R. D. Patchin elected chairman of special school meeting called by Trustee Frank Lane to discuss plans for new Boiceville schoolhouse. It was decided to buy a lot on the McKelvey flats, despite opposition from the west side of the Esopus Creek. John H. and Josiah L. Hasbrouck were named as building committee to act with Trustee Lane.—(How many readers know that Rolland Patchin was a great-grandson of Gen. Freegift Patchin of Schoharie county, who was taken captive by the Indians under the notorious Tory leader, Capt. John Brant?)

The average motor truck in the United States today is seven years old.

SAWKILL

Sawkill, Feb. 16—Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Ritzhaupt and family entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Mossl Saturday night. Mr. Ritzhaupt's birthday was ecelbrated.

Mrs. Theresa Roeber spent the week-end in South Ozone Park, L. I., visiting her son, Elwood and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sleight entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick Duffy Saturday night.

Frank Ritz and son, Eugene of Hollis, L. I., were guests of Miss Elizabeth Duffy on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Myers entertained Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vanak of Yonkers during the week-end. Sunday guests included Mrs. Ralph Bouer and daughter, Barbara and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Myers of Kingston.

Dennis Ahearn is home on two weeks' leave from the navy.

Miss Betty Ann Brooks of Kingston is spending a week with her grandmother, Mrs. William Bonesteel in Sawkill.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Dolan plan to leave from LaGuardia Airport Sunday for Bermuda, where they will spend a vacation. Mrs. Dolan's mother, Mrs. Petty who has been visiting here, will return to her home in Bermuda with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D'Balo of Yonkers spent the weekend in Sawkill as the guest of Edward Butler.

Harry Siemsen attended a dinner and meeting of the L. C. Dixon G.L.F. Patron Committee in Kingston Monday night.

Miss Elizabeth Eller of Brooklyn was in Sawkill over the week-end visiting her sister, Mrs. William Bonesteel.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Macartney have received word of the birth of granddaughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. James Macartney of Weehawken, N. J., January 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lohmaier and Mr. A. Menninger are vacationing in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wuertz of Long Island City were at their Sawkill home Monday.

Miss Mildred Gerdts was home on a week's vacation from the Albany Hospital where she is employed. Dr. Jerome Ferber, who is interning at the Albany Hospital, was a week-end guests of Miss Gerdts and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gerdts.

The social party at the schoolhouse Saturday night, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Sawkill Vounteer Fire Company, was reported successful.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsair, Sr., entertained their daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Forster, and son, William from St. Johnsville and Mr. and Mrs. William Murtha and daughter, Patricia from Schenectady during the week-end.

Miss Arlene Granquist was a week-end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Terns, Kingston.

The February Home Bureau meeting of the Sawkill Unit was held at the home of Mrs. Paul Burton Monday night. Miss Helen Rowe, assistant county home demonstration agent, demonstrated the use of sewing machine attachments. Mrs. Harry Hulsair displayed the braided rug she has completed. Mrs. Hulsair is leader of that project. Anyone who is interested in the project is to bring their materials to the next scheduled meeting in March. Members may contact Mrs. Hulsair for further information. During the evening, a discussion was held regarding a social party to be held April 14 at the schoolhouse at 8 p. m. Members are asked to donate gifts. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The next scheduled meeting will be held at the schoolhouse March 6 at 8 p. m. It will be citizenship and book review under the leadership of Mrs. Harry Hulsair.

Birthday greetings to Mrs. Lemuel Boice, Jr., Febrary 14; Miss Emma Herrmann, February 17; Raymond Walker, February 18; and Miss Gertrude Ritzhaupt, February 19.

Mrs. Francis Joy received minor injuries in a fall on the ice near her home Tuesday.

Mrs. Claude Reeds of Rahway, N. J., the former Miss Kate Fields, was among those fatally injured in the recent Pennsylvania Railroad accident. She had many friends and relatives in this section.

Francis Joy of Hallahan's Hill and Horace Brown of Kingston attended a dinner and meeing of the Artificial Breeders Co-operative in Rosendale Saturday.

Mrs. Joseph Goldpaugh and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Reiff, Ruby, Tuesday at a party in honor of Linda Lee Reiff's second birthday.

The Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company held its regular monthly meeting at the schoolhouse Monday night. There will be a special meeting at the schoolhouse Monday, Feb. 19, at 8 p. m. All members are urged to be present as the meeting is for the purpose of discussing the purchase of equipment. A committee has inspeced a truck which is available. It is equipped with hose, ladder, and pump. Monday night, it will be decided whether or not to purchase this truck and all members and interested men are requested to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis and son, Sidney, of the Brabrant road were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joy and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Joy and family, Hallahan's Hill, Tuesday night.

Miss Cecelia Goldpaugh gave a surprise Valentine party for the pupils of the Sawkill School on Wednesday afternoon. Refreshments were served. A box was filled with Valentines for all.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company held its regular monthly meeting at the schoolhouse Feb. 14. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Roeber and Mrs. Leedecke. The next regular meeting will be held the second Wednesday in March at the schoolhouse at 8 p. m. Mrs. Edward Leahy and Mrs. Kenneth Dolan are on the refreshment committee for March.

The Rev. James Dunnigan announces services will be held at St. Wendelinus Church in Ruby at 8:30 a. m. and at St. Ann's Church in Sawkill at 10 a. m. Sunday. The sermon for the day will be "The Transfiguration of Jesus on the Mountain Before St. Peter, St. James, and St. John." Services are being held at St. Ann's Church every Wednesday during Lent at 7:45 p. m. On Wednesday evenings there is a sermon, Stations of the Cross and benediction.

Still Supply Reds

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—Britain's Labor government, needled by the Conservatives for shipping vital Malayan rubber to Russia and her satellites, has promised to review its policy if the flow becomes too large. Board of Trade President Harold Wilson gave this assurance yesterday after Conservative M.P. A. T. Lennox-Boyd asked in the House of Commons whether the goverment had stopped shipping rubber to Russia and Communist China. "We are keeping a watch on the situation," Wilson said.

Arkansas Approves

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 16 (AP)—Arkansas ratified yesterday a proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution limiting the president to two full terms. It was the 30th state to do so. When and if six more states approve, making a three-fourths majority of the states, the amendment will become law.

LEGAL NOTICE

COUNTY COURT, ULSTER COUNTY—
COUNTY OF ULSTER, Plaintiff, against MARIA BRANDESS, MARJORIE D. MARSHALL, and THE FEDERAL LAND BANK OF SPRINGFIELD, Defendants.

TAKE NOTICE that a petition has been made by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Ulster, verified 13th February, 1951, praying that it may be adjudged that the public use requires the condemnation of the real property hereinafter described and that the plaintiff is entitled to take and hold said property for the public use and that three commissioners of appraisal be appointed by this Court to ascertain and determine the compensation to be made to the owners of said lands to be so acquired; and that such petition will be presented at a Special Term of the County Court of the County of Ulster, to be held at the Court House in the City of Kingston, New York, on the 7th day of March, 1951, at the opening of court on such day or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard; and that application will then and there be made for the relief demanded in said petition.

The following is a description of the parcels of land to be acquired in this proceeding and as described in said petition, to wit:

All those parcels of land situate in the Towns of Gardiner and Rochester, County of Ulster, and State of New York, needed for the reconstruction of the County Road No. 117, and County Aid Road No. 500, which parcels are severally shown upon certain maps filed with the petition in this proceeding in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster, and respectively numbered upon said maps and bounded and described as follows:

PARCEL NO. 24

Beginning at a point on the southeasterly boundary of an Intersecting Road between County Road No. 117 and State Highway No. 8318, at the intersection of said road boundary with the division line between the property of Gordon H. Peck (reputed owner) on the northeast, and the property of Mrs. Maria Brandes (reputed owner) on the southwest, said point being 20± feet distant northerly, measured at right angles from station P 3+07± of the hereinafter described survey base line for the New Paltz-Minnewaska, County Road No. 117, thence southeasterly along said division line 91± feet to a point 48 feet distant southerly, measured at right angles, from station P 2+47+ of said survey base line; thence S 69° 57' W 123.0± feet to a point 58 feet distant southeasterly, measured at right angles, from station P 4+15 of said survey base line; thence S 53° 43' W 582.0 feet to a point 30 feet distant southeasterly, measured at right angles, from station P 9+96 of said survey base line; thence S 62° 21' W 233.0± feet to a point on the southeasterly boundary of said Intersecting Road, said point being 16± feet distant northwesterly measured at right angles, from station P 12+24 of said survey base line; thence northeasterly along the southeasterly boundary of said Intersecting Road 928± feet to the point of beginning, being 1.370 acres more or less.

PARCEL NO. 25

Beginning at a point on the northwesterly boundary of an Intersecting Road between County Road No. 117 and State Highway No. 8318, said point being 58± feet distant northwesterly, measured at right angles, from station P 11+25 of the hereinafter described survey base line for the New Paltz-Minnewaska, County Road No. 117; thence S 69° 13' W 217.0+ feet to a point 49 feet distant northerly, measured at right angles, from station P 13+86 of said survey base line; thence S 83° 50' W 540.0± feet to a point on the division line between the property of Mrs. Maria Brandes (reputed owner) on the northeast and the lands of the People of the State of New York (Conservation Department, Division of Lands and Forests) on the southwest, said point being 32 feet distant northerly, measured at right angles, from station P 19+26± of said survey base line; thence southeasterly along said division line 80± feet to a point 36 feet distant southerly, measured at right angles, from station P 18+83+ of said survey base line; thence N 85° 46' E 424.0+ feet to a point 37 feet distant southerly measured at right angles, from station P 14+59 of said survey base line; thence N 72° 14' E 173.0± feet to a point on the northwesterly boundary of said Intersecting Road, said point being 3± feet distant northerly, measured at right angles, from station P 12+91 of said survey base line; thence northeasterly along the northwesterly boundary of said Intersecting Road 154± feet to the point of beginning, being 1.180 acres more or less.

Beginning at station P 0+00; thence N 89° 33' W 342.50 feet to station P 3+42.50; thence S 50° 57' W 157.50 feet to station P 5+00 P.O.L.; thence S 50° 57' W 400 feet to station P 9+00 P.O.L.; thence S 50° 57' W 334.77 feet to station P 12+34.77; thence S 85° 38' W 415.23 feet to station P 16+50 P.O.L.; thence S 85° 38' W 300 feet to station P 19+50 P.O.L.

All bearings referred to magnetic north as magnetic needle pointed 1944 A.D.

ALSO ALL THAT PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate on the westerly side of County Aid Road No. 500 known as Whitfield Road in the Town of Rochester, Ulster County, New York, and is more particularly bound and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point in the westerly assumed road line of said road, such point being 15' distant measured westerly at right angles from station R 35+00 of the hereinafter described survey base line; thence north 17° 52' east 103.5± feet to a point 25 feet distant measured westerly at right angles from station R 36+03 of the survey base line; thence proceeding northerly and northwesterly on a curve having a radius of 575 feet for a distance of 282± feet to a point 25 feet distant measured westerly at right angles from station R 39+03 of the survey base line; thence north 3° 32' west 297.00 feet; thence south 86° 28' west 5.00 feet to a point 30 feet distant measured westerly at right angles from station R 42+00 of the survey base line; thence north 03° 32' west 447.00 feet; thence north 86° 28' east 5.00 feet to a point 25 feet distant measured westerly at right angles from station R 46+47 of the survey base line; thence north 03° 32' west 1404± feet to the division line between lands of Marshall on the south and lands of Barley on the north; thence northeasterly along said division line for a distance of 55± feet to a point in the said westerly assumed road line such point being 21± feet distant measured westerly at right angles from station R 61+03± of the survey base line; thence southeasterly back and along said assumed road line for a distance of 1000± feet to a point 25 feet distant measured easterly at right angles from station R 51+15 of the survey base line; thence south 03° 32' east 250± feet to the division line between lands of O. K. Aarnes on the east and lands of Marshall on the west; thence along lands of Aarnes south 06° 25' east 218.28 feet to the southerly bounds of Aarnes lands; thence easterly along Aarne's division line for a distance of 16± feet to a point 30 feet distant measured easterly at right angles from station R 46+47± of the survey base line; thence south 03° 32' east 447.00 feet; thence south 86° 28' west 5.00 feet to a point 25 feet distant measured easterly at right angles from station R 42+00 of the survey base line; thence south 03° 32' east 358.00 feet to a point in said assumed road line such point being 25 feet distant measured easterly at right angles from station R 38+42 of the survey base line; thence southwesterly back and along said assumed road line for a distance of 340± feet to the point the place of beginning.

Containing 3.08± acres to be the same more or less.

The above mentioned survey base line was established for the improvement of said road and a portion thereof pertinent to this indenture is described as follows: BEGINNING at station R 35+00 and runs thence north 23° 25' east to station R 37+53.5; thence north 03° 32' west to station R 54+00; thence north 16° 28' east to station R 57+50; thence north 15° 32' west to station R 61+50.

All of which is shown on R.O.W. Map No. 10 County Aid Road No. 500 as revised April 17, 1950, on file in the office of the Clerk of Ulster County and in the office of the County Superintendent of Highways.

Snow Paralyzes Tokyo; 8 Dead

Tokyo, Feb. 16 (AP)—Fleecy white snow flakes paralyzed Tokyo—something allied fire and demolition bombs failed to do in the Pacific war.

Eight persons were dead and 83 injured in the Tokyo-Yokohama area as 12 inches of snow fell, Yyodo news agency reported. Sixty-six fishermen were listed as missing. Thirty-three fishing boats were sunk and 66 others washed from moorings.

Fourteen U. S. naval ships were grounded by high winds at Yokosuka naval base, but 13 were refloated and back in service. The 14th, the Badoeng Strait, was expected to be refloated today.

The 4,928-ton Swedish motor vessel Christer Salen, her bow snapped off in raging seas 100 miles off the east coast, was being towed to Yokohama. Rescue vessels reported her 10 passengers and 37 crewmen safe.

Tokyo's snowfall was the heaviest since the record of 14 inches Feb. 26, 1936.

Everything Stopped

Everything in this city of 5,000,000 stopped Wednesday night when the storm struck.

Streets are still closed by the sonw. Most sidewalks are blocked. Stores are closed. Lights are out in many sections. The gas is off in others.

Thousands trapped downtown by the storm have not been home in three days.

Little relief was in sight. When the snow melts things will be worse it wont flow off rapidly in the city. In the surrounding mountains it will flood streams.

Doctors expect the pneumonia rate to rise. Most Japanese homes are heated by charcoal braziers and charcoal pits and their paper-thin walls give little protection from the cold.

Acheson Says . . .

there was any agreement on the size of the ground forces to be furnished by each of the North Atlantic Pact nations. If no ceiling is imposed on the American troop contribution, Taft said, he might propose that none be sent until western European nations agree formally to take on most of the defense burden.

Marshall had opposed setting any limit on the size of the American contingent. President Truman said later Marshall's statement represented the White House views.

Acheson also attacked proposals for limiting American help as well as suggestions for concentrating American defenses in this hemisphere and for insisting that Europe prepare its defenses first and get American aid second.

Responds to Issue

He also responded to the issue raised in Congress over whether North Atlantic treaty commitments provide for American troop participation in the Western European defense force.

Acheson said the fundamental purpose of the Atlantic Pact is "to preserve peace". He said it provides for mutual help among the members and for consideration of what should be done before any attack as well as after an attack should occur.

Moreover, Acheson said Congress itself recognized a need for advance action to defeat aggression. It did so, he contended, by putting a requirement into the 1949 Mutual Defense Assistance Act that President Truman condition military aid to Western Europe upon the creation of an integrated defense of the North Atlantic area.

Sums Up Arguments

Acheson summed up his arguments at this point by saying: "Our own security as well as the security of our allies in Europe requires vigorous efforts to build an effective force in Europe at the earliest possible moment."

Discussing indirect aggression, Acheson cited the case of Czechoslovakia as an example of how the Communist "employ the weapons of fear and threats to undermine confidence and paralyze the will to resist." He said that in such a case, too, the presence of adequate defense forces would be a "bulwark against this kind of aggression."

In brief, Acheson said the job of protecting the United States breaks down into three parts—(1) to prevent war, (2) to prevent Russia from "accomplishing its aggressive purposes" by means other than war and (3) to assure the victory of the free nations if war is unavoidable.

"Our primary concern it not to win a war after it gets started, but how to prevent it, and how to help Europe stay free in the meantime." he said.

At Chamber of Commerce Dinner

Among those on the dais at the sixth annual dinner of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, Thursday evening, in the Governor Clinton Hotel were (seated l. to r.) Dr. George Smith, economist from Washington, D. C., guest speaker; Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Robert E. Teetsel, retiring president; (standing) Alan Larivee of Boston; Attorney Howard C. St. John, dinner chairman and Victor H. Roth, first vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce. (Freeman Photo)

hidden taxes, he predicted. He cited a recent survey which showed that there are already 116 separate taxes an a loaf of bread at various points in its production and distribution, and 140 hidden taxes on a suit of man's clothes.

One out of every eight workers in the country is on a government payroll, local, state or federal, he said. "Imagine the influence of the federal employes," he commented, noting that New York state has more federal employes working within its borders than the city of Washington, D. C., and that the only county in the entire country that has no federal employe in it is Armstrong county, S. Dak.

The speaker endorsed the recommendations of the Hoover Commission which he said showed how over $5 billion could be saved by eliminating duplication and waste in government.

More Could Be Saved

In addition to this saving, Dr. Smith contended that more could be saved by eliminating some of the activities of the government. Displaying government publications to illustrate his contention, he showed a 165 page booklet published by the Department of the Interior in 1950, entitled, "A Guide to Classification of Fishing Gear in the Philippines," containing 50 pages of hand drawn illustrations; another publication on how to prospect for gold, and one about raccons in North America.

These publications represent not only a large printing bill, but also staff time, research and travel expenditures, he noted. He cited other examples of waste, including the fact that it cost the Treasury Department $25 to buy $10 worth of lumber.

Dr. Smith placed the responsibility for increased government spending on the citizens of the country. "Every piece of government spending is done because somebody wants it done," he said.

Public demand for economy must supercede a person's desire to see his own favorite projects carried out, and the people must develop an attitude that would let them say, "This (economy) may hurt me—it's one of my pet projects—but go ahead and cut it," the speaker said.

Citizens must take a greater interest in their government, he said, because "the government belongs to the people who take an interest in it. It is your government, it is your money."

Dr. Smith until three months ago was secretary of the Committee on Government Expenditures of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He has concentrated in recent years on the effects of big government on the economy and the related problems of Socialism and Communism. A native of Maryland, Dr. Smith lived in Baltimore, later moving to St. Louis, where he received A.B., A.M. and Ph.D. degrees at Washington University. During World War 2, he served as a naval officer first on Admiral Nimitz's staff and later with the Tenth Army, Sixth Marine Division, the Naval Mission to Japan, and the United States Strategic Bombing Survey. He had edited the chamber's monthly publication, "Economic Intelligence," since its first issue.

Came on Short Notice

Dr. Smith was obtained as speaker on short notice Wednesday afternoon when the scheduled speaker, Richard L. Bowditch, became ill at his home in Boston. Bowditch is vice president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce for the northeast region.

The banquet Thursday night was the occasion of high tributes to Robert E. Teetsel, retiring president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, and for pledges of support for Lawrence J. MacAvery, incoming president.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk in a short address of welcome said that Teetsel in his two years as Chamber president has done "an outstanding job." The mayor said he wanted to thank Teetsel publicly "for the splendid job he has done in promoting the city of Kingston." To the new officers, Mayor Newkirk said, "I want them to feel that I am at their command at all times."

Teetsel expressed his belief that the Chamber will continue to grow. He thanked the committee members for their efforts and support during the past two years.

MacAvery Didn't Speak

President MacAvery, who was present but did not speak due to an attack of laryngitis, had a prepared statement that was read by Victor Roth, first vice president. In it, he said that much of Teetsel's time and effort in the past two years "has been devoted to the welfare of this Chamber."

Introduced as the "spark plug" of the Chamber, Albert Kurdt, executive secretary, made a brief address in which he disproved the statement that, "Nothing ever happens in Kingston." He referred to a promotive survey made of Kingston in 1923 and said that of 30 or 40 recommendations made at that time, all but "two or three" have since been fulfilled.

Guests present included W. Winnans, executive secretary of the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce; Franklin P. Clum, president of the Saugerties chamber; Thomas Bohan, president of the Esopus chamber; Eugene McGowan, president of the Olive chamber, and Allen L. Larivee, assistant to Bowditch.

Howard C. St. John was banquet committee chairman and toastmaster. Following the meeting, he was complimented highly for his efforts, especially in beginning the meeting promptly and keeping it moving. He closed the meeting at exactly 9 p. m.

Other members of the banquet committee were Lawrence V. Bogart, Irving L. Eyles, Herbert C. Myers, Louis R. Netter, Harry Reppert and W. L. Rider.

Clergy Participates

Invocation was given by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, representing the Kingston Ministerial Association. Benediction was by the Rev. John Simmons of St. Joseph's Church.

Dinner music was by Roger Baer.

New officers of the Chamber are Lawrence J. MacAvery, president; Victor H. Roth, Joseph Deegan, George N. Shivery, vice-presidents; Chester A. Baltz, Jr., treasurer, and Albert Kurdt, executive secretary. New directors are Bev. C. Anderson, L. V. Bogert, Edward M. Huben, Maynard Mizel, Lawrence A. Quilty, Elmer A. Rylance and George Shivery.

Directors with one year remaining of their three-year term are J. Ellis Briggs, James P. Byrne, Eugene B. Carey, Byron S. Chatham, Addison Jones, Victor Roth and Robert Teetsel. Those with two years remaining are Chester A. Baltz, Jr., Emil G. Boessneck, Pratt Boice, Joseph F. Deegan, R. W. Garraghan, Lawrence J. MacAvery, and Henry Singer.

A review of the year's activities was printed in the program. It shows that membership increased from 408 in 1948 to 445 in 1950. The review also notes that several large conventions took place here in 1950, largest of which was the New York State Women's Bowling Association, it is estimated that conventions brought over $250,000 worth of business to Kingston.

Murphy Will Give 'No' as Answer

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy is due to give Washington a formal "No" tonight to the request that he take the job of chief enforcement officer of the Office of Price Stabilization.

He made it plain here last night that he would not accept the appointment — a temporary one to get the program in full swing.

President Truman at his news conference yesterday expressed hope that Murphy would take the post. The job was offered to Murphy earlier in the day by Michael V. DiSalle, director of the OPS.

Murphy, speaking last night at a police promotion ceremony, said he told DiSalle at a conference in Washington that "I was flattered by the offer but that I had a job to do as a police commissioner in New York city."

"I told him," Murphy added, "that it was an obligation I had to fulfill and that I would stick with it.

"Mr. DiSalle told me not to be too quick to decline the job, but to think it over and call him tomorrow at 9 p. m. (EST). By my remarks you can guess what my answer is going to be."

Hal Boyle Gets Gold Medal Award

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Associated Press Columnist Hal Boyle is the 1950 winner of the Gold Medal Award given by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the most distinguished contribution to national security.

The award was presented last night by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, who described Boyle as "one of the best friends the G.I. ever had."

Bradley said: "I am pleased that this award goes to a friend I have known so long. He is the soldier's friend. I don't know anyone who knows fighting at the front so well, or anyone who has written so well about it."

Boyle, who returned from Korea only recently, praised the American Eighth Army as "the equal of any army in history," even though he said "it started with patches on its pants like every American army we have sent overseas."

Won in Korea

The 39-year-old newspaperman—a native of Kansas City now living in New York—received the award for his writing on military matters and his human interest dispatches from the Korean war front.

Bradley won the award last year and the medal now is called the Omar N. Bradley Award Medal.

In a brief speech of acceptance, Boyle said: "I am proudest that the medal bears the name of Omar Nelson Bradley and was awarded to me by Omar Nelson Bradley—by whom I would rather be honored than any man except my father."

Won Pulitzer Prize

Boyle was with Bradley and his troops in their marches across North Africa, Sicily and Normandy to the river Elbe in Germany. He won a Pulitzer prize in 1944 for distinguished reporting from the European war theatre.

The V.F.W. award was given at a dinner for members of Congress who have served in the armed forces.

V.F.W. Commander Charles C. Ralls of Seattle, Wash., told the veterans and their guests the United States faces "a hard road" but one down which this country must travel.

DeGraff Named To Police Force

The Board of Police Commissioners yesterday appointed Harold DeGraff, 32, of 247 West Chestnut street, to the local police force to replace James E. Welch, who retired last Nov. 30.

The board also authorized the purchase of two new Ford cars to replace two 1947 vehicles which have been in service since 1947. They will be bought for service as early as possible. One is to be six and the other eight cylinders.

DeGraff, who has been doing extra police duty one day a week on the Broadway crossing detour since last fall, was second highest man on the eligible list, Philip McGowan, who was first, retains that place and next on the list are Douglas Eckert and Meyer Levy. The latter is now serving as a special patrolman.

A native of Kingston, DeGraff attended School No. 5 and was graduated from Kingston High School. He had played on the high school football and basketball team, and with the Kingston Yellow Jackets football team several years ago.

A veteran of World War 2, he had served with the Marine Corps three years. He saw duty on Guadalcanal and Okinawa. He is a machinist and has been employed by the Ulster Foundry Corp., 20 St. James street, since 1937. He plans to start his duties as a local patrolman on Feb. 25.

Police Chief Raymond Van-Buren's report for January showed 16 persons injured in 11 traffic mishaps, and of these four involved pedestrians and seven were hurt in accidents involving other motor vehicles.

The report listed 53 arrests for the month, and of these 22 were for public intoxication, eight for violations of the city traffic code, six for disorderly conduct, three for driving while intoxicated, and five for third degree assault.

After Fire Truck

Magee, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—This Seneca county hamlet has had a fire department and a fire house for three years. The residents think it's time to get some equipment. A drive for a fire truck is under way.

Snow Paralyzes Tokyo; 8 Dead

Tokyo, Feb. 16 (AP)—Fleecy white snow flakes paralyzed Tokyo—something allied fire and demolition bombs failed to do in the Pacific war.

Eight persons were dead and 83 injured in the Tokyo-Yokohama area as 12 inches of snow fell, Yyodo news agency reported. Sixty-six fishermen were listed as missing. Thirty-three fishing boats were sunk and 66 others washed from moorings.

Fourteen U. S. naval ships were grounded by high winds at Yokosuka naval base, but 13 were refloated and back in service. The 14th, the Badoeng Strait, was expected to be refloated today.

The 4,928-ton Swedish motor vessel Christer Salen, her bow snapped off in raging seas 100 miles off the east coast, was being towed to Yokohama. Rescue vessels reported her 10 passengers and 37 crewmen safe.

Tokyo's snowfall was the heaviest since the record of 14 inches Feb. 26, 1936.

Everything Stopped

Everything in this city of 5,000,000 stopped Wednesday night when the storm struck.

Streets are still closed by the sonw. Most sidewalks are blocked. Stores are closed. Lights are out in many sections. The gas is off in others.

Thousands trapped downtown by the storm have not been home in three days.

Little relief was in sight. When the snow melts things will be worse it wont flow off rapidly in the city. In the surrounding mountains it will flood streams.

Doctors expect the pneumonia rate to rise. Most Japanese homes are heated by charcoal braziers and charcoal pits and their paper-thin walls give little protection from the cold.

Acheson Says . . .

there was any agreement on the size of the ground forces to be furnished by each of the North Atlantic Pact nations. If no ceiling is imposed on the American troop contribution, Taft said, he might propose that none be sent until western European nations agree formally to take on most of the defense burden.

Marshall had opposed setting any limit on the size of the American contingent. President Truman said later Marshall's statement represented the White House views.

Acheson also attacked proposals for limiting American help as well as suggestions for concentrating American defenses in this hemisphere and for insisting that Europe prepare its defenses first and get American aid second.

Responds to Issue

He also responded to the issue raised in Congress over whether North Atlantic treaty commitments provide for American troop participation in the Western European defense force.

Acheson said the fundamental purpose of the Atlantic Pact is "to preserve peace". He said it provides for mutual help among the members and for consideration of what should be done before any attack as well as after an attack should occur.

Moreover, Acheson said Congress itself recognized a need for advance action to defeat aggression. It did so, he contended, by putting a requirement into the 1949 Mutual Defense Assistance Act that President Truman condition military aid to Western Europe upon the creation of an integrated defense of the North Atlantic area.

Sums Up Arguments

Acheson summed up his arguments at this point by saying: "Our own security as well as the security of our allies in Europe requires vigorous efforts to build an effective force in Europe at the earliest possible moment."

Discussing indirect aggression, Acheson cited the case of Czechoslovakia as an example of how the Communist "employ the weapons of fear and threats to undermine confidence and paralyze the will to resist." He said that in such a case, too, the presence of adequate defense forces would be a "bulwark against this kind of aggression."

In brief, Acheson said the job of protecting the United States breaks down into three parts—(1) to prevent war, (2) to prevent Russia from "accomplishing its aggressive purposes" by means other than war and (3) to assure the victory of the free nations if war is unavoidable.

"Our primary concern it not to win a war after it gets started, but how to prevent it, and how to help Europe stay free in the meantime." he said.

At Chamber of Commerce Dinner

Among those on the dais at the sixth annual dinner of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, Thursday evening, in the Governor Clinton Hotel were (seated l. to r.) Dr. George Smith, economist from Washington, D. C., guest speaker; Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Robert E. Teetsel, retiring president; (standing) Alan Larivee of Boston; Attorney Howard C. St. John, dinner chairman and Victor H. Roth, first vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce. (Freeman Photo)

hidden taxes, he predicted. He cited a recent survey which showed that there are already 116 separate taxes an a loaf of bread at various points in its production and distribution, and 140 hidden taxes on a suit of man's clothes.

One out of every eight workers in the country is on a government payroll, local, state or federal, he said. "Imagine the influence of the federal employes," he commented, noting that New York state has more federal employes working within its borders than the city of Washington, D. C., and that the only county in the entire country that has no federal employe in it is Armstrong county, S. Dak.

The speaker endorsed the recommendations of the Hoover Commission which he said showed how over $5 billion could be saved by eliminating duplication and waste in government.

More Could Be Saved

In addition to this saving, Dr. Smith contended that more could be saved by eliminating some of the activities of the government. Displaying government publications to illustrate his contention, he showed a 165 page booklet published by the Department of the Interior in 1950, entitled, "A Guide to Classification of Fishing Gear in the Philippines," containing 50 pages of hand drawn illustrations; another publication on how to prospect for gold, and one about racoons in North America.

These publications represent not only a large printing bill, but also staff time, research and travel expenditures, he noted. He cited other examples of waste, including the fact that it cost the Treasury Department $25 to buy $10 worth of lumber.

Dr. Smith placed the responsibility for increased government spending on the citizens of the country. "Every piece of government spending is done because somebody wants it done," he said.

Public demand for economy must supercede a person's desire to see his own favorite projects carried out, and the people must develop an attitude that would let them say, "This (economy) may hurt me—it's one of my pet projects—but go ahead and cut it," the speaker said.

Citizens must take a greater interest in their government, he said, because "the government belongs to the people who take an interest in it. It is your government, it is your money."

Dr. Smith until three months ago was secretary of the Committee on Government Expenditures of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He has concentrated in recent years on the effects of big government on the economy and the related problems of Socialism and Communism. A native of Maryland, Dr. Smith lived in Baltimore, later moving to St. Louis, where he received A.B., A.M. and Ph.D. degrees at Washington University. During World War 2, he served as a naval officer first on Admiral Nimitz's staff and later with the Tenth Army, Sixth Marine Division, the Naval Mission to Japan, and the United States Strategic Bombing Survey. He had edited the chamber's monthly publication, "Economic Intelligence," since its first issue.

Came on Short Notice

Dr. Smith was obtained as speaker on short notice Wednesday afternoon when the scheduled speaker, Richard L. Bowditch, became ill at his home in Boston. Bowditch is vice president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce for the northeast region.

The banquet Thursday night was the occasion of high tributes to Robert E. Teetsel, retiring president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, and for pledges of support for Lawrence J. MacAvery, incoming president.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk in a short address of welcome said that Teetsel in his two years as Chamber president has done "an outstanding job." The mayor said he wanted to thank Teetsel publicly "for the splendid job he has done in promoting the city of Kingston." To the new officers, Mayor Newkirk said, "I want them to feel that I am at their command at all times."

Teetsel expressed his belief that the Chamber will continue to grow. He thanked the committee members for their efforts and support during the past two years.

MacAvery Didn't Speak

President MacAvery, who was present but did not speak due to an attack of laryngitis, had a prepared statement that was read by Victor Roth, first vice president. In it, he said that much of Teetsel's time and effort in the past two years "has been devoted to the welfare of this Chamber."

Introduced as the "spark plug" of the Chamber, Albert Kurdt, executive secretary, made a brief address in which he disproved the statement that, "Nothing ever happens in Kingston." He referred to a promotive survey made of Kingston in 1923 and said that of 30 or 40 recommendations made at that time, all but "two or three" have since been fulfilled.

Guests present included W. Winnans, executive secretary of the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce; Franklin P. Clum, president of the Saugerties chamber; Thomas Bohan, president of the Esopus chamber; Eugene McGowan, president of the Olive chamber, and Allen L. Larivee, assistant to Bowditch.

Howard C. St. John was banquet committee chairman and toastmaster. Following the meeting, he was complimented highly for his efforts, especially in beginning the meeting promptly and keeping it moving. He closed the meeting at exactly 9 p. m.

Other members of the banquet committee were Lawrence V. Bogart, Irving L. Eyles, Herbert C. Myers, Louis R. Netter, Harry Reppert and W. L. Rider.

Clergy Participates

Invocation was given by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, representing the Kingston Ministerial Association. Benediction was by the Rev. John Simmons of St. Joseph's Church.

Dinner music was by Roger Baer.

New officers of the Chamber are Lawrence J. MacAvery, president; Victor H. Roth, Joseph Deegan, George N. Shivery, vice-presidents; Chester A. Baltz, Jr., treasurer, and Albert Kurdt, executive secretary. New directors are Bev. C. Anderson, L. V. Bogert, Edward M. Huben, Maynard Mizel, Lawrence A. Quilty, Elmer A. Rylance and George Shivery.

Directors with one year remaining of their three-year term are J. Ellis Briggs, James P. Byrne, Eugene B. Carey, Byron S. Chatham, Addison Jones, Victor Roth and Robert Teetsel. Those with two years remaining are Chester A. Baltz, Jr., Emil G. Boessneck, Pratt Boice, Joseph F. Deegan, R. W. Garraghan, Lawrence J. MacAvery, and Henry Singer.

A review of the year's activities was printed in the program. It shows that membership increased from 408 in 1948 to 445 in 1950. The review also notes that several large conventions took place here in 1950, largest of which was the New York State Women's Bowling Association, it is estimated that conventions brought over $250,000 worth of business to Kingston.

Murphy Will Give 'No' as Answer

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy is due to give Washington a formal "No" tonight to the request that he take the job of chief enforcement officer of the Office of Price Stabilization.

He made it plain here last night that he would not accept the appointment — a temporary one to get the program in full swing.

President Truman at his news conference yesterday expressed hope that Murphy would take the post. The job was offered to Murphy earlier in the day by Michael V. DiSalle, director of the OPS.

Murphy, speaking last night at a police promotion ceremony, said he told DiSalle at a conference in Washington that "I was flattered by the offer but that I had a job to do as a police commissioner in New York city."

"I told him," Murphy added, "that it was an obligation I had to fulfill and that I would stick with it.

"Mr. DiSalle told me not to be too quick to decline the job, but to think it over and call him tomorrow at 9 p. m. (EST). By my remarks you can guess what my answer is going to be."

Hal Boyle Gets Gold Medal Award

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Associated Press Columnist Hal Boyle is the 1950 winner of the Gold Medal Award given by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the most distinguished contribution to national security.

The award was presented last night by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, who described Boyle as "one of the best friends the G.I. ever had."

Bradley said: "I am pleased that this award goes to a friend I have known so long. He is the soldier's friend. I don't know anyone who knows fighting at the front so well, or anyone who has written so well about it."

Boyle, who returned from Korea only recently, praised the American Eighth Army as "the equal of any army in history," even though he said "it started with patches on its pants like every American army we have sent overseas."

Won in Korea

The 39-year-old newspaperman—a native of Kansas City now living in New York—received the award for his writing on military matters and his human interest dispatches from the Korean war front.

Bradley won the award last year and the medal now is called the Omar N. Bradley Award Medal.

In a brief speech of acceptance, Boyle said: "I am proudest that the medal bears the name of Omar Nelson Bradley and was awarded to me by Omar Nelson Bradley—by whom I would rather be honored than any man except my father."

Won Pulitzer Prize

Boyle was with Bradley and his troops in their marches across North Africa, Sicily and Normandy to the river Elbe in Germany. He won a Pulitzer prize in 1944 for distinguished reporting from the European war theatre.

The V.F.W. award was given at a dinner for members of Congress who have served in the armed forces.

V.F.W. Commander Charles C. Ralls of Seattle, Wash., told the veterans and their guests the United States faces "a hard road" but one down which this country must travel.

DeGraff Named To Police Force

The Board of Police Commissioners yesterday appointed Harold DeGraff, 32, of 247 West Chestnut street, to the local police force to replace James E. Welch, who retired last Nov. 30.

The board also authorized the purchase of two new Ford cars to replace two 1947 vehicles which have been in service since 1947. They will be bought for service as early as possible. One is to be six and the other eight cylinders.

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren's report for January showed 16 persons injured in 11 traffic mishaps, and of these four involved pedestrians and seven were hurt in accidents involving other motor vehicles.

The report listed 53 arrests for the month, and of these 22 were for public intoxication, eight for violations of the city traffic code, six for disorderly conduct, three for driving while intoxicated, and five for third degree assault.

More Could Be Saved

In addition to this saving, Dr. Smith contended that more could be saved by eliminating some of the activities of the government. Displaying government publications to illustrate his contention, he showed a 165 page booklet published by the Department of the Interior in 1950, entitled, "A Guide to Classification of Fishing Gear in the Philippines," containing 50 pages of hand drawn illustrations; another publication on how to prospect for gold, and one about racoons in North America.

These publications represent not only a large printing bill, but also staff time, research and travel expenditures, he noted. He cited other examples of waste, including the fact that it cost the Treasury Department $25 to buy $10 worth of lumber.

Dr. Smith placed the responsibility for increased government spending on the citizens of the country. "Every piece of government spending is done because somebody wants it done," he said.

Public demand for economy must supercede a person's desire to see his own favorite projects carried out, and the people must develop an attitude that would let them say, "This (economy) may hurt me—it's one of my pet projects—but go ahead and cut it," the speaker said.

Citizens must take a greater interest in their government, he said, because "the government belongs to the people who take an interest in it. It is your government, it is your money."

Dr. Smith until three months ago was secretary of the Committee on Government Expenditures of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He has concentrated in recent years on the effects of big government on the economy and the related problems of Socialism and Communism. A native of Maryland, Dr. Smith lived in Baltimore, later moving to St. Louis, where he received A.B., A.M. and Ph.D. degrees at Washington University. During World War 2, he served as a naval officer first on Admiral Nimitz's staff and later with the Tenth Army, Sixth Marine Division, the Naval Mission to Japan, and the United States Strategic Bombing Survey. He had edited the chamber's monthly publication, "Economic Intelligence," since its first issue.

Came on Short Notice

Dr. Smith was obtained as speaker on short notice Wednesday afternoon when the scheduled speaker, Richard L. Bowditch, became ill at his home in Boston. Bowditch is vice president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce for the northeast region.

The banquet Thursday night was the occasion of high tributes to Robert E. Teetsel, retiring president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, and for pledges of support for Lawrence J. MacAvery, incoming president.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk in a short address of welcome said that Teetsel in his two years as Chamber president has done "an outstanding job." The mayor said he wanted to thank Teetsel publicly "for the splendid job he has done in promoting the city of Kingston." To the new officers, Mayor Newkirk said, "I want them to feel that I am at their command at all times."

Teetsel expressed his belief that the Chamber will continue to grow. He thanked the committee members for their efforts and support during the past two years.

MacAvery Didn't Speak

President MacAvery, who was present but did not speak due to an attack of laryngitis, had a prepared statement that was read by Victor Roth, first vice president. In it, he said that much of Teetsel's time and effort in the past two years "has been devoted to the welfare of this Chamber."

Introduced as the "spark plug" of the Chamber, Albert Kurdt, executive secretary, made a brief address in which he disproved the statement that, "Nothing ever happens in Kingston." He referred to a promotive survey made of Kingston in 1923 and said that of 30 or 40 recommendations made at that time, all but "two or three" have since been fulfilled.

Guests present included W. Winnans, executive secretary of the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce; Franklin P. Clum, president of the Saugerties chamber; Thomas Bohan, president of the Esopus chamber; Eugene McGowan, president of the Olive chamber, and Allen L. Larivee, assistant to Bowditch.

Howard C. St. John was banquet committee chairman and toastmaster. Following the meeting, he was complimented highly for his efforts, especially in beginning the meeting promptly and keeping it moving. He closed the meeting at exactly 9 p. m.

Other members of the banquet committee were Lawrence V. Bogart, Irving L. Eyles, Herbert C. Myers, Louis R. Netter, Harry Reppert and W. L. Rider.

Clergy Participates

Invocation was given by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, representing the Kingston Ministerial Association. Benediction was by the Rev. John Simmons of St. Joseph's Church.

Dinner music was by Roger Baer.

New officers of the Chamber are Lawrence J. MacAvery, president; Victor H. Roth, Joseph Deegan, George N. Shivery, vice-presidents; Chester A. Baltz, Jr., treasurer, and Albert Kurdt, executive secretary. New directors are Bev. C. Anderson, L. V. Bogert, Edward M. Huben, Maynard Mizel, Lawrence A. Quilty, Elmer A. Rylance and George Shivery.

Directors with one year remaining of their three-year term are J. Ellis Briggs, James P. Byrne, Eugene B. Carey, Byron S. Chatham, Addison Jones, Victor Roth and Robert Teetsel. Those with two years remaining are Chester A. Baltz, Jr., Emil G. Boessneck, Pratt Boice, Joseph F. Deegan, R. W. Garraghan, Lawrence J. MacAvery, and Henry Singer.

A review of the year's activities was printed in the program. It shows that membership increased from 408 in 1948 to 445 in 1950. The review also notes that several large conventions took place here in 1950, largest of which was the New York State Women's Bowling Association, it is estimated that conventions brought over $250,000 worth of business to Kingston.

Murphy Will Give 'No' as Answer

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy is due to give Washington a formal "No" tonight to the request that he take the job of chief enforcement officer of the Office of Price Stabilization.

He made it plain here last night that he would not accept the appointment — a temporary one to get the program in full swing.

President Truman at his news conference yesterday expressed hope that Murphy would take the post. The job was offered to Murphy earlier in the day by Michael V. DiSalle, director of the OPS.

Murphy, speaking last night at a police promotion ceremony, said he told DiSalle at a conference in Washington that "I was flattered by the offer but that I had a job to do as a police commissioner in New York city."

"I told him," Murphy added, "that it was an obligation I had to fulfill and that I would stick with it.

"Mr. DiSalle told me not to be too quick to decline the job, but to think it over and call him tomorrow at 9 p. m. (EST). By my remarks you can guess what my answer is going to be."

Hal Boyle Gets Gold Medal Award

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Associated Press Columnist Hal Boyle is the 1950 winner of the Gold Medal Award given by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the most distinguished contribution to national security.

The award was presented last night by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, who described Boyle as "one of the best friends the G.I. ever had."

Bradley said: "I am pleased that this award goes to a friend I have known so long. He is the soldier's friend. I don't know anyone who knows fighting at the front so well, or anyone who has written so well about it."

Boyle, who returned from Korea only recently, praised the American Eighth Army as "the equal of any army in history," even though he said "it started with patches on its pants like every American army we have sent overseas."

Won in Korea

The 39-year-old newspaperman—a native of Kansas City now living in New York—received the award for his writing on military matters and his human interest dispatches from the Korean war front.

Bradley won the award last year and the medal now is called the Omar N. Bradley Award Medal.

In a brief speech of acceptance, Boyle said: "I am proudest that the medal bears the name of Omar Nelson Bradley and was awarded to me by Omar Nelson Bradley—by whom I would rather be honored than any man except my father."

Won Pulitzer Prize

Boyle was with Bradley and his troops in their marches across North Africa, Sicily and Normandy to the river Elbe in Germany. He won a Pulitzer prize in 1944 for distinguished reporting from the European war theatre.

The V.F.W. award was given at a dinner for members of Congress who have served in the armed forces.

V.F.W. Commander Charles C. Ralls of Seattle, Wash., told the veterans and their guests the United States faces "a hard road" but one down which this country must travel.

DeGraff Named To Police Force

The Board of Police Commissioners yesterday appointed Harold DeGraff, 32, of 247 West Chestnut street, to the local police force to replace James E. Welch, who retired last Nov. 30.

The board also authorized the purchase of two new Ford cars to replace two 1947 vehicles which have been in service since 1947. They will be bought for service as early as possible. One is to be six and the other eight cylinders.

DeGraff, who has been doing extra police duty one day a week on the Broadway crossing detour since last fall, was second highest man on the eligible list, Philip McGowan, who was first, retains that place and next on the list are Douglas Eckert and Meyer Levy. The latter is now serving as a special patrolman.

A native of Kingston, DeGraff attended School No. 5 and was graduated from Kingston High School. He had played on the high school football and basketball team, and with the Kingston Yellow Jackets football team several years ago.

A veteran of World War 2, he had served with the Marine Corps three years. He saw duty on Guadalcanal and Okinawa. He is a machinist and has been employed by the Ulster Foundry Corp., 20 St. James street, since 1937. He plans to start his duties as a local patrolman on Feb. 25.

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren's report for January showed 16 persons injured in 11 traffic mishaps, and of these four involved pedestrians and seven were hurt in accidents involving other motor vehicles.

The report listed 53 arrests for the month, and of these 22 were for public intoxication, eight for violations of the city traffic code, six for disorderly conduct, three for driving while intoxicated, and five for third degree assault.

After Fire Truck

Magee, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—This Seneca county hamlet has had a fire department and a fire house for three years. The residents think it's time to get some equipment. A drive for a fire truck is under way.
